Invest in Power

CALGARY, Alta. (CP) — An information program has been started by an investment dealer in Alberta to acquaint provincial residents with the opportunity to invest in Calgary Power Ltd., Canada's largest investor-owned electric utility. Company board chairman A. W. Howard said Calgary Power is planning a new public offering of common shares and wants to ensure that Albertans are aware of the chance to invest.

Birch Trees Infected

EDMONTON (CP) — The majority of birch trees in the city were infested this summer by a birch tree miner, says Herman Oosterhuis, a tree specialist with the agriculture department. One year's infestation will not kill a tree, but it can slow the natural growth.

EEL CAUGHT

Sales Increased

SASKATOON, Sask. (CP) — Retail co-operatives in Western Canada affiliated with Federated Co-operatives Ltd., report retail sales of more than $663 million in 1974, an increase of 31.7 per cent over 1973. The figures are based on reports from 383 members.

Mailed Survey

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government has mailed a survey to a selected number of snowmobile owners to determine their needs and attitudes regarding provincial legislation.

Combines Drugs

Dorothy Ranks said a heroin addict formerly used only heroin but it seems that addicts are using a combination of drugs and alcohol.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, Sept. 27

Aries (March 21-April 19) You'll be cooking on all burners today. You'll function with a competence that will surprise even yourself.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) It's a very unusual day for you moneywise. You'll have a host of little opportunities that will show a surprising total.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Don't be too surprised if you hear from a lot of friends you haven't been in touch with for a long time. You're on the minds of many.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) You've done a host of good deeds in the past. Today is the day when you'll be on the receiving end.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Several people are going to be anxious to get in touch with you. If you go out today, leave word when you can be reached.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you've done your job well the last few days, the rewards will start coming in. It's a bonus you didn't anticipate.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't discard ideas you get today, particularly if they seem to be way out. Talk them over with someone in the field who could use them.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're extra sharp in business and finance today. You'll be able to spot a profit in areas other people wouldn't be aware of.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you'll find that roadblock is not as impassable as you thought. You'll be able to see many ways around it.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's a day when you'll be far more adept at finishing a lot of little projects, rather than a big job. The little ones you will do well.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're a natural for the limelight today. No one will be able to steal it from you. Whatever you do will attract approval.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Good things happen for the familytoday. Though you're the catalyst that makes it all possible, everyone will benefit.

Opening lead — A ♥

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The unlucky expert had corralled us again.

"Look, look at this hand!" he commanded.

"What happened?" we asked. "Did your partner put you in seven or did you miss the slam?"

"Neither," he replied. "We bid the hand to a normal six diamonds."

"You don't mean to say that the ace of hearts was opened against you to hold you to six while other declarers got some other lead and made an overtrick."

"Worse than that," he groaned. "Desperate Dan sat East. He had passed throughout the bidding with his 6-5 distribution and four high-card points. Then, when my partner bid six diamonds Dan thought; cleared his throat and bid six spades."

Our friend is really entitled to complain about this one. When Dan bid six spades, he was taking the sort of gamble that is foreign to all principles of good bridge except that once in a while these horrible gambles pay off. This time it did. Dan got himself a top score by his crazy action.

Ask the Jacobys

A Minneapolis reader wants to know what he should have done after opening one club with:

The answer is that he should have passed. He might be missing a game, but it is far more likely that he would be missing a lot of trouble.

His partner's raise to four clubs was not a forcing bid and our correspondent should have visualized a lot of trouble ahead of him.

Women Miners Hired

GRANDE CACHE, Alta. (CP) — Thirteen women have been hired to work in the McIntyre Porcupine Mines Ltd. coal mine in this Foothills community.

Betty Griffith, officer in charge of the local Manpower office, says she believes it's the first time women have been permitted to work in a Canadian coal mine.

Six of the 13 are employed underground, working at jobs ranging from timbering to running the shuttle cars. The others work in the coal preparation plant—the dirtiest part of the operation—where the coal is crushed, screened, washed and prepared for shipment.

Ms. Griffith said mine officials have expressed satisfaction with the new workers and that there was a substantial drop in absenteeism after the women started working.

Acceptance Slow For New Teaching

MONTREAL (CP) — A Quebec inventor has developed a new teaching aid and found along the way that success in marketing a new idea comes slowly.

Andre Dion left his job as a book distributor four years ago with the dream of creating a toy that would help children learn the basic principles of symmetry, mathematics and logic.

For four years, Mr. Dion put nearly every penny he had into the project. The design on a pack of cigarettes gave him his idea. The idea turned out to be Auto Correct Art, a simple and colorful educational toy

However, Mr. Dion found that having an idea wasn't enough.

After coming to a production agreement with Lassonde Plastiques in St. Hyacinthe, Que., 25 miles northeast of Montreal, the inventor went to the Quebec department of education for approval of its use in schools

The department turned the idea down at first, saying it was too advanced for use in kindergarten and too much a toy for first-graders.

Mr. Dion persisted. After a second look, the department accepted the toy as an aid for slow learners.

Mr. Dion then began selling his product. While he met with some success—100 copies sold to the Chomedy de Laval school commission, another 100 purchased by the Verdun commission in suburban Montreal and some other sales—he was still looking for major purchasers.

The important Montreal Catholic school commission has hardly looked at the toy, said Mr. Dion.

"I have had more success with the Protestant school board of Greater Montreal, and my toy is designed for French-speaking children, although it is easily adapted to English.

"The largely English-speaking Protestant board is using the toy experimentally.

Auto Correct Art consists of 16 colored blocks, each showing from one to four arrows on one side, with similarly-colored triangles on the other side. An accompanying set of "corrector" cards have arrows, mice, maple leaves—in fact, a host of designs.

A child arranges the blocks in a pre-determined order to produce a particular design. Once he finishes, the child simply turns over the box holding the blocks to see if the pattern there corresponds with that on the card.

If so, the child has arranged the blocks properly. If not, he can correct the design himself.

Mr. Dion is working now on more correction cards that would teach the highway code, the metric system, Olympic sports, proverbs and French grammar.

Once a child masters one card, he moves on to the next. The real lesson begins, said Mr. Dion, when the child designs corrector cards for himself.

The inventor said it is easier to market an educational product in Ontario than in Quebec because of the speed with which the Ontario educational department processes new ideas.

Ontario Education Minister Tom Wells recently announced a $750,000 project for the development of learning materials, he said. Innovative ideas are to be sent for rapid approval or rejection to an advisory board under the plan.

The Ontario department spends $1.5 million a year to purchase educational materials, largely books. It then sends a copy of each approved product to all schools in the province, enabling individual schools to choose the materials they need from first-hand experience.

The procedure is different in Quebec where lists of approved products are sent to school boards which then decide whether to use a product

A Quebec education department spokesman said there must be a time lag between application for acceptance of a product and final decision, since both Catholic and Protestant committees of the Quebec Superior Council of Education must approve any new ideas.

Metric Pop Coming

HALIFAX (CP) — Canadian soft-drink manufacturers hope to have completed their metric conversion program long before the 1980 target date.

By then Canadians will be able to say with certainty that foreign visitors have nothing to fear when they hear that the temperatures will be dipping to the low 20s.

However, they may be confused by litres and millilitres and still stick to asking for "just a bottle of pop, please—the one that stands about this high."

John Foy, Atlantic area sales manager for Coca-Cola Ltd., says pop bottles are already being labelled in both imperial and metric measurements as part of the "soft conversion" program.

"Within the next year we expect to have all our bottles fashioned after metric measurement which means customers will actually be getting slightly more pop per bottle," he said.

When the change is complete, Canadians practising girth control may cringe a little when they ask, not for a 10-ounce bottle, but a 280-millilitre bottle.

Of interest to environmentalists will be the prediction from bottlers that non-returnable bottles will be easy to convert and returnables will be phased out.

Directed At Children

REGINA (CP) — A health official with the provincial government says anti-smoking campaigns should be directed at young children. Maria Readen says by Grade 8, students have decided whether they are going to smoke. A pilot program this fall in the Moose Jaw area will try to convince children in kindergarten to Grade 3 that "smoking really is not good for them."

Choquette Quits Quebec Cabinet

QUEBEC (CP)—Education Minister Jerome Choquette, touted as a leading candidate to succeed Premier Robert Bourassa, quit the cabinet and the Quebec Liberal party Friday in protest against the government's refusal to amend its controversial language legislation.

Mr. Choquette, 47, who served five years as justice minister before moving to education in a July 30 cabinet shuffle, said he will sit as an independent.

Half an hour before Mr. Choquette's resignation was announced, Finance Minister Raymond Garneau had been sworn in to replace him. Mr. Garneau will hold both portfolios as well as the presidency of the Quebec Treasury Board.

Premier Bourassa also announced that Bernard Lachapelle, minister without portfolio and former vice-president of the University of Quebec, has been given special education responsibilities.

Mr. Choquette, the square-jawed architect of Quebec's legal aid system, small claims court and charter of human rights, has represented the Montreal riding of Outremont since 1966.

He is the fourth man to leave the government in the last 14 months.

Commenting on Mr. Choquette's resignation, Mr. Bourassa said: "It's obviously a loss but there are replacements."

Marcel Leger, spokesman for the opposition Parti Quebecois (PQ), said the resignation confirmed the total failure of the government's Official Language Act.

Maurice Bellemare, leader and only sitting member of the once—powerful Union Nationale said: "It's the first pillar of the temple to go but not the last. Once the pillars fall, the temple collapses."

Mr. Bellemare predicted that one other minister would leave the cabinet within the next few days. His remarks fueled speculation that Jean-Paul L'Allier, who traded the communications portfolio for cultural affairs in the July cabinet shake-up, was preparing to quit.

Camil Samson, leader of the Creditistes, predicted that Mr. Bourassa would call a general election in October.

In explaining his resignation, Mr. Choquette said Mr. Bourassa and the cabinet had rejected his proposal that all children be educated in French save those whose mother tongue is English.

The proposal would have involved an amendment to the Official Language Act which currently says that the education minister can order anyone wishing to enroll in an English-language school to undergo a language-proficiency test.

Cabinet Shuffle Promotes Macdonald to Finance Head

OTTAWA (CP) — Donald Macdonald, a tough-talking Toronto lawyer, took over responsibility for the country's troubled economy Friday and the move won prompt plaudits from the business community.

Promotion to finance of the 42-year-old minister, who only two weeks ago talked of quitting politics, topped a shuffle that involved six existing ministers and brought two new faces into the cabinet.

Other changes outlined by Prime Minister Trudeau in a late-afternoon announcement:

—Ron Basford, 43-year-old Vancouver lawyer, moves to justice from national revenue.

—Don Jamieson, 54, former Newfoundland broadcaster, takes over as minister of industry, trade and commerce after three years in the department of regional economic expansion.

—Otto Lang, 43, moves into transport from justice, replacing ailing Jean Marchand, who remains in the cabinet as a minister without portfolio.

Mr. Trudeau named Jack (Bud) Cullen, 43-year-old Sarnia lawyer, to take over as revenue minister and Marcel Lessard, 49, a former welder from Lac-Saint-Jean, Que, as regional economic expansion minister.

It increased the size of the cabinet to 30 from 29, bringing it back to the size it was in 1972.

Mr. Macdonald, who guided the federal government through three tough years in the energy field, was the prime minister's first choice to replace John Turner, who quit the finance department 16 days ago to return to private life.

First reaction from the business community was quick and approving.

Amin Sees Holy Star

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda says he saw a holy star over Kampala Friday that gives him "great power and a bright future.

Amin was quoted by Uganda radio, monitored here, as saying he saw the "night of power star" for several minutes Friday morning.

He said the star appears only during the Moslem holy month of Ramadan and that the sighting "promised a bright future for me and for all Ugandans." Amin is a Moslem.

OMA Asks Doctors To Protest Oct. 29

By CP and Staff

A call by the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) for 900 doctors in eastern Ontario to halt work Oct. 29 and attend a meeting to back demands for higher fees was termed an "exaggerated response" by Belleville General Hospital medical staff president Dr. Bruce Morgan today.

Dr. Morgan strongly emphasized the OMA wants doctors to become involved in the eastern Ontario district annual meeting.

But in no sense, is this work-to-rule, work stoppage or pressure situation against the government, he said.

The OMA eastern Ontario district has asked doctors not to schedule any minor surgery, attend clinics or receive patients in their offices Oct. 29.

Dr. Morgan said the meeting will discuss what the doctors' stand will be in the face of increases in fees over the past two years that have not kept up with inflation.

Doctors don't have the ethical right to strike, said Dr. Morgan, and the provincial government knows this and is taking advantage of it.

Under the current provincial schedule, a general practitioner gets between $7 and $20 for an office visit, depending on complexity and procedures undertaken.

Low fees, said Dr. Morgan "leads to frustration and a possible increase in the militancy of doctors.

"We are very dissatisfied with our present remuneration."

He did not say a strike is possible as a result of doctor frustration over low fees.

However, Dr. Goldwin Smith, president of the medical staff at Ottawa Civic Hospital, said that if doctors remain as militant as they are now, a strike is a possibility.

"The majority of doctors agree with the saying "nice guys finish last." And they've decided to stop being nice guys."

He said a 12 per cent fee increase during the last two years has not kept pace with the increased cost of living.

No Need for Handcuffs

Belleville provincial constable Brian Turner says there's no need for handcuffs when businessmen and industry officials take the proper safety procedures to prevent crime. Here, he displays a series of locks which will be part of the presentation at the crime prevention seminars to be held Oct. 7 and 8 at Bayside Secondary School. The seminars will be for area businessmen and their staffs.

Blind Man Denied Skating Over Guide Dog Issue

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville recreation director Cliff Belch will go to city hall next week for an assessment of the city's liability in allowing a blind man to participate in a city-run roller-skating program.

The director made the statement Friday after a confrontation between John Warren, a blind 31-year-old Loyalist College student with a "seeing-eye" dog, and recreation supervisors who refused him permission to skate.

Program supervisor Chris Kalnay said Friday he refused Mr. Warren entry because a city bylaw prohibits a dog in Ben Bleecker Auditorium, where the roller skating program is held.

The refusal, according to Mr. Warren, sparked his anger and prompted him to "make an issue" over the refusal.

"The more I make an issue of it, the more people will know and be able to accept me and my guide dog," he said. Twice this week, he said he had been refused entry into a public place — a hotel, and a restaurant.

On both occasions, the refusal was prompted by the presence of the guide dog, Mr. Warren said.

Despite the intervention by Mr. Belch, Mr. Warren was not allowed to skate Friday, though he was allowed to remain in the building with the guide dog.

The director said he was on the "defensive" because he was not aware what regulations the city had governing the situation.

His refusal to permit Mr. Warren to skate was based on fears the dog might react adversely to anyone knocking Mr. Warren down: "I couldn't take that chance," he said.

Mr. Warren denied that any problems could arise with the highly-trained guide dog. Friends with him, he said, would have helped him while skating while the dog would have unobstrusively sat waiting.

"They're that well trained," he added.

He said he had been prepared to sign a paper releasing the city from any liability if an accident occurred.

Mr. Warren, who says he has skated before, had trouble several months ago in using Belleville Transit Commission buses. The BTC refused to allow the dog on board buses until it became aware it was a guide dog.

He said such problems should not exist and fines should be imposed against those who refuse a blind person admittance, or use, of public places because of the presence of the guide dog. A city bylaw in Ottawa, he said, makes such a provision.

Mr. Warren said he was satisfied with the pledge by Mr. Belch that he would try to find a solution and make his participation in the roller-skating program possible.

Mr. Belch did not say if the solution he will seek would apply to other city programs.

BGH Accepts $54,522 Tender For First Step in Parking Expansion

BY ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Belleville General Hospital (BGH) Board of Governors reached a milestone Friday in its bid to slove a long-standing parking problem.

The board accepted a tender of $54,522 for site clearance and preparation for a parking lot expansion to accommodate BGH employees on three former residential lots along the west side of First St. and at the west end of Bay Dr.

Gerry Joyce, chairman of the board's planning /and property committee, said work will begin immediately on the removal of houses at Nos. 2,6 and 8 First St. and on lot grading.

The Ontario Municipal Board recently approved a city council bylaw to provide for the extra parking facility.

Mr. Joyce sid the houses will be removed intact and will "provide accommodation for someone, not in the city but in the county."

"The work can get underway right away and we can beat the weather," he commented.

However, Mr. Joyce said asphalt surfacing cannot begin until the spring due to the cold weather. But he added his committee will investigate possible usage of the additional space during the winter months on the guarded surface.

He explained the accepted tender, which was the lowest submitted, "is a little below the estimate." He emphasized it is only for this year's portion of the work and further tenders for asphalt surfacing will be called in time for spring construction.

The board also approved a new parking control system at an estimated cost of $15,715 which will see a counter-clockwise movement of traffic around the hospital and the opening of the southern parking lot — now used by BGH employees — for the public.

Mr. Joyce noted current fire routes and one-way traffic around the oval at the admitting and emergency entrances will be maintained under the system.

Current parking facilities for the public to the north and west, for BGH staff to the east and west anf for physicians to the northeast will also be maintained.

The major change will be one-way traffic beginning at a new entrance to the current west side public parking lot. All public vehicles using this lot and the south side lot will drive east to leave the hospital.

Mr. Joyce said future investigations will be required for the doctors' parking lot and the west side staff lot.

He explained there is predicted increased usage of those sites as the medical staff enlarges and more services are installed at the BGH Cavell Block.

Trudeau Admits Problems

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau Friday acknowledged that the economy is in "a serious situation" and promised strong government action to fight unemployment and inflation. He ruled out compulsory wage and price controls as an effective remedy for the time being. But he said the government has not rejected legislated controls for the future. He appealed for "co-operative and voluntary" restraint in pay and price demands.

Guerrillas Executed

MADRID (CP) — Five Spanish urban guerrillas were executed by firing squad today for killing policemen, informed sources said. The executions were carried out despite international protest. The only concession the Spanish government appeared to make to international concern was the method of execution - firing squad instead of the medieval garrotte, an iron collar which strangles the condemned person while a spike severs the spinal cord.

Quebec's Assembly Orders Transit Strikers Back to Work

QUEBEC (CP)—Special legislation ordering striking Montreal transit employees back on the job by Monday morning was approved by the Quebec national assembly shortly after midnight Friday night.

Meeting in extraordinary session, the legislature voted 54-4 in third and final reading after a marathon emergency debate that lasted more than 14 hours.

"Transit users, particularly in low-income brackets, will benefit from public transportation once again through this law," said Labor Minister Gerald Harvey.

Mr. Harvey said he would have been happier to introduce more positive legislation in his first gesture as labor minister.

"We had no alternative but to end the strike with a special law," he said.

Two government amendments following second reading may make the legislation more acceptable to the striking maintenance men and office personel who have paralysed Montreal's transit system for 10 days.

The law modifies their last contract to include the transit commission's latest wage offer. The strikers will now get a 29-per-cent pay hike over two years, including 15 per cent in the first year retroactive to July 12, when the last collective agreement expired.

Another amendment guarantees the transit commission cannot take legal action against the employees or their union for acts committed before their legal strike began.

The special law provides for stiff fines against individuals and organizations who disobey the back-to-work order.

Employees who fail to show up for work Monday morning are liable to fines of $50-250 a day while the union and union officials may be fined between $5,000 and $50,000 for inciting members not to report on the job.

The transit commission is subject to fines ranging from $5,000 to $50,000 for impairing a normal return to work.

A conciliator is to be named by Tuesday and he has 15 days to try and coax the parties into negotiating a settlement. His mandate may be extended another 15 days or the government may choose to send the dispute to binding arbitration.

If 70 per cent of union members fail to obey the special law, the union would lose its accreditation for one year.

The transit commission's cashiers, initially in a common front with the other strikers, made a separate settlement Thursday for a 36-per-cent wage increase with cost-of-living adjustments over two years.

Following the law's passage, the session was recessed to Nov. 4. The national assembly adjourned June 27 and was originally scheduled to reconvene Oct. 28.

City Bus Stop Signs Becoming More Symbolic

By 1980, there will no longer be signs reading "bus stop" in Belleville as the city transit commission gradually replaces them with graphic symbols of buses at its stops.

Belleville Transit Commission manager Lewis McMullin said Friday the BTC is following in the footsteps of the city public works department by replacing its written signs with "symbol" signs.

Already this week, the new orange signs have appeared on posts at bus stops on Front and Pinnacle Streets.

But all signs in the city "won't be changed overnight," said the manager. Old written signs will be replaced as they become old or damaged.

Mr. McMullin could not estimate the cost of the change-over program because he said changes would be made over five years under normal sign-change conditions.

Public works department crews have now begun to change traffic control signs and the BTC is taking their lead, even though the commission is not subject to the legislated changes, he said.

QUESTION?

WHEN THE PHRASE "PLEASE OMIT FLOWERS" APPEARS IN THE DEATH NOTICE WHAT CAN FRIENDS DO?

ANSWER!

A visit or a hand written letter of sympathy of course is the real personal thing to do and is much appreciated at this time. However, when such a specific request to omit flowers is made, friends often send money donations to national or local charitable organizations in the name of the deceased. A cheque is made out in the official name of the worthy cause with an explanatory note including your name and address. The organization receiving this cheque usually notifies the bereaved so that someone in the family may acknowledge the givers with "Thank You" Notes. Many of the Charitable organizations also send notes of acknowledgement directly to the donors.

Morphy New Safety Rep For Hastings County Area

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Harold Morphy of Arnprior is the newest Farm Safety Association of Ontario representative in the Hastings County Area.

Mr. Morphy is the third person this year to represent the area. It was recently divided and is a smaller area covered by his predecesors.

Doug Tipper, Hastings County ministry of agriculture representative, said he expects Mr. Morphy will be relocated in the Belleville area.

He said the previous area to be covered by one representative was too large: "The program will be a lot more effective now. You can waste so much time on the road."

Mr. Morphy will cover the area between Oshawa and Belleville including Lindsay and Peterborough and as far north as Renfrew county. The previous territory went from Oshawa to the Quebec border.

Mr. Morphy will have three main duties. He will call on farmers wishing safety consultation with workmen's compensation claims.

He will do extention work, said Mr. Tripper, making presentation to groups, speaking at meeting and attending fairs with safety displays.

He will also work with farm associations on farming safety projects.

Mr. Tipper said people on farms are generally aware of safety "but sometimes they get careless."

"It's just the same thing people do around their home when they don't think."

Farmers do not have the safety training and supervision of a factory worker using machinery potentially as dangerous as farm equipment.

"We not only have to know how to operate the machines — we have to know how to operate them safely," he said.

"The machine sits idle whether it is broken down or the operator is broken down.

He said he expected. Mr. Morphy will be able to get more safety programs going during the off-season:

"If the weather is good you have to get at it. You don't have time for safety seminars."

Eggs Divide Brothers

The egg marketing dilemma has put a crack in the relationship of brothers, Stan (left) and Floyd Johnson. Floyd supports the Ontario Egg Producers Marketing Board, the board's production quota system of 62 per cent and a six-cent levy on every dozen eggs. His brother contends that the system will eventually put the small producer out of business. After 25 years as an egg producer in Kingsville, Ont., Stan says the levy and quotas are intended to assist the large egg producer instead of protecting the small farmer. (CP Photo)

Hunting Season On

With the 1975 duck-shoot season upon us, provincial wildlife authorities in the Quinte district foresee the likelihood of heightened hunting success.

A scrutiny of area wetlands indicates a good local bird population, says Jack Stewart, natural resources ministry wildlife officer at Napanee.

"We've been doing a lot of checking and we find the marshes are really full," he said.

In particular, more wood ducks–for a number of years a restricted species–seem in evidence.

The waterfowl and small game season opened a half-hour before sunrise today and lasts until Dec. 13.

With the season's start comes another form of checking.

Mr. Stewart says conservation officers will be out in force–assisted by the OPP and RCMP–to ensure hunting regulations are kept.

Among other infringements, officers will be watching for areas that have been illegally baited with feed to attract birds.

On ponds used for hunting all bait has to be cleared out seven days before the season opens.

Gardening Column

Don't Discard Used Bulbs

By ROSS HAWTHORNE

As you may be aware, I believe gardening should be a 12-month activity. Which is why I try to convert everyone I meet into taking up phytoillumination, which of course is a fancy word for indoor light gardening.

But for those that resist, I still try to keep them gardening year round by getting them interested in the world of foliage and flowering plants, including those plants that would normally never see the inside of a house. Such as spring flowering bulbs.

These true bulbs, if properly propagated can provide you with color in your home from December right through April. And the process is not difficult — provided — you have the proper storage facilities. Dark storage areas that can be maintained at 45 degree to 50 degree and 35 degree to 40 degree respectively for rather long periods of time.

The process you apply is often mistakenly called "forcing." Mistaken, because no force is applied. Rather all you do is put your bulbs through concentrated fall and winter conditions and then trick them into believing it's springtime. And they respond accordingly.

Now you'll often hear sometimes from professionals who should know better, that forced bulbs are worthless after blooming and should be discarded. Which is just not true, provided you grow bulbs in soil, in the way we're going to describe. Bulbs should only be discarded when they are water grown, when they exhaust their own supply of nutrients and themselves in the growing process without replenishment from the growing medium.

The water growing process is quite simple, using hyacinths or narcissus. Simply add to a low dish or pan three to four inches of pebbles. Space your bulbs about two inches from the edge and work them into the pebbles about ¼ of the way up the bulb. Then add water so it barely touches the base of the bulb. Set in a cool dark place until shoots are about two inches high and then in a sunny window until color develops in the flower. Then move to whatever location you wish, wherever you can enjoy them at their best.

Growing bulbs in soil is a little more complicated First, plain garden soil won't work. No matter how good it is for outdoor use, indoors it will turn rock-hard. Potting soil mixes are a must.

Plastic or clay pots can be used. I prefer the clay because the plastic has a tendency to tip. Unless of course you can secure a type of pot called a pan — a pot that is twice as wide as it is high. Then whether it is clay or plastic really doesn't matter.

O.K. Here's the procedure for forcing bulbs in soil. Roughly compare the height of your bulb with the height of your pot so when you plant the tips of the bulbs will be just at or just below the soil surface and the soil surface about ½ inch below the pot rim.

First, cover the drain holes in your pot with anything that will hold back the soil, but allow drainage, then fill the pot with your potting mixture to where you estimate the bottom of your bulb will rest — and tamp firmly.

Set the bulbs in place and then fill with soil to just at the tip of the bulb. Then water thoroughly, and if necessary, add more soil until it comes to the tips of the bulbs. And then your bulbs are ready for the cooling process of three — four weeks at 50 degree and nine to 12 weeks at near freezing temperatures.

At the end of this period, introduce your bulbs to a sunny window and in a short time — be ready to enjoy the benefits of being a 12-month gardener.

QUESTIONS WELCOME: All questions are welcome and will be answered. Simply address your query to Ross Hawthorne. The Intelligencer, Belleville.

Picton Bureau

Take Advantage Of Free Classes

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The old adage that "you don't get something for nothing" is dogging the success of The County As A Classroom, a community interest program sponsored by the Prince Edward board of education.

Project co-ordinator Sue Greetham this week observed a free horse clinic held in Picton carried a projected attendance figure of 100 persons. Approximately 40 horse enthusiasts turned out.

She commented that some topics can be presented most effectively to small groups only, yet these seminars often draw the largest number of participants.

Other presentations, such as the horse clinic, geared to a large group unfortunately seem to attract only small crowds.

The County As A Classroom project opened here last spring, closed for a summer break, then re-opened this fall. Twice-weekly free seminars are offered in Prince Edward on topics of the residents' choice. Tours, discussions, guest speakers and demonstrations are employed to make presentations effective.

The program offers an ideal opportunity for community interest groups to learn more about their hobbies. It also provides a chance for new clubs to form as topics of common interest are introduced and studied.

The programs offered through The County As A Classroom should not be considered as an end in themselves. Instead, they should provide step one in opening hobbies and interests to Prince Edward residents.

The horse clinic held last Tuesday featured discussion of three popular breeds but there are many more that could be discussed at follow-up clinics planned by Prince Edward horse owners.

Similarly, the seminar on furniture refinishing scheduled for October could be used as a beginning for many evenings of discussion of this popular hobby.

The Prince Edward board of education is holding the lantern but its the responsibility of community residents to chop the wood.

If groups attending the clinics organize for further meetings the County As A Classroom project will have served as an important catalyst in promoting hobbies and recreation here. Possibly a number of new clubs could be formed and county residents afforded a wider scope for pursuit of their special interests.

Since the County As A Classroom project will organize a seminar on any topic suggested there is an excellent opportunity for everyone from stargazer to stamp collectors to meet and learn more about their hobbies.

This brief courtship should pave the way for more lasting involvements through formation of clubs and organization of follow-up seminars.

Pamphlets outlining the County As A Classroom schedule this fall have been mailed to Prince Edward householders. Hopefully, this outstanding "something for nothing" program will meet increased community response.

Can halt baldness Finnish scientists say

LONDON (Reuter)—Two Finnish scientists said they have developed a scalp treatment that can halt baldness and even start new hair growing in many cases.

The scientists, who are putting the treatment on sale in the form of a solution, say that among volunteers who applied it to their scalp for 28 weeks, hair growth resumed in 60 per cent of the cases and hair loss decreased within four weeks.

The product contains a synthetic detergent, which clears away dead hairs and other dirt clogging the follicles—the tiny sacs in which hair grows.

Another ingredient, a compound, then sets in motion a process which allegedly results in the growth of new hair.

Cancellation of Pickering Airport Project Will Ease Federal Spending

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Nothing can stop the bureaucratic juggernaut as effectively as an electoral set-back.

The federal government and its ministry of transport bureaucrats had been forging ahead with plans to spend an estimated $2-billion of public money on a new Toronto-area international airport that's probably unnecessary in the first place.

Until recently, the Ontario government had been a willing partner—although its willingness had been diminishing because of a lack of information about the province's share of the cost of related services.

Less than a week after the election that reduced the Conservatives to a minority leadership position in the Ontario legislature, the provincial government called on Ottawa to cancel the airport work that was about to begin.

Cancellation might have been a difficult decision for Ottawa at the eleventh hour. And yet there should be no cause for embarrassment, since any conditions that may have justified the decision to build a second Toronto international airport now have changed.

Perhaps the most concrete case for cancelling the Pickering airport scheme is to be found in the Montreal area's second international airport, Mirabel, due to open to the public a few days from now.

Travellers from other parts of Canada, arriving at Montreal's Dorval airport to transfer to an overseas flight, will have to take a $5 bus trip or $25 cab ride to Mirabel.

The minimum time required for the connection is estimated at nearly three hours—to retrieve baggage from the domestic flight, travel 29 miles by road, check baggage again and pass security clearance. (On incoming flights, substitute Customs for security clearance.)

Those might appear to be insignificant details to bureaucrats, but the paying public is adept at finding ways to avoid such delays and expense.

Example: The new Charles de Gaulle international airport near Paris. Since it was opened last year, it has been operating at a financial loss and far below capacity, because travellers prefer to make easier connections with overseas flights at other points on the continent or in the United Kingdom.

There's also a compelling economic reason why Ottawa should not repeat the Mirabel mistake at Pickering.

Federal government spending is growing at a worrisome rate, and undoubtedly contributing to today's super-inflation.

(Granted, there are other factors as well—high commodity prices, high wage settlements, profiteering and the like.)

The federal budget of June 23 estimated a cash deficit of $5.3-billion in the current fiscal year. The performance of revenues and expenditures since then makes a deficit of more than $6-billion seem probable.

Cancellation of the grandiose airport-building scheme would relieve some of the pressure on government finances—both federal and provincial—over the next several years.

That, in turn, would ease at least some of the inflationary pressure that's coming from the government's spending programs.

And it would earn the thanks of air travelers who have experienced the frustration of passing through two far-apart airports such as those that serve Paris.

Costly Meditation

If the best things in life are free — the freedom and opportunity to meditate included — then the proposed $1 million administrative facility for transcendental meditation at Desert Lake (north of Kingston(and east of Highway 38 at Hartington) is a costly venture indeed.

Far from it though to question its purpose in these disquieting times — and the centre will be available for other initiatives such as seminars and conferences — but simply to ponder the continuing alienation of the human species in its search for happiness and fulfillment.

We are an organized but not notably venturesome society — not outside the confines of job and the usual recreational round anyway — tending to be followers rather than doers in the sense of those things that are out of the ordinary.

What we do is disciplined and purposeful enough, but the things we don't do, such as going for a walk in the country or relaxing in the nostalgic way of the beautiful people represented on the covers of records, or strolling around the town at night, or giving someone in need a helping hand, or calling on someone for a chat, or giving some really serious thought to the often strange directions of world politics . . . these and other aspects of human initiative seem to get lost in the shuffle.

A woman was observed sitting in her car on a country road the other day, her head in her hand — whether meditating, or simply resting, or nursing some sorrow she alone knew.

One thing for sure though, it was an uncommon sight in view of the predictable way most of us behave, with the herd instinct uppermost. Meditating — for free anyway — on country roads or anywhere else is not one of our more routine pastimes.

For the fans of TM, though, a local teacher of the medium is quoted as saying course fees are tax-deductible!

The Winter Program

For those who prefer more tangible food for the mind than that involved in the practice of meditation, there are some interesting programs available in the days ahead.

There are night classes of course and community activities at the schools and at Loyalist, and the Kiwanis club's interesting travel and adventure series commences next month.

Of unusual interest too is a discussion and lecture sponsored by Prince Edward County Board of Education and offering a variety of activities, lectures and films until the end of November.

The subjects range from Ecology and the Environment to Furniture Refinishing, Police Procedures, Ghosts, Witches, and Other Mysteries, Canadian Indians, and UFO's to the Metric system and The Early 20s in Prince Edward, and are held at schools and other locations two nights a week.

Also for the mind, and body, where the ladies are concerned, is an Oriental Dancing program being offered by the Belleville Y. Yes, following a trend in both Canada and the United States, "belly dancing" is coming to town, and with trimming off unwanted inches in mind.

This, along with Yoga, Judo, Swimming and some other disciplines will make for some fun hours for those participating in this particular program. What with meditation — transcendental or whatever — and travel in films and all, it is another interesting fall and winter time for the folks in the Quinte area,

Recreational Bargain

With the public so attuned to inflation but caring or doing little to offset the pesky problem, it is easy to overlook what a bargain is to be had in various ways today.

Many an item, for example, from paperback books to radios and restaurant meals. It even costs less to make an overseas phone call than it did some years ago. In the summer season just past there was no increase in park fees. And this, despite the general increase in the cost of living, and wage hikes all round. Nor have we heard any rumblings of discontent in this area of government service, concerned as it is with upkeep of recreational areas.

Rather, here is a group of men and women who do a good job quietly and without fuss, and certainly without the noisy display of activism which characterizes so much of the work scene today and puts self-interest before responsibility. The parks people have even come up with another plus in the cause of conservation, having introduced a new centrally-located disposal system and wood rationing. Introduced at The Outlet and Sandbanks it has meant lower maintenance costs and more efficient use of park personnel.

Conservatives Remain Confident But John Clement Will be Missed

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Note; the Conservatives:

New theme song: Oh So Blue.

Surprisingly the party wasn't all that disappointed in the election results. On election night the premier told reporters "This result isn't all that bad."

Presumably PC polls had indicated they might even have lost the government.

Major losses: Attorney-General John Clement and Jim Allan.

Clement was perhaps the brightest Conservative in the house — and in a minister's office. NDP'er Jim Renwick paid him a remarkable tribute. He said his loss was sad and that he probably would have been one of the great attorney-generals in Ontario history.

It was the first political defeat ever for Jim Allan. Although 80 his balance and stability were a pillar of strength, particularly in committees. A measure of the man: Even though his senior and a close colleague for years he always referred to Leslie Frost as Mr. Frost.

The immediate Davis task is to reform his cabinet. Housing is the key portfolio. Talk is that the popular and able Frank Miller may be moved from health to replace Donald Irvine.

Biggest problem is agriculture. There is a shortage of candidates and the farmers are very restive. Don't be surprised if Lorne Henderson of Lambton, known as a maverick but no dummy, gets this one.

The Throne Speech for the first session, expected on Oct. 21, will have to be a classic. It will have to cover all bases that have concerned the opposition—housing, energy, land etc. — and yet really say nothing. Any loop-holes will give the opposition an opening for a killer amendment.

If it survives the early stages the government's real crunch will come with the budget. The opposition will be almost bound to knock it down on this. But it probably won't come along until March. There was nothing in the Davis promises that needs a new, early budget.

Keep an eye on: Dr. Harry Parrott, orthodontist. An able, if independent, member he had a big win in the constituency of Oxford. A parliamentary assistant (Colleges and Universities) he could be boosted to the cabinet.

A clean-up is said to be already underway. Both in the party downtown and in staff near to the throne here.

"I protest by your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily." 1 Corinthians 15:31

Dieing out to self is a daily matter and many of us are "die hards". We want our own way regardless of what God says or what it does to others. Lord, help us to die out to grumbling, grudges and fault finding, help us to lose ourselves in your will and love one another as you have loved us in Jesus' name. Amen.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

A beautiful marble-cement composition statue of St. Michael the Archangel, partron saint of the parish, was placed in the niche over the main entrance to St. Michael's Acadmy on Wednesday. Terry Scanlan, assisted by others, erected the statue.

Approximately 4,500 people from all parts of Canada and the United States were guests of the city during the past season at the city tourist camp. The visitors arrived from as far away as California, Prince Rupert, and Maine.

St. Lawrence Islands Issue Among Hunters

Brockville Recorder and Times

A petition was presented recently to Elizabethtown township council by John McLean to close city-owned islands, outside the city limits to duck hunters.

Apparently some hunters have strayed dangerously close to the homes along the shore in the area just west of the city and residents are afraid someone may be injured by shotgun pellets.

It was reported that township officials questioned the aspect of policing, should islands owned by the city, but not within municipality boundaries, be involved. Police Chief Les Sterritt has stated repeatedly that the city force will patrol the city islands but has no jurisdiction on property outside the city limits.Therefore, the problem of enforcing closed areas would fall upon the RCMP or the Brockville OPP.

However, another group of individuals, those people who own shoals and islands included in those under study, are preparing to approach the township with their side of the story. These landholders feel that much available hunting area has already been eliminated, as the result of the closing of islands within city limits, and they fear that further bylaws to reduce hunting will close off many locations long prized as good duck hunting to both young and old alike.

Perhaps there is a solution that will appease both the "yeas" and "nays" in this case.

Since the worries expressed by those living along the north shore of the river must be accepted as legitimate (none of us wishes to see anyone endangered by shotgun blasts), it seems reasonable that something should be done to ensure migration authorities work their safety. On the other hand, it is unfair to close islands that are not near enough to the mainland to present any type of threat to those on shore. The answer would appear to be the closing of the shoreline, out sufficient distance to guarantee that homes on shore would be well out of gunshot (shotgun) range. Most shooters would agree that 200 yards should be more than sufficient.

Algonquin's Future Use

Ottawa Journal.

Algonquin Park, like any such preserve, is full of inherent contradictions. It is a contradiction to allow even limited lumbering. Ideally, parks are places where trees are allowed to grow and die and fall in nature's cycle, not man's. Ideally, visitors to a park do not see other visitors. Even "low density" recreational use, as the Algonquin plan calls for, is an affront to the wilderness concept. The dilemma is that parks should be made accessible for people to enjoy but that very accessibility diminishes the rewards of the place.

The politician should be expected to have ready straight answers on the uses of Algonquin Park. Those answers will be a test of their intelligence, and perhaps, even their courage.

LETTERS

The Case for Hunting

Editor:
The Intelligencer:

In rebuttal to Mr. Sprackett's rather terse condemnation of hunters I would like to enlighten him and those like him. Man has always been a hunter and he serves a very important purpose in the ecological balance. I doubt if Mr. Sprackett has ever seen deer herds decimated by hunger as a result of over-browsing by over-population. The sight of an emaciated animal writhing on the ground or torn to shreds by wolves and dogs because of this weakened conditon, after all is much more inhumane than a quick death by a well-placed bullet.

The ignorant hordes of bleeding-heart writers have held sway far too long in the nation's tabloids.

Hunters provide the necessary funds to preserve wildlife areas and breeding grounds with Ducks Unlimited being a case in point. In placing the blame more accurately, bulldozers gouging under the banner of progress have endangered the migratory bird a thousand times more than guns ever will and yet the hunter is delineated always as a deranged fool with the I.Q. of alabaster and a machne - gun obliteratng sparrows and canaries with gay abandon. Those like Mr. Sprackett would have us known as such and in the name of law and order not to mention conservation, they will railroad legislation to take away or heavily restrict the guns of Autumn.

I can only say to these liberated thinkers, if you really want to do something for the little creatures then buy a hunting license; the three dollars will further the cause of conservation and game management. Banning the hunt is no answer except in the case of the whales. They are an endangered species; so is the hunter.

THOMAS J. EMPEY

Downtown Building

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Oh my! I'm just so thrilled about Belleville getting a modern new building downtown.

I think it's about time we had big phallic buildings just like Toronto, and New York and all those other marvels of modern man. I know there are those who will say that it will block the view of City Hall, but who wants to look at an old, drab building like that when modern architecture can provide a superbly sterile scene such as we know Century Place will surely be.

It will be especially nice in Belleville when Maurice Rollins places his lovely high-rise on the water-front, thus giving his prospective tenants a "panoramic view" of the Bay of Quinte. I know there are those who will say that this will be an unsightly blot on the landscape for those unfortunate Bellevillians who will have to remain disconsolately on the ground, but you can't fight progress.

S. Africa on Defensive Yet Overseas Investment Flows

By AIDA PARKER
In The South African Financial Gazette

Externally the American debacle in Vietnam is working in our favour. The U.S. now obviously understands that the chips are down in the Indian Ocean, equally obviously has no intention of surrendering that strategically vital area to the Communist wolves.

The recent Tasmanian bye-election result indicates that Gough Whitlam is on his way out in Australia. It's my prediction that within the foreseeable future, perhaps within a year, you will see a new Southern Hemisphere defence bloc, backed by the U.S., edging into being.

As for the Transkei - one of the most sensitive operations in our entire history - it shows promise of emerging as a model Black state, living proof that independence can be gained with prosperity and without violence.

These are the immediate pluses. There are others, which some might rate even higher. Significantly, while some White South Africans have lost confidence, their pessimism is not shared by overseas investors, now pouring money into this country, especially into mining ventures. Nor is this just "scare" capital from Britain or Italy. Most of it comes from the U.S. and Canada. Probably more than ever before Canadian investors are looking at South Africa, to escape the heavy tax rates now prevailing in their own country and its increasing tilt towards socialism.

West Germany, France, Switzerland, Iran, Japan and Austria - all these countries too back their confidence in our stability by hard cash investment.

Next, even during the greatest political turmoil this region has known since the South African War, the Republic keeps on working without missing a beat, new industries, many backed by overseas capital, continue opening up; the immigrant flow is stronger than it has been for years past. Police and immigration authorities work around the clock trying to cope with a million or more illegal immigrants desperately seeking to share and enjoy the prosperity offered by South African Industry, mining, agriculture

South Africa moreover has the strongest military machine in sub-Saharan Africa, a machine handled by some of the most confident and sophisticated soldiers in the modern world. Here the South African and Rhodesian forces cannot for a moment be compared with the Portuguese. In the last five years the Portuguese armies in Africa were totally demoralized, riddled with betrayal from within.

Finally there is the all-important fact that (outside the U.S.) South Africa possesses the first big Black middle class in history. Despite all their problems - including inflation - most Blacks in this country are living better today than ever before.

United, Anglican Union Still Faces Problems

TORONTO (CP) — The decision was stunning but not unexpected. Don Ray snapped back quickly.

"It's still on," he says.

"It" is Church of Christ in Canada, a dream for generations of church unionists.

The United Church of Canada, 50 years old this year, is committed to church union and Don Ray is convinced it will come about some day.

But the new general secretary of Canada's largest Protestant denomination is a realist. He concedes: "Perhaps not in my time."

When general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada, meeting in Quebec City last June, said "no" to the plan of union in the form presented to it at that time, church union seemed dead.

Dr Ray disagrees.

"We cannot," he said in an interview, "force other denominations to become part of a new embodiment of Church of Christ in Canada if they don't want to, but the living route to church union is going to go on.

"I don't know how this is going to come out in the wash, but I think we have to meet the other churches interested in union pretty much on their ground as we would expect them to meet us on our ground.

"The United Church cannot exist except it is committed to church union."

His eye on theology, he graduated from Victoria College, Toronto, in 1940 but his subsequent theological studies at Emmanuel College were interrupted for three years for service overseas with the RCAF in the Second World War. He was a navigator with Bomber Command and his tour of operations over Germany earned him the Distinguished Flying Cross.

He completed his theological studies in 1946 and after ordination that year, took up a pastoral charge in Berwyn-Grimshaw—a two-point charge—in Alberta.

Trinity Has New Meaning

By Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says that few moderns have done more than H.G. Wells to incite revolt against Christian dogma or against the accepted codes of behavior, especially in matters of sex, in which, both in his writings and in his personal life, he was a persistent advocate of an almost completely amoral freedom.

Malcom Muggeridge tells of an interview with a woman who, when she was young, had fallen briefly into the hands of Mr. Wells. The first approach was made at a party. He whispered, "Shall we go upstairs and do funny things with our bodies?" Muggeridge asked her whether the things they did had turned out to be funny. "Not particularly", she replied.

Jesus taught, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God" (Matthew 5:8). It has been my observation that the decay of personal orthodoxy in belief is too often in proportion to the decay of personal orthodoxy in morals. It is unfortunate for such an individual, and tragic for those under the spell of the prominent name that such an individual may have.

It has been my privilege to know a number of Christian theologians. (I think especially of the late Donald Mathers, eminent and beloved Principal of Queen's Theological College in Kingston). They have been persons of vital experience and profound conviction.

None of them deserves the acid scorn of H.G. Wells where he wrote, "Men still sit at little desks remote from God or life and rack their inadequate brains to meet fancied difficulties and state unnecessary perfections. No one who really seeks God thinks of the rinity."

However, the doctrine of the Trinity is the life breath of the Christian religion. The Muslim worships the "first person", without the second or third. Hinduism, at its best, is the worship of a "second person" without the first and third. Most of the widespread agnosticism of our time is, under the surface, a wistful assent to or trust in the "third person", to the exclusion of the first and second.

There is nothing so important in any religion as the character of the God it professes. The habit of stressing one person of the rinity, at the expense of the other two, surely suggests that all three are necessary to a complete religious experience in the life of mankind.

Naturally, long before there was a doctrine of the Trinity there was an experience of the Trintiy. For instance, St. Paul sent his blessing to a church, "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all" (2 Corinthians 13:14).

To affirm belief in the "Creator Father" meets the challenge of the mystery of the universe. To affirm belief in the "Redeemer Son" satisfies the longing heart for restored and lasting friendship. To affirm belief in the "Sanctifier Spirit" delivers the mind from self-centred thought.

We can gratefully and confidently echo the words of a famous missionary, St. Patrick; "I bind unto myself today the strong name of the Trinity."

Ann Landers

Married Too Young, Wife Leaves Home

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my wife she was 17. I was 18. Neither one of us was dry behind the ears but of course nobody could tell us anything. We knew it all.

Our son was born 10 months later. The child is five-years-old now. Six months ago my wife decided she made a mistake by marrying so young. She packed her bags and sneaked out in the middle of the night.

My mother takes care of the boy and he seems to be getting along fine. I have no feeling for my wife one way or another. But I can't understand how a normal mother could leave her only child.

If my wife should decide one of these days that she made a big mistake and would like to come back, should I take her? What is your opinion?—Dumped in Dubuque

Dear Dumped: Wait and see. If she comes back, write again. You'll have a lot more information than you have now—and so will she.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a senior in high school who has always enjoyed participating in athletic events. But I have a beef I'd like to air in your column.

Three coaches in our school act like high school sports are a business. If the team doesn't win, they chew out the players and make us feel as if we have let everyone down.

If a person is in sports for a living, I can see why winning might be a big deal, but why should high school competition be THAT important?

I enjoy sports, but I consider it healthy exercise, good competition and fun. I hate all the unbearable heat put on the players to win.

Please, Ann, tell the athletic directors that many guys like myself have been turned off by their attitude. I have participated in tournaments and meets outside of school and I've never felt the terrific pressure to win until I played on a high school team. Just sign me—A N.Y. Griper

Dear Gripe: Of course you are right, but the coach who turns out winning teams gets support and praise from the alumni, the community and the press. He also enjoys victory dinners, plaques, and silver cups for the showcase. Often it means a salary increase.

It's unfair to hassle and put down a losing team that happens to be outclassed. I agree such coaches should be chopped down to size. But inherent in the American ethic is the importance of being a winner and I see nothing that suggests it's going to change.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm an 18-year-old boy and my chick is 16. I have been wanting to raise a beard and moustache for two years but haven't had much luck. Some guys are hairier than others and I'm not one who can grow much of a crop.

These last few months my beard has been getting heavier and I decided to give it a go. Well, Shirley blew her cool. She said if I didn't shave she wouldn't let me kiss her. She claims my beard scratches her face and gives her pimples.

This moustache and beard means a lot to me as a sign of manhood and I'm not about to give it up. Yet I'm ape over Shirley. YOU are going to decide.—Machismo In Danger

Dear Machismo: No, I'm not. It's YOUR machismo, YOUR Shirley and you're going to decide which means more to your life.

Perfume

North American women are timid about wearing perfume, yet Europeans tend to douse themselves with it, says Estee Lauder, American cosmetician. "When a fragrance is good it stays with you," she adds, "it should never enter a room before you do." Today, many women like to wear a light, fresh perfume or cologne for daytime and a more exotic scent in the evening, says Mrs. Lauder.

North American Women Timid About Perfume

NEW YORK (CP) — North American women are timid about wearing perfume, yet Europeans tend to douse themselves with it, says Estee Lauder, American cosmetician.

"When a fragrance is good it stays with you,' she adds, "it should never enter a room before you do."

Perfume dates back to the early Egyptians who were the first to extract essential oils from flowers. In 900 AD, Arab chemists discovered pure alcohol while distilling wine. It became an indispensable ingredient for perfumes.

The Crusaders took exotic eastern perfumes to Europe, but subtle blending of scents was beyond even the medieval chemists. Consequently ladies used one basic essence.

When Louis IV of France was on the throne, it was unthinkable for court ladies to wear the same perfume to two functions. Each employed a perfumer to concoct special fragrances just for her. By the next reign, perfumes were changed daily.

Until the late 19th century, only royalty, and the wealthy could afford perfume made from natural oils. Then, in 1880, synthetic perfume was produced and priced for the mass market

Mrs. Lauder says that a woman needs only a dab of really good, high-quality perfume.

Certainly Cleopatra never adhered to this rule. She not only perfumed herself extravagantly for her famous boat trip down the Nilo to meet Marc Antony, but also soaked her slaves and the sails of the vessel in the same perfume.

The musk smell, the Empress Josephine's favorite scent, still lingered in her private rooms at Malmaison long after her death. But that was a different period.

Today, many women like to wear a light, fresh perfume or cologne for daytime and a more exotic scent in the evening, says Mrs. Lauder.

"They make it their signature, yet it can also be another's signature too," she says.

Mrs. Lauder wanted a perfume just for herself. So she described to her team of chemists the perfume overtones she wanted. She said that only pure oils and essences were to be used and the result was to be a fresh scent.

Gifted Not Spotted

LONDON (CP) — Bright children whose talents go unrecognized sometimes become the expert brains behind the nation's most baffling crimes, Henry Collis, director of the National Association for Gifted Children. One of the reasons they are not spotted is the resistance of working-class families to having a "gifted" child. The child wastes potential by clowning in class to pass as average or below.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT - EXTENSION DIVISION

offers

A NEW MODERN LANGUAGE TRAINING LABORATORY

Only Recently Available in This Area

REGISTER NOW – LEARN THE SATISFACTION OF FLUENCY IN SECOND LANGUAGE

FRENCH CREDIT COURSES

A six year program (12 sequential semesters of 60 hour coures). These coures are Federal Government accredited by the Public Service Commission of Canada and are accepted as a credit course for a liberal elective in any Arts, Business or Technology program taken at Loyalist.
One of the most modern language laboratories in Canada is in operation, which greatly complements our language program, and has been in operation since February, 1975. In addition, social events conducted entirely in French, are a function of the course.

FRENCH - VOIX ET IMAGES DE FRANCE

"Voix et Images de France" is an audio-visual and audio-lingual method of learning French as a second language. Films strips and language tapes are used as teaching aids in the classroom. The film strips present visual, cultural settings for the accompanying native French conversation on the tapes. The course is conducted entirely in French and follows a natural sequence of learning which requires the student to master all the sounds of the language, both orally and aurally, before he is presented with the problems of reading and writing. The first two years of study deal with a concrete, everyday vocabulary. As studies progress, students are gradually introduced to the more abstract language of ideas and sentiments and are less dependent on visual aids. As fluency is developed by discussion and questioning in the classroom, it is imperative that students registering in the program plan to attend classes regularly. Although student materials are available for review or clarification of content covered in classes, no means are available to review language manipulation that is missed by lack of class attendance.

EVENING CLASSES:
To commence the week of Sept. 29, 1975
SECTION 1 — VOIX ET IMAGES 1 Code: 008-081A
A beginner level course designed for students with little or no knowledge of oral French. Tuesday and Thursday - 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

It is Canadian in content and was developed and is used by the Public Service Commission of Canada for the teaching of French as a second language. It is Federal Government accredited and is accepted as a credit course for a liberal arts elective in any Arts, Business or Technology program taken at Loyalist College.
It will be especially useful for Federal Civil Servants, for businessmen with business affairs in Quebec and for English speaking Canadians who seek an understanding of the language and the culture of French Canada. As language skills are developed by conversational exercises in the classroom, regular attendance is essential.
EVENING CLASSES:

European Style Sugarless Bread

Many persons have in recent years voluntarily decided to eliminate white refined sugar from their diets. In many cases, white sugar is replaced by honey or molasses but often sweetener of any kind is omitted. A good example is sugarless bread. Home bakers have traditionally used sugar or brown sugar or honey to provide a nutrient for yeast to grow. But Organic Gardening and Farming magazine, in an article in its September issue, outlines a simple way you can make bread at home without sugar.

The secret is diastatic malt, which, according to the magazine, produces better bread which not only has more protein but costs less, too. To make bread with diastatic malt which apparently most European bakers do — first you must make the diastatic malt.

You'll need wheat berries which you can obtain from the health food store for 30 cents a pound. You'll only need one cup to make enough diastatic malt for 150 loaves of bread.

Place the wheat berries or kernels in a wide-mouthed glass jar and cover the top with a piece of nylon net or cheesecloth and secure with rubber band. Pour four cups of tepid water into the jar and let soak 12 hours. Drain off water and add more fresh tepid water. Shake and drain thoroughly. Continue rinsing and draining three times a day for two days or until the shoots are about as long as the kernel itself. Rinse and drain again and arrange the sprouts evenly on two large cookie sheets. Place them in an oven at "warm" no more than 150 degrees. In eight hours, they'll be dry. Grind the sprouts into a fine meal in your blender and store in a tightly closed glass jar in the refrigerator or freezer. It will keep indefinitely.

When you are baking any bread recipe, simply leave out the sugar and use one teaspoonful of the malt to activate the yeast.

Here's a recipe you might try: two cups warm water, (110 degrees) one teaspoon diastatic malt, two tablespoons yeast, two tablespoons vegetable oil, two teaspoons salt, five cups whole wheat flour.

Combine first three ingredients and let sit until bubbly. Add oil and salt and enough flour to make a soft dough. Knead until smooth and elastic. Put the dough into a greased bowl and let rise until double. Punch down, knead and let rise a second time. Punch down and divide dough into two pieces and let rest. Form into loaves and place in two medium-sized greased load pans. Let rise until dough is about 1½ times original volume.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until loaf sounds hollow when tapped. Makes two medium loaves.

Next week: Making jam without sugar.

DUEY'S TALE — By Pearl Bailey

Duey's Tale is an enchanting little book about a journey, an odyssey with objects as characters: Duey, a seed; a bottle named Slicker, and a log called Gabby. This beautifully illustrated allegory is engagingly told and rich with an interchange of human values and human relationships.

It is a tale to be read aloud for the enjoyment of both adults and children. Pearl Bailey, the well-known singer and actress, has authored other books besides her autobiography The Raw Pearl. Talking to Myself is one; another, her famous cookbook, Pearl's Kitchen.

Miss Bailey has included a song she has written to compliment the story's theme. This has a jovial dance rhythm which should prove to be a dividend for the listening children.

Miss Bailey's books are available in the Corby Public Library.

Students Hunt Muskies With Radio Waves

BOBCAYGEON, Ont (CP) — A group of graduate biology students have been hunting muskies by radio this summer as part of a multi-year study into the habits of the game fish.

The students are trying to find out why top-quality muskie waters such as Nogies Creek, about 20 miles north of Peterborough, are not producing the quantity and size of fish that might be expected.

With grants from the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show, the National Research Council and University of Toronto, the students have implanted radio transmitters, each with a separate channel, into 10 muskies in Nogies Creek.

They track the fish in a flat-bottomed punt equipped with movable radio masts and earphones.

"I can spot them about a mile away under water with that big antenna," John Minor, a graduate student who lives near Port Colborne, said in an interview.

"When we get down close I can really pin down their position with this smaller one. Hear that bloop-bloop. That's our baby, over there."

Mr. Minor said he has gotten to know each fish individually.

I've watched them rest, go on a little tour, attack and feed," he said. "The only thing I haven't done yet is follow them into the bedroom."

Ed Crossman, a University of Toronto associate professor and curator of itchthyology and herpetology at the Royal Ontario Museum, is in charge of the study.

He said that last year the team conducted a feasibility study of the project employing fish implanted with beepers to be detected by sonar devices.

"We found the program was workable—although not with sonar. The readings were interrupted by weed growth in the fall and ice in winter."

He said Gail Beggs of Brampton, who implanted the transmitters, is "treading unknown territory" by doing research into angling stress.

In the lab, Miss Beggs tests samples of blood taken from angled or netted muskies and compares them with those from fish which haven't been through this stress.

"I can't do it all here—I m taking samples back to the university to study there," she said. "But even so, things are showing up."

She has found that the fish are less able to stand the stress in warm water than in cold, which means a muskie caught and released in July has less chance to live than one released in the spring or fall.

"If it weren't for the economic impact, I'd like to see a two-week closed season on muskie at the end of July," she said.

Miss Beggs has also spotted a seasonal change in diet. During the spring, the muskies feed on yellow perch and white suckers, but switch to brown bullheads and sunfish in the summer. As autumn approaches, she has noticed a tendency back toward perch and suckers.

"Of course, it may only be the availability of the particular baitfish at the time," she said, "but it is curious."

English Slipping Into Japanese

TOKYO (Reuter) — Language nationalism in France is reported to be alive and well. Movies are under way to introduce legislation to halt the pernicious spread of the English language— as in "le hot dog" and "l'after-shave." But in Japan things are different. Japlish—English words pronounced and written in Japanese fashion—is thriving and no one seems to mind.

The Japanese drink lots of "biiru (beer)" as well as a fair amount of "uisukii (whisky)." They enjoy owning their own "hoomu (home)" and driving around in the "kaa (car)" on weekends. Like the French, they like a "hotto doggu (hot dog)" from time to time, and sales of "afutaa shiebu (after-shave)" are on the rise.

The Japanese language is a hungry borrower of foreign words.

Some, like "biiru," are of Dutch origin, because of the trading post at Nagasaki in southern Japan which kept up limited contact with Dutch traders during Japan's centuries of voluntary isolation from the outside world.

The overwhelming majority of foreign words in the Japanese language today are English. When the isolation policy ended about 100 years ago the wholesale borrowing from the English began.

Some words have been so distorted that they are hardly recognizable and many Japanese are unaware that they are not original Japanese words.

The common word for suit of clothing is "sebiro."

But there is agreement among experts that it is not an original Japanese word, even through many Japanese think it is.

Sometimes the word is written in Japan with two Japanese ideographs — "se" meaning the back of the body, over which the suit is placed, and "biro" meaning wide.

Normally, foreign words when written in Japanese are transcribed in "katakana" — a Japanese phonetic system. It is this, together with a special Japanese talent for ingenious assimilation of things foreign, that explains the distortions

Russian Architects Frustrated

MOSCOW (AP) — A leading Soviet architect says bitterly that Frank Lloyd Wright and Le Corbusier would have been failures if they had worked as architects in the Soviet Union.

Another architect complains in a letter to the editor that more and more of his young colleagues are quitting every year because they are not able to use their creative talents.

An old man from Zaporozhe says he is not able to answer his small grandson when the child asks: "Grandpa, why do new apartment houses look so unpleasant?"

As these remarks reflect, the sterility and uniformity of modern Soviet architecture is increasingly arousing the concern and indignation of its often-reluctant designers and the general public.

Soviet newspapers say they are receiving a growing number of letters attacking the lack of beauty and variation in buildings less than 25 years old.

Even Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev has entered the fray, declaring that "our architects can and must put an end to monotonous construction and the lack of expression in architectural solutions."

A visitor to virtually any major Soviet city can see what the critics are talking about. Whether he's in Moscow, the Central Asian city of Tashkent or the Siberian city of Irkutsk, he finds identical high-rise business and apartment buildings, resembling huge public-housing projects in the West.

There are, of course, some striking, well-designed exceptions to this architectural rule. The Comecon building in Moscow, which houses the Soviet bloc's economic organization; Moscow's Palace of Congresses, and the lovely new Lazdinai suburb in the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius are examples. But they are the definite minority.

Faced with a gigantic housing shortage stemming from Stalin's disregard of consumer needs and immense Second World War destruction, former premier Nikita Khrushchev embarked on a crash housing program in the 1960s. His successors have continued that work.

Most new buildings are composed of standardized, prefabricated concrete slabs, complete with windows and doors, that can be pre-assembled in the factory and erected on any site in minimum time with minimum labor.

There is no imagination used in the concrete boxes, no variety, no frills, no decorative touches.

"In arguments over whether there should be real architecture or a roof, the roof always took precedence," architect Vahtang Davitaya complained in the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta. "But it can't go on this way much longer."

Soldiers Get Pay Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — Pay raises for the 78,000 members of the Canadian Forces, increasing the annual pay bill to about $1,082 billion, were announced Friday.

The defence department said in a statement that the raises, effective Wednesday, will average 14.4 per cent for non-commissioned ranks and 13.8 per cent for officers up to the rank of colonel.

At the bottom of the scale, an untrained recruit now will get $450 a month, up from $400. Lieutenant-colonels monthly pay goes to $2,265 from 2,020.

Corporals' salaries will go to $1,166 from $1,036, warrant officers to $1,347 from $1,137 and captains to $1,715 from $1,495.

The general staff, kept in line with senior civilian public servants, received a 10-per-cent average salary boost earlier this year.

Announce Plan

themselves fed up with the arrogant silence of the government," the directors of the Native Council of Canada announced Friday a plan to achieve recognition of their aboriginal land claims. They said they will launch petitions asking courts to declare that they have an interest in selected parcels of land in all 10 provinces and the two territories.

Need Consent

OTTAWA (CP) — A paper prepared for the Law Reform Commission recommends adoptions according to Eskimo and Indian customs be allowed to continue in the Northwest Territories but also suggests the mother's consent be required. In custom adoptions, the natural father has the exclusive right to determine whether a child will be adopted or not," it says.

Unearth Bones

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Police said Friday they have unearthed suspected human bones from the backyard of a rooming house owned by a woman accused of cashing her boarders' welfare cheques. They said an investigation has found that some elderly men are missing from the boarding house. Effie Smith, owner of the house, was charged Tuesday with bigamy and fraud of welfare cheques and released on $10,000 bond, he said.

Debits Go Up

TORONTO (CP) — Debits to individual bank accounts in Canada during August totalled $170.166 billion, compared with $141.481 billion a year earlier, the Canadian Bankers' Association reports. The August total includes $162.432 billion in current accounts, $2.894 billion in personal chequing accounts and $4.840 billion in savings.

Rename Yard

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian National Railways has renamed its 1,000-acre electronic freight classification yard north of here in honor of Norman J. MacMillan, retired former CN chairman and president. Mr. MacMillas attended a ceremony to unveil a plaque on the site proclaiming it MacMillan Yard, formerly known as Toronto Yard.

Strike Action

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP) — Workers at the Eddy Forest Products Ltd. plant in Espanola, about 35 miles southwest of Sudbury, voted this week 90 per cent in favor of strike action. The workers, members of Locals 54 and 156, Canadian Paperworkers Union, can go on strike Oct. 2.

Get Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — Members of the Canadian Airline Flight Attendants Association working for CP Air will receive an average 33.7-per-cent wage increase in a two-year contract. The association said Friday the new contract with the Vancouver-based airline is retroactive to Aug. 1 and will affect 1,000 employees based in Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal.

Canada Reopens Ports To Russian Vessels

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the Soviet Union have resolved their fisheries dispute and the federal government will reopen Atlantic ports it closed to Russian vessels July 23.

The ports will be reopened to the Russians on Monday.

"The fishing dispute is solved," External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen said at a news conference at which he announced agreement. He had just spent the morning with visiting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Resolution of the dispute over Canadian allegations of Soviet overfishing in the Northwest Atlantic—the cause of the East Coast port closure—has three phases.

Mr. MacEachen indicated that they make highly unlikely any Canadian unilateral declaration of a 200-mile fishing limit at least before a law of the sea conference in New York in March.

Under agreements reached through discussions here and at the International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fishery (ICNAF) meeting in Montreal, Canada and the Soviet Union have agreed:

—To negotiate a bilateral agreement on fishing in a future Canadian 200-mile fisheries zone.

—To support the Canadian demand at the Montreal meeting for a 40-per-cent reduction of foreign fishing off the East Coast.

—To create a Canada-Soviet Union joint fisheries consultative commission which would deal with future fisheries problems. A Soviet official would be posted in Halifax.

The agreement ends a long dispute over fishing off th Atlantic Coast. Canada had long charged the Soviets with overfishing, to no avail.

How to be sold on a car.

Within the next month, you'll be exposed to dozens of new cars. All of them will clamor for your attention. Some guidelines follow for new car buyers, plus a few sales points on behalf of Honda.

First, your needs.

Buy what matches your needs.

You need carrying capacity if you car pool, or haul loads, or take car trips. You have a different set of values if you zip around the city. And if you do both, that's a whole other need.

Many two car families are discovering what happens with two small cars. They save money twice.

Honda Civic is an excellent city car, able to snap up tight parking spaces. Yet Honda Civic carries four adults in comfort. And delivers top mileage. Thousands of Honda Civic owners have also discovered the car's ability to cruise the open highway with ease, and with even better gas mileage.

Remember, your car money goes farthest when you buy what you need, and no more than that.

Real news and stale news.

When you look at the new models, they look new. So, one of two things is true. Either it's the same old design dressed up for 1976.

Or, it's a front wheel drive car. With transversely mounted engine for more room in the passenger compartment. With independent suspension on all four wheels. With rack and pinion steering. It's good with gas, which the salesman will tell you immediately.

Honda Civic has been built and and runs precisely that way. For three years now.

The old base price tease.

A base price. Then certain items cost more, as much as $1,000 more to get what you want.

Honda Civic is sold another way.

You pay a reasonable price for a reasonable car. You have a choice of standard or hatchback model. A choice of standard or Hondamatic transmission. A choice of five colours. That's about all your choices.

Honda has already researched and proven what a car needs to function efficiently in Canada. For instance, Honda Civic is tuned to start easily all year. A rear window defroster is standard. Washable carpeting is standard, to easily remove muck in winter and spilled food in summer.

Honda doesn't offer a choice of engines. The standard engine is plenty powerful enough to carry you and a full load. And it doesn't need a catalytic converter, running efficiently as it is. Besides, converters are expensive to fix and require special fuel.

So when you look at a Honda Civic price, that's the price. Completeness is standard.

Money, money, money.

Add up increasingly expensive insurance, tune-ups, depreciation, oil and gasoline costs that last as long as the car does. Maybe longer.

Before you sign.

Think about the dealer network. Honda has Civic dealers coast to coast.

Read all the specifications you can. And ask around, about all cars.

You might consider the Government's recommendation to use small cars. They save gas, save natural resources and save wear and tear on the driver.

Your best guide is you.

This year, all the manufacturers will hammer away on two sales points. The price of the car, and the miles per gallon the car delivers.

You'll find Honda Civic compares favourably to all other cars because of completeness for the purchase price and good mileage. The whole idea of Honda Civic is a car that performs efficiently in today's conditions.

Today's conditions are crowded roads, high speeds, more expensive gasoline. And the feeling that you'd like to do more in life than buy, take care of and feed a car.

So, figure your needs. Figure what you'd like to get for what you can pay. Figure what it'll cost you to buy and keep the car. And while you're out shopping, we think you'll come around and get sold on a Honda Civic.

Honda Civic. The Automobile Re-thought.

Hospital to House Medical Teaching Centre

BY ROBIN CHASE

Belleville General Hospital (BGH) Board of Governors announced Friday a major breakthrough in the teaching of family medicine for aspiring physicians.

In conjunction with Queen's University in Kingston, a family medicine centre will be located in BGH's Cavell Block and will house several medical practices which will be used to teach young doctors modern family medicine.

These practices will be conducted by family physicians in a teaching role. The centre, its organization and operation will be modelled upon family medicine centres at the medical schools in Ontario.

Current plans anticipate a total of 15 doctors in training in the Belleville program when it is in full operation by 1979. The centre will open in 1977.

"The use of community hospitals in the teaching of doctors who have chosen family practice as a career in medicine is helping to meet a real need in Ontario," said Philip Rickard, BGH executive director.

"The community it serves is fortunate to be part of this important program," he added.

Discussions about such a centre between BGH and Queen's were initiated in 1973 by Dr. Richard Potter, former provincial minister of health, when it had become evident that additional teaching facilities were required to produce more family doctors.

The plan to use BGH as an educational facility conformed with the new policy of the ministry of health to share the teaching of health professionals between selected community hospitals and the facilities of the university teaching hospitals – the so-called extended campus concept.

The Queen's department of family medicine became operational in 1973 when Dr. E. R. Hayes was appointed its first head, explained Dr. H. G. Kelly, vice-principal of health sciences at Queen's.

Queen's departmental activities will be located at the new Hotel Dieu Hospital (HDH) family medicine centre of Queen's, scheduled to open next month in Kingston.

The department is staffed by eight full-time family physicians and 32 part-time community family physicians who participate in the education of undergraduate medical students and are responsible for the post-graduate education of 37 doctors training to become family physicians.

Dr. Kelly said, "I am confident that this combined approach to the education of family physicians by BGH, HDH and Queen's faculty of medicine will be a decided asset in family health care for the whole region."

The BGH-Queen's project is in accord with the policy of the provincial government and the College of Family Physicians of Canada.

Shoppers Take Note

Belleville Plaza shoppers take note of a sign in the window of the A & P supermarket that announces new hours for the chain store. The supermakret will be open tomorrow (10 a.m. to 6 p.m.) and weekdays till midnight. An A & P chain spokesman says the new Sunday hours are being tested week to week.

Plaza A&P Store Opening Sundays

BY AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

The A & P supermarket in the eastend plaza will open its doors to shoppers this Sunday, making it the first major food chain to do so here.

The move, a major departure for city supermaket chains, was confirmed from Toronto by company assistant sales manager John Dunne.

Local store officials, although they have been advertising the Sunday store hour in their Belleville Plaza windows and in today's Intelligencer, would not confirm supermarket would be open this Sunday.

Mr. Dunne said the Sunday opening is "on a test basis" and would only say the policy would continue depending on the success of the test. It would be open on a "week to week basis."

Store hours Sunday will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The manager said the company's Pinnacle St. store will remain closed Sundays for now. The Plaza store will also remain open nightly until midnight weekdays.

Asked if the Sunday opening contravened either the Lord's Day Act or city bylaws, Mr. Dunne said the company "from a legal point" is right.

City clerk Earl Dafoe said Friday city bylaws do not specifically mention supermakets among stores exempted from the normal store-closing hours of 9 p.m. Thursday and Fridays, and 6 p.m. the remainder of the week.

No closing-time restrictions are placed on sellers of fresh fowl, fish, vegetables and fruit, or butcher, or "grocery" stores.

Whether a supermarket, as a seller of products found in stores exempted from the closing-time bylaw, can remain open Sundays is something that "would have to be tested in the courts," said Mr. Dafoe.

"This is the way I would read it, (the bylaw)" said the clerk.

City solicitors could not be reached for comment Friday.

A & P's Toronto manager Mr. Dunne said the opening in Belleville is not an isolated case. The company is opening stores Sundays and extending hours throughout Ontario. The chain keeps some stores open 24-hours, seven-days-a-week in some cities.

Mr. Dunne said operating costs will not rise for the supermarket since it now has staff on night to stock shelves. m

The company opted to open Sundays because it was felt that there are "a lot of people that would shop".

The supermarket would provide people a wider range of products than is available in corner milk and variety store., Mr. Dunne said this would be an attraction.

Robert Galt, Belleville A & P store assistant manager said Friday that company experience with Sunday hours in other cities in Canada and the United States has "proven people like the convenience of shopping on Sundays."

Food City Possibly Following Suit

Food City Stores vice-president Vern Jantzi said Friday other supermarket chains are not going to take the Sunday hours of A and P at the Belleville Plaza lying down.

"We can't allow a competitor to get ahead of us," Mr. Jantzi said from Toronto. "I don't personally like the idea of staying open Sundays, but we might have to go along."

The chain store executive said he had learned of the A and P move Friday and as yet, no decision over Food City store hours has been made. He expected one next week.

Food City remains open in Sidney township west of Belleville from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays. It was among food stores polled for reaction to the A and P opening by The Intelligencer Friday.

Mr. Jantzi said Sunday opening for his company here is a "good possibility" but requires a "hard look."

"If someone is taking business from us, we have to be concerned," he said. "We can't allow it."

Company store manager Sam Mulholland said the A and P move "caught everybody by surprise."

Miracle Food Mart manager at the Quinte Mall Robert McGall said he doesn't know whether his store will follow suit.

"There's just not enough business to warrant what they're trying to do," Mr. McGall said.

Reaction from Tom Brownlee, manager of Amodeo's Super Save Market on North Front St., was shocked: "I'm a little shook. We've never had any competition on Sundays to speak of."

But he said he was at present unable to predict any affect on sales at Amodeo's, which has been open Sundays for over three years.

Mr. Brownlee said A and P's action may force other supermarket chains into opening Sundays and Amodeo's may then be "in for heavy seas." However, such action may move the provincial government to pass legislation governing store hours across Ontario.

George Zegouras, operator of Zegouras Food Stores, echoed Mr. Brownlee's remarks, saying that the A and P action, might force other chain stores to open, and thus force the Ontario government to settle the issue.

The Ontario government has been considering province-wide store closing hours for about three years, but indicated recently it plans no legislation.

Mr. Zegouras didn't see the Sunday opening of A and P as a "catastrophe": "I really don't think it will make a great deal of difference."

His customers spend $2 or $3, whereas in the supermarket people spend $50. Those conditions will continue, he said.

Woman Trapped in Car

A Belleville woman is in hopital today with back injuries and possible broken ribs after being trapped in her car for half an hour following a $6,000 two-car collision on Highway 2, just west of Belleville early today.

In satisfactory conditon in Belleville General Hospital is Phyllis Cota, 42, of 3 Village Dr.

Provincial police said today Mrs. Cota was trapped in her vehicle and rescue workers "had a hard time getting her out." Ambulance attandants and police pried open the passenger door to extricate the woman.

Equality of Sexes Evident In Canada Pension Plan

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

Equality of the sexes is now evident in some revisions in the Canada Pension Plan, and in January the maximum pension per month will be $164.00 — an increase of $31.30 over the present maximum $132.70.

Kenneth Ziebell, representative for the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) in Quinte area told the Quinte Life Underwriters Association that now under the plan children will be provided for in the event of the death of their mother with the same benefits as if a male provider had died.

He also urged the Association at a luncheon Friday to develop more knowledge of the CPP into their selling themes to help increase sales.

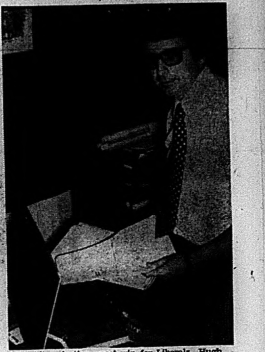
"We can't handle the volume of people who need information about this plan," he said. "Every person working today contributes to CPP and isn't always aware of the benefits available to them."

Mr. Ziebell, who heads the Quinte office as part of his tour duty from the head office located in Kingston, said at least two out of every three people omit to make a will and leave their widows helpless. "Some don't realize any benefits exist at all," he said.

The Canada Pension Plan provides four plans: Survivors, Disability, Death and the most popular, Retirement.

Some eligibility restrictions in the Survivors plan have been removed — benefits are now available for someone who marries a person after they began collecting from the plan; and common-law couples will benefit from a specified period of co-habilitation. Another change was the elimination of the earnings test, previously given before a person received any benefits.

Kenneth Kiebell, representative of the Canada Pension Plan for Quinte area urged members of the Quinte Life Underwriters Association to include the Pension Plan in their selling themes.



After election upset win for Liberals, Hugh O'Neil, new MPP Quinte, is getting ready for his first introduction to big-government politics. Early next week he attends first party caucus held since the Sept. 18 campaign.

Calls for Help Began Day O'Neil Elected

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Hugh O'Neil is preparing to sign in as a member his first political assembly.

Tuesday, he'll be at Queen's Park to take his place in a new Ontario Liberal party caucus — its initiation after the Sept. 18 provincial election.

He has yet to formally take his seat as the freshman MPP from Quinte. The government so far hasn't called the first session of the new legislature.

But already, the 39-year-old Mr. O'Neil is being made aware that he's an elected legislator.

The calls and letters have been arriving from constituents canvassing help with personal problems involving government.

It started the day after his upset win in Quinte endorsed him as the first Liberal from the Belleville-Trenton area sent to Queen's Park in nearly four decades.

He's had five to 10 calls daily from constituents whom he's doing his "best to help," while organizing personal affairs in preparation for his legislature debut, Mr. O'Neil said in an interview Friday.

He aims at playing his backbench part in major political issues. But his localized role as a contact between big government and the individual is equally paramount, he indicated.

"That the individual be helped . . . that's as important as some of these bigger (political) matters."

But there are local issues to which he'll give priority. Among them:

— A new Bay Bridge link between Belleville and Rossmore. "It'll be very interesting . . . to see what happens to the Bay Bridge. That decision (to replace the structure) was made by the Conservatives in power. There was a bridge promised . . . I look forward to a date being set right away for construction to begin."

— A bridge at Trenton. Assistance is needed in replacing the present downtown structure across the Trent River.

As for broader issues, he cites a Liberal platform plank: more decentralization of decision-making away from big government to the communities.

Thursday's caucus will be his first entry into an arena totally involved with politics and public affairs.

The flegling backbencher — he says he's still a "little bit up in the air" over his win — didn't go a training route familiar to many of his new colleagues: Local government.

Nonetheless, he emerged onto the provincial election scene as a seasoned political organizer. His participation began as a teenager — in provincial and federal Liberal campaigns in an area persistently Conservative.

As he re-arranges matters at his Trenton-based real estate business, he's also hoping he won't be back defending his victory too soon. This, despite the Sept. 18 results that reshuffled Ontario's political power balance — creating a minority Conservative government, dislodging his own Liberals as official opposition in favor of the New Democratic Party.

Another election could come anytime between six and 18 months, said Mr. O'Neil.

"But I'd hope it would be a minimum of 18 months to two years.

"First of all, I don't think the people of Ontario want to see us go the expense of another election . . . I'd just like to feel that the difference might make the government work. It might be, even with a situation like we have, there might be more constructive legislation put through . . ."

The party lineups could make for a livelier legislature where "things will really hop."

It should also strengthen the voice of ordinary MPPs — from all parties, including the Conservatives.

But the situation doesn't mean he'll be continually looking over his political shoulder at the home base of his surprise win, said Mr. O'Neil.

"I'd like to think I'm looking ahead rather than looking behind me. You've got to think what you can do for the riding — or try to for the riding — rather than worry about another election at this time."

When another election is called he claims the Liberals will be the victors — and form a new government. For one thing his party is stronger than it has been in 30 years, with a larger share of the popular vote.

The Sept. 18 results that saw the NDP nudge out the Liberals from the official opposition benches was caused by a "protest" vote against the government.

For the present, he intends to remain president of the real estate firm he first joined 14 years ago — and which now counts a staff of 35

City Hall Approves 11 Loans

To date, 11 Belleville householders have received city hall approval for Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP) loans.

There are four more applications ready for processing, city manager Wilbur Purcell said Friday.

Total value of the OHRP funds granted home-owners to date is about $48,000.

The loans given so far have been funded by grants received from the housing ministry totalling $52,600.

The city received $26,300 from OHRP for the end of 1974-75 fiscal year. Council ministry totalling $52,600.

The city received $26,300 from OHRP for the end of 1974-75 fiscal year. Council then made application for its allocation in the current financial year of $105,375.

Recently, the city received $26,300 — or approximately 25 per cent its total OHRP 1975-76 funding.

Municipalities adminster the loans to homeowners for house repairs to an acceptable minimum standard.

Prime objective of program is correction of faulty structural and sanitary conditions and upgrading of plumbing, heating and electrical systems.

It is oriented to low and moderate income families with a maximum annual income of $12,500.

Maximum amount of an OHRP loan is $7,500 — less any funding from other home renewal programs.

The municipalities also determine interest rates — from zero to eight per cent — and what portion of a loan may be forgiven.

Many Feel Inflation Priority for Queen's Park

New that the voters of Ontario have spoken they are waiting for the government to speak.

A survey made by The Intelligencer seems to indicate voters and non-voters want action on issues that affect them most. If anything, they certainly want action.

For an Ontario provincial government to be successfull it is going to have a lot of priorities ranging from a 16 year-old-student who wants the drinking age lowered because he will be 17 soon to voters who are concerned about pensioners who aren't getting a fair shake.

Whether the present minority government will last a year, or even into the next year, is an issue affecting many persons. Most don't seem to want another election in the near future. Most residents said then feel a minority government can be a good thing providing parties can work together.

DAVE YOUNG

Dave Young, 16, a student at Centennial Secondary School said although he isn't old enough to vote he would have liked to in the recent provincial election. He said he thinks the voting age should be lowered to 17. The government's priorities should include "passing some new laws". He said: "A lot of guys would like the drinking age lowered."

RUTH SAGER

Ruth Sager, a part-time secretary with Fraser and O'Neil Real Estate Ltd., said she and her fellow employees were happy for Liberal Hugh O'Neil who took the Quinte riding spot in Queen's Park by beating Robin Jeffrey. "I think the main priority should be housing." There is a great need, she said, for single family dwellings and apartments in the Belleville area and throughout the province.

HERBERT SHARRARD

Herbert Sharrard, retired and living in Trenton, said he is not impressed by past provincial government performance.

"The government should get together and do something for the people of Ontario."

He said it has ignored people caught in the inflation squeeze. "The cost of living is out of sight," he said and government should step in and do something to control it.

DAVID EAST

David East, an appliance service repairman, said he had little confidence in the new government's ability to solve problems. "I don't think they'll have too many priorities." The government should do something about the cost of living. Inflation, he said, should be the main priority. He said there should be a rent review board to help control increasing costs of accommodation.

DON PHILLIPS

Don Phillips of RR 2 Frankford worked during the election in Quinte riding winner Hugh O'Neil's headquarters. It was the first time he became actively involved in politics and said it was satisfying. Rent and food price controls, he said, should be top priorities. "There should be more condominiums for people who can't afford to buy a home." Construction of rental apartments should be increased.

JACK LESLIE

Jack Leslie, of Northport, said the election didn't go the way he hoped. "One of the priorities should be older people." Mr. Leslie, who is retired, heads for Florida soon for his annual visit. Most senior citizens, he said, need to be given a better break. "Benefits for pensioners haven't kept up with inflation. They aren't great enough."

Six Share Goals in Cats' Win

It takes goals to win a hockey game, and the Belleville Bobcats of the Metro Junior B loop had more than enough in Friday night's 6-2 victory over the Oshawa club at Memorial Arena in Belleville.

The play in the first two periods however did not contain as much action as the previous matches to date but Cats' fifth victory, in as many exhibition starts did have its moments.

Belleville's six goals, as has been the case in the previous games, were spread out between six different players and as the season opener on Tuesday drew nearer, the local club is beginning to look more like a team with each game.

Belleville coach Meehan Bonnar admitted that he is "still trying out different line combinations." The Cats so far have signed a total of 16 players with several more, including Grant Goegan, expected to sign in the near

A new face in the Cats' lineup this season is number 22, Paul Johnston, formerly of the Peterborough junior club. He has been trying out with the Junior A club there and has decided to sign with the Cats.

Johnston although only having attended a couple of practices looked strong at the centre position and had one or two tricks up his sleeve, one of which resulted in a 10-minute aggressor penalty to Oshawa.

Belleville's veteran goalie, Bob Moore, played the entire 60 minutes for the Cats and held them in the game a good number of times when sloppy play in front of the net by the home team could have altered the score.

The best save of the night at either end of the ice came in the late stages of the final period. Ed Kiberd broke in all alone on Moore, but the local netminder had the last move, getting a pad on the puck.

When asked how last year's Bobcat club sized up with the present group of players, Moore said "This year's team is stronger than last because everybody is playing as a team. There's a better atmoshere, and everybody is co-operating and it makes a difference."

After a scrambly five minutes of play, Andy Ricketts made his presence felt, letting go the pattented slapshot from just inside the blue line. Starting Oshawa goalie, Dan Porteous, only got a piece of the puck as it passed by.

The Cats left the ice with a comfortable 3-0 lead at the conclusion of the opening 20 minutes of play. Scott Samis and Grant Goegan each added a single before the period ended.

Mike Watt, was also dressed for Belleville and proved to be valuable on the penalty killing squad with his strong forechecking.

In the third period the tempo of the game picked up considerably as both clubs looked sharper in their style of passing and shooting. Paul Tilley scored the Cats only goal of the period, while Brian Crawley replied for the losers.

Local fans will get another opportunity to see the Cats in action Sunday evening when the Kingston Township Voyageurs will make their season debut at the Memorial arena in an 8.15 p.m. contest.

Belleville will open the season Tuesday evening with an away game against the Whitby Young Bruins who have twice fallen victim to the Cats in exhibition games.

Time Out for Awards Night

The South Hastings Baseball League wrapped up their 1975 season on Friday night, with a banquet and awards dinner. At least, the season is nearly over, all the league has to do is find a winner to the league championship.

At this time Melrose and Latta are still battling it out for the SHBL championship, which has been delayed by rain and other factors.

Still, even without the championship trophy there was plenty of hardware to be handed out by league secretary Art Buller.

Before that, however, guest speaker Jack Carson had a few words to throw in. Memories were the main part of his speech. They included the fact that the SHBL goes back to 1937.

Then came the trophies, first for the player to hit the most home runs over the course of the 1975 season. That award went to Bill Barberstock of Shannonville. He powered six homers for his club.

The Hugh Petrie Memorial Trophy, for the Most Sportsmanlike Player in the SHBL went to Scott McLaren. McLaren mixed fine playing with good sportsmanship while playing his baseball with Melrose.

The Most Valuable Player award went to Rick Meagher of Melrose, Meagher was not able to accept, since he was off in Boston excelling in another sport, hockey.

The Most Valuable Pitcher award broke the string of Melrose victories, with Bob Reid of Latta taking the trophy.

The Manager of the Year in the South Hastings Baseball League was Howard Skelly of Latta. Skelly masterminded Latta to the regular season pennant for '75

The final award of the evening went to Wayne Harrison, of Latta. He accepted the league's pennant as team captain of Latta.

All that remains now is to see who will cart away the Playoff Championship trophy and the MVP award for the playoffs.

Latta leads Melrose 3-2 in the final series which has to be the longest running season in SHBL history.

Jack Carson summed up the 1975 season with the words "I hope you boys will continue the tradition set before you by a great many older players".

Portuguese Team Will Be Tough

There has not been much to choose between Kingston Portuguese and Belleville Olympics in Premier Soccer League play this season. But the Kingston side has held a slight edge.

When Buxcey Cup play opens at Sir James Whitney School in Belleville, Sunday, Olympics will be aiming to make amends for earlier shortcomings when they take on Portuguese.

This will be the fourth meeting of the season between the two clubs.

When the teams hooked up in Kingston, they played to a 3-3 draw.

Rediwood Cup action saw Olympics come from behind a 3-0 deficit only to lose 6-5 in overtime.

And going into Sunday's game here, Portuguese are said to be at the top of their game while Olympics will be mssing regulars Charlie Nestorovski, Eugene Courtney and Tony Goncalves through injuries.

Kickoff Sunday, is at 4 p.m.

Kingston Italo-Canadians and Peterborough Vi-Mars also meet in first round play Sunday.

The winner of the Olympics-Portuguese match meets Quinte Hellenic at Sir James Whitney School, October 5 and the same day, Toronto Ferma plays the winner of the Peterbrough-Italo Canadians fixture.

Another Turn Of Events

When is a team expecting to go after a provincial championship not about to do so?

In the case of Thurlow's Midget C baseball team, sponsored by Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund, it's when club manager-coach George Beer is informed his charges have yet to reach the final.

Beer was under the impression his club was already playing for the Ontario Baseball Association title in a series with Waterdown. He's been informed that isn't the case.

The winner of the Thurlow-Waterdown series has one more opponent to get by before laying claim to the championship, Beer has been informed by a representative of the OBA.

And there has been another turn of events that isn't sitting too well with Beer.

Originally, the second game of the semi-final was to be played in Waterdown today. That's all changed now.

Instead, Thurlow will travel to Waterdown for a 1 p.m. Sunday date.

Thurlow leads the best of three series 1-0. If a third game is needed, it will be played following the second game, Sunday, in Waterdown.

Runciman Sparks Junior Trojans

Centennial Junior Chargers put their undefeated record on the line at Moira Secondary School, Friday and when the Bay of Quinte High School Football League match was over, Trojans had a convincing 22-1 win.

As a result, Moira now owns an identical record to that of Centennial on the season. Each club has won twice and lost once.

In a junior game at Napanee and District Secondary School, Trenton High School Tigers matched Centre Hastings' Secondary School's 2-0 record when they whipped the home side 38-6.

Centennial opened the scoring at Moira on a 31 yard single by Mike O'Shaughnessy. But that was it for the Chargers.

Trojans said it with three touchdowns by Jeff Runciman and a pair of two-point conversions by Clarence Broekema. All three Runciman majors came on running plays.

At Napanee, Trenton forged into a 20-6 lead by halftime and put 18 more points on the board, without a reply from the home team, in the second half.

Running back Mark Scuccato had another big game for Tigers, cracking over twice from five yards out to make it four touchdowns in two games. He also added a pair of conversions.

Flanker Rick Doucet picked up his second and third majors of the young season. He clickekd on a well executed reverse and gathered in a pass from quarterback Brian Hanson.

Hanson connected with flanker John Webb on a 40-yard pass and run play and Tigers' other major came when Dave Peticen pickked off an errant Napanee pass and scampered 30 yards to paydirt.

Napanee's only score came late in the first half.

Red Machine In High Gear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Red Machine hasn't slowed down a bit since clinching first place in baseball's National League West.

In fact, Cincinnati Reds are picking up speed in the home stretch.

SPARKY ANDERSON

The division championship clinched some time ago, the Reds went after the record books Friday night—and roared past San Francisco Giants in the process.

"I have to be amazed," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson after watching his team beat Atlanta Braves 12-5.

The win was No. 106 for the West champions, and 62 of those have come at home for a new National League record. The former modern mark of 61 was held by the 1962 Giants.

"Our 1970 club—which won 102 games—could not compare with his team," said Anderson. "Remember that in 1970 the league had just expanded.

"The calibre of the two clubs is much different. That club would not have won 90-92 games this year."

"I didn't think anybody in our division could ever win that many games," said the Atlanta outfielder. "This division is just too well balanced to believe that it was possible."

In Friday's other National League games, Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Houston Astros 3-2, San Francisco Giants blanked San Diego Pardes 5-0, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 1-0, Montreal Expos nipped Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 12 innings and Philadelphia Phillies trimmed New York Mets 4-3 in 12 innings in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader before losing nightcap 3-2 in another 12-inning game.

Tony Perez highlighted Cincinnati's victory with a three-run double, helping he Reds become the winningest National League baseball team in 33 years. St. Louis won 106 games in 1942.

Perez' double off Phil Niekro, 15-15, wiped out a 4-3 Atlanta lead in the fourth and moved the veteran Reds first baseman past Johnny Bench for the club RBI lead. Perez has 109 while Bench, who has been out a week with a groin pull, has 107.

Steve Garvey's two-run homer in the ninth — only the second hit of the game of J.R. Richard—pulled Los Angeles to a dramatic victory over Houston.

Just minutes before, the Astros had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the ninth on Cliff Johnson's two-run homer off Burt Hooton, 18-9. It was one of only five hits off Hooton as he won his 12th successive game, a Dodger record.

San Francisco right-hander John Monefusco pitched a five-hitter and Willie Montanez and Bruce Miller hit run-scoring singles in the fourth inning, carrying the Giants over San Diego.

Bob Forsch pitched a three-hitter and Lou Brock scored from first base on a single, lifting St. Louis over Pittsburgh.

Mike Jorgensen hit a game-tying home run in the eighth inning, then stroked a tie-breaking single in the 12th to give Montreal its victory over Chicago.

Garry Maddox singled home a run in the 12th inning, leading Philadelphia past New York in their first game. Felix Millan's double with two out in the 12th inning led to two runs as the Mets won the second.

Scott Leads Homer Derby

MILWAUKEE (AP) — George Scott slammed his 35th and 36th homers, taking the American League lead in that department and backing Pete Broberg's six-hitter Friday night in carrying Milwaukee Brewers over Detroit Tigers 3-0.

Scott hit a solo blast in the third inning for the only run Broberg needed. He cracked No. 36 into the centre-field bleachers off Ray Bare, 8-13, after a single by Robin Yount in the seventh.

The three runs batted in gave the big first baseman 107, also the league lead, and tied his own club record set in 1973. Scott has 13 hits in his last 30 times at bat, including six homers and 13 RBI.

The victory was the Brewers' second in a row, the first time they have accomplished that feat since July 29-30.

Willie Horton, who doubled in the fourth, was the only Tiger to reach scoring position.

Boston Rolling; Orioles Stalled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore Orioles' drive to overtake first-place Boston Red Sox in the American League East race has been stalled by the rains of hurricane Eloise, and by the time the Orioles get flying again it may be too late.

The Orioles, trailing the first-place Red Sox by as many as eight games early this month, had closed to within 3½ on Sunday before the rains came.

They haven't played much since. Friday night they sat idle in New York while the Red Sox moved two games closer to their first chance for a league pennant since 1967.

Playing in the fog at Boston, the Red Sox got shutout pitching from Luis Tiant and Canadian Reggie Cleveland and swept a doubleheader from Cleveland Indians by identical 4-0 scores.

The Orioles, who lost two games of three-game series with Detroit Tigers to the weather earlier in the week, had a doubleheader washed out at New York's Shea Stadium.

The Red Sox emerged from a damp Friday with a 4½-game edge over the Orioles. Any combination of Boston wins and Baltimore defeats adding up to two would end baseball's last race.

In Friday's other American League games, Milwaukee Brewers blanked Detroit 3-0, Kansas City Royals clubbed Texas Rangers 8-6, Minnesota Twins trimmed Chicago White Sox 2-1 and Oakland A's beat California Angels 4-2.

The Orioles are scheduled to play twice today, and again on Sunday while the Red Sox have single games at Boston's Fenway Park with the Indians.

If that doesn't decide first place, the season would have to be extended to play off this week's rained-out games between the Orioles and Tigers and between the Red Sox and Yankees.

"The pressure's on Baltimore," said Boston outfielder Dwight Evans. "The magic number is two and we're in the driver's seat."

Tiant authored a four-hitter for his 37th career shutout and Cleveland, a native of Swift Current, Sask., who grew up in Medicine Hat, Alta., followed with a five-hitter.

Carlton Fisk, who had two doubles and a triple in the first game, extended his hitting streak to 15 games and scored the only run Boston needed in the windup.

George Scott drove in three runs with two homers—taking the league lead in homers with 36 and in RBI's with 107—in backing Pete Broberg's six-hitter for Milwaukee.

Larry Hisle's tie-breaking single in the sixth inning scored Steve Brye and lifted Minnesota over Chicago. Billy Williams singled home a first-inning run and doubled to open a two-run fourth, helping Oakland beat California Angels.

Jamie Quirk drove in three runs, two in a four-run second, to help Kansas City top Texas.

SIGNS CONTRACT

BUFFALO (AP) — Vic Washington, a veteran running back of both the Canadian Football League and National Football League, signed a contract Friday with the NFL's Buffalo Bills. He formerly played for the NFL's San Francisco '49ers and Houston Oilers and the CFL's Ottawa Rough Riders and B.C. Lions. In his two seasons with Ottawa, Washington was named all-Canadian running back, and scored two touchdowns to lead Ottawa to a 24-21 win over Calgary Stampeders in the 1968 Grey Cup game.

Bid by Labatt's Now Confirmed

TORONTO (CP) — L'Enjoleur is everybody's favorite to win the 57,000 Breeders' Stakes at Woodbine race track today and become only the third horse to capture all three jewels of what has been regarded as Ontario's thoroughbred racing triple crown since 1959.

The three-year-old colt owned by a syndicate headed by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal has already won the Queen's Plate and Prince of Wales Stakes in convincing style.

The two previous triple crown winners were Caneboro in 1963 and New Providence in 1959.

Sandy Hawley, who rode L'Enjoleur to victory in the first two races, will be aboard again in the Breeders with a chance to become the first jockey ever to sweep the three races.

L'Enjoleur, who goes to stud after this season, has won his last five races starting with the Queen's Plate and has career earnings to date of $493,579. At 4 to 5, he's odds-on favorite to take home the $32,000 first money and boost his take over $500,000.

Second in the betting line at 7 to 2 is Brilliant Sandy with the Western entry of Pampas Host and Royal Morn at 5 to 1.

Eight horses including fillies Momigi at 15 to 1 and Deepstar at 8 to 1 are entered in the race for Canadian-bred three-year-olds over 1½ miles on Woodbine's turf course.

L'Enjoleur Favorite

VANCOUVER (CP) — Don MacDougall, president of Labatt's Breweries of Canada Ltd., confirmed Friday his company met representatives of the San Francisco Giants baseball team in San Francisco this week to discuss Labatt's possible purchase of the financially-troubled National League team

But he said a purchase price of 15 million, referred to in an earlier New York report, was incorrect "because we never got to that stage."

He said Giants' owner Horace Stoneham wanted Labatt's to accept the team's responsibilities in San Francisco if the sale were made. But Labatt's, he said, wanted to be allowed to move the team to Toronto free of any legal ties.

"It boils down to a matter of who will accept the team's responsibilities in San Francisco, the sellers or the purchasers," he said.

The New York report said Mr. Stoneham has received offers from another group in Toronto, a combined Maple Leaf Garden-R. Howard Webster effort headed by Lorne Duguid, and one in Seattle.

Mr. Stoneham's acceptance, however, must be approved by unanimous vote by the other National League owners. He was not available for comment.

Contract Rejected By WHA

TORONTO (CP) — The World Hockey Association will reject a contract signed by 17-year-old Gord Roberts with New England Whalers, Bud Poile, director of hockey administration for the WHA, predicted Friday.

"There's no way Gord Roberts will be allowed to play," he said. "Mind you, this decision will have to be made by the trustees, but it's safe to say his signing will be over-ruled.

"This situation is much different from the (Mark) Napier and (John) Tonelli situations. We have now established by-laws to forbid the signing of under-age players and this totally opposes them."

Napier signed with Toronto Toros and Tonelli with Houston Aeros. Their contracts were approved when it was realized they had acted legally.

WHA trustees are to meet here Monday.

Roberts and his brother, Doug, signed contracts with New England Whalers. Gord played last season for Victoria Cougars of the Western Canada Hockey League. Doug is a veteran professional.

The Whalers argue that because Roberts is a United States citizen, he is not under the jurisdiction of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

WCHL president Ed Chynoweth announced earlier Friday his league has agreed unanimously to take immediate legal action against the Whalers. He said he was sure the major junior leagues in Ontario and Quebec will join the legal fight.

"If we don't fight this thing, we may as well fold ..... because it would mean that any time a super junior player came along, the pros could just walk in and sign him," Chynoweth said.

Suddenly Dave Hill Emerges

The colorful golfer, sometimes bad boy of the pro golf tour, has collected only $53,000 in winnings, well below his usual $100,000-a-season pace.

He has described his game as "so bad it's embarrassing," his putting stroke as "atrocious," but he hasn't made a bogey in 36 holes, has used only 58 putts in two rounds and suddenly has a share of the lead in the scramble for first place in the $135,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

"I haven't hit but about four really good shots all week. The rest have been mostly kind of mediocre," he said Friday after his second round 66 had put him at 134, eight under par.

The perfect condition of the course and ideal weather have contributed to some of the lowest scoring of the year, which in turn has produced the tour's closest race of the year.

Halfway through the tournament, Hill shared the lead with Miller Barber, Bob Wynn, Wally Armstrong, Rik Massengale and Bobby Mitchell.

Mitchell and Massengale matched seven-under-par 64s, Armstrong birdied five of his last six holes for a 65, Wynn had a 70 and Barber, the first-round leader, matched par 71.

Bob Dickson and chunky George Cadle were just one shot back at 135. Cadle had a 66, Dickson 68. Ken Still, who had a 66, Don January and Chuck Courtney were at 136.

Marlies Off on the Right Foot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros, last year's Memorial Cup champions, opened their 1975-76 Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A League season on a winning note Friday, downing Ottawa 67s by a score of 6-2.

In other games, London Knights defeated Oshawa Generals 5-2 at London, Kitchener Rangers downed St. Catharines Blackhawks 6-3 at Kitchener, Kingston Canadiens dumped Peterborough Petes 4-1 at Kingston, Sudbury Wolves defeated Windsor Spitfires 5-2 at Sudbury, and Hamilton Fincups and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds battled to a 4-4 tie.

The Marlboros were led by Cary Farelli, who scored two goals and had one assist, and Bernie Johnston, with one goal and three assists.

Trevor Johansen, Doug Feasby and John Anderson also counted for the visitors. Peter Lee and Bob Smith scored for Ottawa before a crowd of 3,100.

League play resumes Sunday with Windsor at Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto at Oshawa, London at St. Catharines, Kitchener at Kingston and Hamilton at Sudbury.

Knights 5 Generals 2

Rick Doyle and Tom Trevail rounded out London's scoring. Bob Gladney and Brian Drumm replied for the Generals.

London led 1-0 after one period on Doyle's goal with the Knights playing short-handed. Rowe made it 2-0 in the first minute of the second on a power-play score on the Knights breakaway pattern.

Drumm's goal made it 2-1 but Rowe connected again for a 3-1 lead at the end of the period.

Rangers 6 Blackhawks 3

A crowd of 3,471 watched the game, the season opener for both clubs.

Laurence, a native of Cambridge, was acquired in a trade two weeks ago from Peterborough Petes. He and rookie Bob Doleman each had two goals and an assist.

The other Kitchener goals were scored by Dwight Foster and Les Campbell.

Kitchener led 3-2 after the first period and 4-3 after the second.

Canadians 4 Petes 1

Kingston exploded with four goals in the third period after being shut out for 42 minutes by Peterborough goalie Greg Millen.

The tying goal was scored by Larry Murphy at 2:54 in the third period. Other Kingston goals came from Daryl Benjamin, Mike Crombeen and Ron Davidson.

Wolves 5 Spitfires 2

The home club scored two goals in the first period and three in the second.

Fincups 4 Greyhounds 4

The Hamilton club scored two unanswered goals in the third period—the second with just 28 seconds to play—to gain a 4-4 tie with the Greyhounds.

The game featured a rough start with 12 penalties called by referee Jim Ramsay in the opening period, including two game-misconducts and the ejection of Sault coach Murray MacPherson.

After Hamilton took a 2-0 lead on goals by Archie King and Dale McCourt, the Sault replied four times with Doug Patey and Vince Friyia each scoring twice.

In the third period, McCourt scored his second goal on a power play and Long got the tying goal in the last minute of play before 4,578 unhappy Greyhounds fans.

RELEASE ROOKIE

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference said Friday they have released cornerback George Campbell, their top rookie last year. Campbell, 24, was runner-up for the EFC all-star team this year and the club's candidate for conference rookie-of-the year honors. This season he has had four interceptions and leads his team in kickoff returns.

Olympic Lottery Continues

NEW YORK (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal said Friday that the highly-successful Olympic lottery will be continued after the 1976 Olympics to help pay for the games.

Drapeau told a news conference that lotteries already have netted more than $100 million, with 7.5 million tickets sold for Sunday's drawing in Winnipeg, and he expects they will net more than $200 million by the time the games open next July.

Drapeau said that even the place total revenue at $500 million for the games. Costs are estimated at $750 million, leaving a "gap" of $250 million.

As he has insisted all along, Drapeau said the games will be self-financing.

"There is no hypothetical situation showing a deficit because the programs do not have to stop with the close of the games. Some of them will continue. We do not anticipate the closing of the revenue tap. It will continue to flow until the expenses are paid."

He said he had several ideas in mind for the self-financing of the budget gap after the games, including the lottery, but said he wants to keep the plans to himself for a while.

"Nothing can stop the lotery from continuing. We only ave to count on the consent of the provincial government. I have never known anywhere in the world where a government was ready to kill a good source of revenue."

Wagon Will Play

OTTAWA (CP) — Toronto Argonauts; badly in need of a boost, got one this week when defensive tackle Jim Stillwagon was pronounced fit to play.

Stillwagon, an all-star in three of his four years with Argos, will make his first start of the season this afternoon against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Riders will be after a share of first place in the Eastern Football Conference. Argos will be seeking to lengthen their lead for third place in the EFC.

The 25-year-old Stillwagon injured his knee in the pre-season taking part in the TV countdown competition featured as part of the half-time show in televised football.

Stillwagon, who needed surgery to correct the injury, says he is ready:

"My knee feels good," he said. "Last week there was quite a bit of fluid on it but I've taken quite a few good hits on the knee and it has held up well."

Bill Bynum is to start at quarterback for Argos and among his potential receivers will be tight end Tom Pullen, a Rough Rider last season.

Rough Riders, who have had their share of injuries on the football field, lost yet another player for the season in a highway accident.

Offensive guard Tom Schuette, the lone holdover on the offensive line from last year's lineup, suffered a fractured pelvis when returning home from a quarterback club meeting in the Ottawa Valley.

Ottawa coach George Brancato said he has lost more than just a lineman.

"We have a young offensive line and Schuette developed this year into the leader we needed. It's the leadership that will be hard to replace," said the coach.

Defensive end Wayne Smith will miss his second straight game for Riders but is expected back in the lineup next week against Hamilton.

Ottawa needs only two touchdowns to surpass their entire scoring total from last season. In 16 games last season they scored 261 points, many of them on field goals. In 10 games this year they have scored 248 points.

The added scoring punch has helped Riders to their best season at the gate. Nearly 30,000 fans are expected to watch today's game despite the threat of rain.

The CBC-TV full network will show the game.

Caps Do Their Thing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Washington Capitals, who won only eight National Hockey League games last season, are finding easier pickings in this fall's exhibition season.

The Capitals won their third game in a row Friday, defeating Detroit Red Wings 8-4 at Kalamazoo, Mich. Washington beat the powerful Buffalo Sabres and Philadelphia Flyers earlier in the week.

Tony White and Bob Gryp scored twice each for Washington in Friday's win. Mickey Redmond had two goals and Brian Watson and Phil Roberto one each for the Wings.

In Friday's other NHL exhibitions, Atlanta Flames edged Minnesota North Stars 3-2 at Lakeland, Fla., and Kansas City Scouts downed St. Louis Blues 4-2 at Kansas City.

In WHA exhibition games, Phoenix Roadrunners edged Houston Aeros 4-3, Czechoslovakia's national team topped Winnipeg Jets 3-1 and Toronto Toros trounced Ostersund of the Swedish Major Hockey League 12-0.

BIRTHS

DUTCHISON — Ken and Joanne (nee MacKenzie), 71 Ottawa Place, Apt. 14, Thompson, Manitoba, are happy to announce the safe arrival of their son on Wednesday, September 24, 1975 at Thompson General Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

BURNS — In loving memory of a dear son, Freddie Burns, who passed away Sept. 27, 1970.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we love is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
But in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Always remembered by Mom and Dad and brothers and sisters.

MACDONALD — In loving memory of our dear brother Richard Thomas who passed away September 25th, 1961.
Dear brother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Sadly missed by brother William, sister-in-law Mary, nieces and nephews. And also in memory of Tracey Wannemaker who passed away on Sept. 27, 1973.

GULLIVER — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Allen Gulliver who passed away September 28, 1970.
The joys we shared together,
The memories we hold dear,
The love and happiness you gave,
Will always keep you near,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
—Ever remembered by wife Alice, daughters Brenda, Debbie, Linda and mother.

CHAPMAN — In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away Sept. 27, 1961.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered by daughters and sons-in-law Velma, Edna and Perry, Aletha and Bill.

MACDONALD, Olive — In loving memory of my grandmother on her birthday, September 27th.
Though your smile is gone forever,
And your hand I cannot touch,
Still I have so many memories,
Of the one I loved so much.
Your memory is my keepsake,
With which I'll never part,
God has you in His keeping,
I have you in my heart.
—Sadly missed by Joyce.

Promotes Mind-body Learning

OTTAWA (CP) — The complete man should develop both his brains and hands, says one of the chief teachers in France's secondary school system.

Pierre Camusat, 57, is the inventor of a mind-body learning program, developed to combat increasingly specialized education, which has been studied on two continents and heard at the United Nations.

Recently he began a three-week training session for 25 Hull area high school teachers at the University of Quebec.

He said present education methods tend to divide young people into thinkers and laborers and this has led to increasing power struggles between the two groups.

"Every job, no matter how menial, requires thinking," said the author of six books on education methods. "We develop the hand by the intellect and the intellect by the hand."

Doctors, he said, should first learn to sew on material, learning the basic properties of tissue before working on humans. Woodcutting, he added, would teach them about fibres comparable to human flesh.

So far in France, and now in Canada, his principles have been confined to intellectual development among slow learners.

He said, however, that his program can go a lot further. Citing Michelangelo as an example, he noted that most Middle Age thinkers had labor backgrounds.

"Education should be based on work, not talk."

Opening lead — A ♠

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

North and South were playing sound preemptive bids. At least North thought they were. He assumed that South would have a side ace for his three-diamond opening, whereupon he could count on 10 tricks at notrump.

Of course, if South did hold an ace, a double of four spades was clearly indicated, but North didn't think of that. He wanted the game.

South wanted no part of four notrump and ran to five diamonds. He anticipated a double of four notrump, but that didn't keep West from doubling the diamond contract.

West's hand clearly called for a trump lead, but he opened the ace of spades which gave South all he needed to bring the hand home.

South used a rather standard play. He ruffed the spade, led a trump to dummy's ace and a second one back to his 10. Then he led the nine of hearts. If West ducked, South would win in dummy, discard his other heart on the king of spades and lose two club tricks.

Actually, West took his ace of hearts and led a low club. South paused to consider possibilities, decided that to play low would be to go down one irrespective of where the ace of clubs was, played dummy's king and when it held, claimed his contract. He announced that he would discard one club on each of dummy's major-suit kings.

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — A spokesman for Sammy Davis, Jr., has denied reports the entertainer is in critical condition in a hospital and might lose a leg.

Davis opened a three-week engagement in Las Vegas last Thursday, but cancelled his midnight show Monday.

LONDON (AP) — British actor Clive Morton, best known for his portrayal of the typical English gentleman in films, theatre and television, died Wednesday. He was 71.

He appeared in television's Upstairs, Downstairs series and in Edward VII.

He had been suffering from cancer for the last three months.

He was married to actress Fanny Rowe and had a daughter by a previous marriage to Joan Harben, who died in 1953.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainers Joey Bishop, Joanne Dru, Robert Mitchum, Dale Robertson and Peter Marshall will help judge the ninth World Chili championships.

A spokesman for the International Chili Society says the panel also will include auto designer Carroll Shelby, jockey Willie Shoemakekr and Dr. Roy Nakayama, described as the world's foremost authority on chili peppers.

The contest will be held Nov. 2 at the Tropico Gold Mine in the high desert near Rosamond, 90 miles north of here. In previous years, it has been held in Terlingua, Tex

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — Singer Glen Campbell, 38, was sued Wednesday for divorce by his wife of 16 years, Bille Jean, on grounds of irreconcilable differences.

Mrs. Campbell, 36, asked for reasonable support for herself and their three children, Kelli, 13, William, 9, and Wesley, 6.

The Campbells were married Sept. 20, 1959, in Las Vegas, and currently live in Beverly Hills.

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Sinatra, who made a hit out of My Kind of Town, Chicago, was made an honorary citizen of the Windy City on Wednesday.

Old Blue Eyes "has proclaimed Chicago throughout the world as his kind of town and thereby serves as an ambassador of good will for our city," said Mayor Richard Daley.

"This is a marvelous moment for me," Sinatra said later. "I've been coming to your city for years and I've always had a good time—not in the rah-rah sense, but in the sense of being accepted warmly by the people in Chicago. Chicago is a swinging kind of town."

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (Reuter) — Al Pacino and Gena Rowlands won the best actor and actress prizes at the San Sebastian film festival on Wednesday.

Pacino won for his role in Dog Day Afternoon and Miss Rowlands for her portrayal in her husband John Cassavetes's film A Woman Under the Influence.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Veteran actor Pat O'Brien has been released from St. John's hospital after a period of observation. O'Brien, 75, earlier spent three weeks in an Illinois hospital after suffering chest pains July 22.

Your Weekend Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Sunday, Sept. 28

Aries (March 21-April 19) You're not overly patient with the family today. If everyone's walking around the house with a long face, you may be to blame.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Giving orders comes easy to you today. However, if you want others to follow your edicts, you'd better try to set a good example.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) If you've committed yourself to picking up the tab today, first check the prices or you'll make a king-size dent in your wallet.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Others will make such heavy demands on your time you won't have much to yourself. Put your dreams away for another day.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) You will be hypersensitive today. Weigh what others say or you'll mistake a sincere comment for a put-down.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Have fun with friends today, but don't mix in money or things of a material nature. If you do, hard feelings will result.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Normally, you're very considerate of others' feelings. Today, you'll be so intent on having your way you'll get someone's hackles up.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be content to let sleeping dogs lie. You're likely to unwittingly dredge up some old, unpleasant issue that could be very disturbing to a friend.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's a losing proposition to give business advice to a friend today. If the situation doesn't pan out, he'll blame you for his failure.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're not a good team player today. Avoid getting into a situation where you must rely on a partner. Neither will be happy.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Where usually you're willing to lend a helping hand, today you will resent it deeply if anyone asks for a favor.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Take no risks today where someone else is calling the shots. If you can't be captain of your own ship, pass the action.

For Mon. Sept. 29

Aries (March 21-April 19) Make no hasty judgments today on important domestic issues. The perspective you have on them is slightly distorted.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Your generosity today is apt to exceed your resources or capabilities. Promise nothing you'll have problems delivering.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) If you borrow something today that a friend prizes, treat it with extra respect. A careless mishap could mar the friendship.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Don't bank too heavily on luck to gain your aims today. Logical thinking and lots of effort are "musts" if your plans are to work.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) You're not too great at keeping secrets today, so be careful. Should you let the cat out of the bag, at least try not to embellish the facts.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your budget could get a trifle bent unless you begin now to trim some of your non-essential spending.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is not a good day to attempt on your own tasks in areas where you lack expertise. Line up capable assistance.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful in negotiating agreements today. Get all the details spelled out clearly before shaking hands on the deal.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're likely to do things today against your better judgment. Weigh both sides of issues carefully before plunging in.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Keep your mind on your work today, or you're going to make a big mistake with something that's usually a snap for you.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) You may find yourself in a situation where your first impulse is to grab the tab. Don't—let the freeloaders pay their share.

Horses Return

SMOKY LAKE, Alta. (CP) — Horses are making a comeback in rural Alberta, says district agriculturist Grant Gillund. Many farmers are rediscovering the value of a good team of draft horses in the winter. Instead of trying to start up a tractor in the cold weather, farmers are hitching up their teams to haul hay for their cattle.

Cemetery Restored

SASKATOON, Sask. (CP) — Anthropology students at University of Saskatchewan have restored an abandoned Anglican cemetery connected with the old Battleford Industrial School. The school, a federal residential institution for Indian children, operated from 1883 to 1911 by the Anglican Church.

Face Problems

OTTAWA (CP) — Independent insurance agents and brokers can expect difficulties in placing property and casualty insurance for some time, said John Kirby, retiring president of the Canadian Federation of Insurance Agents and Brokers Association. More markets will either be retreating from Canada as a whole or from past consistent markets, he said.

Cuba and Canada Sign Trade, Air Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Loan agreements totalling about $30 million and a previously announced air pact to provide scheduled service to Cuba, were signed Friday by Canadian and Cuban trade officials.

Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie said at a signing ceremony that the loan agreement is to support sales by four Canadian companies of equipment and services.

The agreements activate the first part of a $100-million line of credit extended to Cuba in March. Trade officials said the credits can be renewed each year to support up to about $500 million, of potential sales to Cuba.

The loan agreements cover the sale of 20 diesel locomotives by MLW-Worthington Ltd. of Montreal, worth about $12.5 million; 50 ore railway cars worth about $3.1 million to be made by the Trenton, N.S., works of Hawker-Siddeley Canada Ltd.; 73 electric power transmission equipment servicing vehicles worth about $2.2 million to be made by Wajax International Ltd. of Toronto, and a plant for pulp moulding equipment to make egg cartons that is to be supplied as a turn-key project by Roy W. Emmery Ltd. of Toronto and is worth about $1.2 million.

The loan agreements are between Cuba and the Export Development Corp., the agency that lends money at commercial rates for purchases in Canada. The Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Montreal also have agreed to lend about 30 per cent, or $6 million, of the contracts.

Lang Organizes Abortion Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Otto Lang's last act as justice minister Friday was to announce the appointment of a three-member fact-finding committee to study the problems of getting a therapeutic abortion in Canada.

The operation of hospital abortion committees will be the focus of the investigation announced Friday. Members of the investigating committee are Robin Badgley of Toronto, the chairman, Dr. Marion Powell of Toronto, and Denyse Fortin-Caron of Montreal. They are to report in six months.

Mr. Badgley, a sociologist, teaches at the University of Toronto and is chairman of the department of behavioral science, in the faculty of medicine.

Dr. Powell, a physician, teaches population dynamics at the University of Toronto; is a board member of the Planned Parenthood Federation of Canada; and is a past president of Planned Parenthood of Toronto.

Mrs. Fortin-Caron, a lawyer, has been a consultant on family law to the Law Reform Commission of Canada.

Mr. Lang said their job will be to report on the extent to which the procedure for obtaining therapeutic abortions is operating equitably across the country."

Its report, which will go to Justice Minister Ron Basford, Mr. Lang's successor, is to be made public.

Development Bank Starts Operations Oct. 2

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Federal Business Development Bank, which is to provide more financing services to small-and medium-sized businesses, will start operations from Montreal on Oct. 2, the industry department said Friday.

Nine directors from the private sector have been appointed and as previously announced Richard Murray will be president and director. Mr. Murray had been commissioner of the Foreign Investment Review Agency since February, 1974.

The new bank is to take over the former Industrial Development Bank (IDB) and various federal business counselling services of the industry and manpower and immigration departments, as well as services of the National Research Council.

Basically, the bank is to assist smaller firms and enterprises, with financial and management services, as well as technical and training guidance at local and regional levels.

One 'objective will be to extend lending services currently offered by IDB, which provides financing only when it is not available from private lenders on reasonable terms.

The new bank will have offices in all provinces, as well as in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Directors named Friday are: John Wilson Poole, chief executive officer of Vancouver-based Daon Development Corp; Harry Cohen, vice-president of Calgary-based General Distributors of Canada Ltd.; Harold S. MacKay, a partner in the Regina legal firm of MacPherson, Leslie and Tyerman; Sol Kanee, president of Soo Line Mills (1969) Ltd. in Winnipeg; Robert Rankin, vice-president of Rankin Ford Sales Ltd. in London; F.D. Rosebrugh, vice-president of Toronto-based Dover Corp. (Canada) Ltd.; Guy Desmarais, president of the Montreal brokerage firm of Geoffrion, Robert and Gelinas; Claude Frenette, president of Consulinter Ltd. of Montreal, and Ralph Fiske, president of Fiske Group Ltd. in Halifax.

Pickering a Lesson For Ottawa: Rhodes

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government may have "dragged its feet" in deciding to scrap the proposed Pickering airport, says John Rhodes, transportation and communications minister.

Mr. Rhodes told a news conference at Queen's Park on Friday that the problems created for persons living in the area of the proposed site may have provided a lesson for governments.

"The lesson is that you shouldn't do things too darn quickly. Perhaps we have to try and find that middle ground somewhere."

Mr. Rhodes said after a cabinet meeting Wednesday that Ontario was opposed to a second airport because there was no proven need for such a facility.

The federal government has scrapped plans for the airport but will retain ownership of the land, which it has asked Ontario to leave zoned for agricultural use.

Mr. Rhodes said Friday his ministry has information and figures showing the Pickering airport is not needed at this time. The figures did not support federal transport ministry figures showing the need for an airport.

The minister said he would like to meet with Ottawa to discuss the figures and plans for the 18,000 acres of land, and has asked for a meeting as soon as possible.

Another topic he said will be discussed is alternatives to conventional air transportation such as rail service and STOL (short take-off and landing) aircraft.

Mr. Rhodes said he disagreed with Prime Minister Trudeau's statement that Ontario reneged on the agreement reached in March, 1972, about servicing the airport.

"It should be emphasized that the basis for this understanding was the fact that the federal government had already decided that an airport would be built. We had no responsibility or input into that decision."

Asked about the loss of potential jobs, Mr. Rhodes said it was a consideration, but the money the federal government planned to spend on the airport will be spent on another project.

He insisted that the decision to ask for a halt on the airport was not based on political considerations.

The new government is a minority one with only 51 seats in the legislature. Both the NDP and Liberals are opposed to the airport.

Cut Rate

ZURICH (Reuter) — The Swiss bank rate will be cut to 3.5 per cent from four effective Sept. 29, the Swiss National Bank said Friday. Financial sources said the national bank usually aims at keeping its rate low compared with neighboring countries to deter the inflow of foreign capital.

Ferry to Start

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP) — The British Columbia government opened a new ferry service between the mainland and the Queen Charlotte Islands Sept. 2. The 235-foot vessel replaces a privately-owned ferry, subsidized by the provincial government since 1969, and carries foot passengers and vehicles between Skidegate Landing and Alliford Bay.

Turner Still Sought by PCs

OTTAWA (CP) — While former finance minister John Turner maintains he has no interest in the Conservative party leadership, there are some Tories still working on the handsome 46-year-old lawyer to take a run at being Robert Stanfields successor.

With growing indications that Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed won't enter the race, and with Ontario Premier William Davis virtually written off as a result of the recent provincial election, many Conservatives are saying that Mr. Turner would be a shoo-in for the leadership. But none wants to be seen searching outside the party for a new leader.

One member said caucus samplings indicated that as many as 75 of the present 95 members would support Mr. Turner.

Most of the others," he said, are potential candidates."

Phone calls have recently been made to most key party officials to test their attitude on a draft movement for Mr. Turner. After Mr. Turner said last week that the Tories didn't have enough unanimity to muster a draft, those working on his behalf want to ensure no factions would erupt if he accepted.

But while Conservative optimism is increasing about Mr. Turner going for the leadership, the former Liberal finance minister seems to be strengthening his stand against it.

He says that some 20 to 25 members of the Conservative caucus have called him about the leadership.

But as I said before I haven't given it a thought."

I stated my position and I haven't changed my mind."

Some of the Conservative optimism appears to be based on the belief there will eventually be a noticeable split between Mr. Turner and some of his former cabinet colleagues.

Middle East Dominates UN Attention Since 1973

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The Middle East, as it has since the Yom Kippur war of 1973, continues to dominate the United Nations.

The focus now is swinging to the need for more money and more men for the UN Emergency Force which stands as a buffer between the Egyptian and Israeli armies in Egypt's Sinai desert.

The reason is that the force must be increased to cover wider areas, a consequence of the new Israeli-Egyptian disengagement agreement. The buffer zone is to be expanded substantially as Israeli troops are withrawn further east and important oil installations are returned to Egyptian hands.

The force now is made up of 4,000 men from seven countries, including nearly 1,000 from Canada, and its cost to the UN and its members currently is about $8.7 million a month.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim stressed the need for more money and more men to the UN's budgetary committee Thursday, saying that the exhanded operation would require fresh manpower and the possible use of new and different equipment.

He is expected to follow this with a call to UN members to provide more men—one figure mentioned is 500—for the operation. It is unlikely that he will ask Canada, already the largest contributor in manpower, to add to its contingent since the Canadians already have let it be known they have reached the limit of their manpower resources.

It may be that countries not yet involved in UN peacekeeping operations will be asked to supply men. Besides Canada, those with troops in the Middle East Emergency Force include Poland, Finland, Indonesia, Ghana, Sweden and Senegal.

Another 1,200 men are in the UN Observer Force in the buffer zone in the Golan Heights area between Israel and Syria but they will not be involved in the proposed force expansion.

In addition, the United States is to provide an estimated 200 civilian technicians to man listening posts in the mountainous areas to which the Israelis are to withdraw in the Sinai. Because of the terrain, the new equipment to be given the force is expected to include helicopters.

Under the agreement, the Israeli forces will withdraw from about 1,950 square miles of the 23,000-mile-square Sinai.

The emphasis Waldheim placed on the need for more money in his statement to the budgetary committee is believed by some diplomats to have been intended as a prod to some UN members who are behind on their assessments for the force.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen alluded to that problem when he told the General Assembly last week that peacekeeping can continue only if it has the full support of all members, including practical support in the form of prompt payment of peacekeeping assessments."

Rochdale Residents Evicted

TORONTO (CP) — The last tenants will soon be evicted from Rochdale College and the 18-story structure will be turned over to Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. (CMHC), a spokesman for the building's receiver said Friday.

An official of Clarkson Co. said only three tenants remain in the college after 12 persons were evicted Friday by York County sheriff's officers.

Sid Smith, the building's manager, said one of the remaining three has agreed to leave of his own accord Sunday. The other two, a couple on the 16th floor, will be evicted.

That could take a week, or perhaps as long as two or three weeks," Mr. Smith said. They'll be the last two out—that should be history.

It's been three years and many times I've wondered whether it would happen or not.

A CMHC spokesman said building inspectors estimate it would take $1 million—or about one-fifth of the original cost—to restore the college to its original condition.

Wardair Seeks Charter Service

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says Wardair Canada Ltd. of Edmonton has filed an application with the Canadian Transport Commission to offer charter air fares between Toronto and Miami this winter as low as $99 return.

The newspaper quotes Maxwell Ward, president of the charter air carrier, as saying the $99 flights will apply to weekly departures in a 450-seat Boeing 747 aircraft during three weeks in January. Other weekly flights to Miami starting Dec. 24 and until April will be $129 return, he is quoted as saying.

George Curley, Wardair vice-president of marketing, said Wardair also has filed for fare increases of about nine per cent on North Atlantic flights, The Globe and Mail says.

It says the increases will raise the peak summer rate for a Toronto-London flight to $369 return from $339 last summer.

The Miami fare on Wardair, for which bookings must be made two months in advance, compares with $228 for a regular economy-class ticket on a scheduled airline, the newspaper says.

Hearst Asked To Join SLA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst asked permission to join the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) seven weeks after she was kidnapped and took part in a bank robbery "to prove herself to the SLA," an article in the new issue of Rolling Stone magazine says.

Associate Editor Howard Kohn and reporter David Weir said today their account was based on information from unidentified sources who "talked to Patty Hearst; they were there; they helped her."

Kohn and Weir were interviewed on NBC's Today Show

The Rolling Stone reporters said that:

—Miss Hearst was confined, apparently in a closet, for four weeks immediately after she was kidnapped from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4, 1974, by the SLA. In an affidavit filed last week in federal court here, Miss Hearst said she was held in a closet for nine weeks.

—Miss Hearst asked to be permitted to join the SLA but most members of the group were opposed. It was SLA leader Donald DeFreeze, who called himself Cinque, who convinced others to accept her.

—When she was released from confinement, Miss Hearst was allowed to move freely among SLA members and sat in on the group's "daily political study sessions."

—When six members of the SLA died in a shootout with Los Angeles Police, Miss Hearst and SLA members Bill and Emily Harris were a few blocks away listening to radio accounts of the confrontation. The Harrises quickly bought a used car and left Los Angeles, with Miss Hearst hiding in the back seat under a blanket, for San Francisco.

Sea Cadet bass drummer Jeremy Tyrrell stands at the ready Sunday to march in the kick-off parade for the 1975 United Way campaign. Foreign Fishing Cut 40 Per Cent

MONTREAL (CP) — Faced with a determined stand by the host nation, the 17-member, International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries (ICNAF) agreed Sunday to accept a Canadian proposal for a 40-per-cent reduction in foreign fishing of groundfish stocks off the Atlantic Cost.

The Canadian proposal, first put forward at the last ICNAF conference at Edinburgh in June, called for a 40-per-cent reduction in foreign fishing in offshore areas stretching from the northern tip of Labrador, around Newfoundland and Nova Scotia and including areas off the coast of New Brunswick.

The vote was hailed as a victory for Canadian fishermen by a jubilant Romeo LeBlanc, fisheries minister.

Canada also succeeded in convincing ICNAF members to accept more stringent catch limits on endangered species of fish and to grant Canadian fishermen a higher percentage of total catch allotments.

Mr. LeBlanc said the agreement, to take effect next year, should provide badly-needed relief for fishermen in the Atlantic provinces who have been faced with steadily-declining stocks.

The 40-per-cent reduction will be brought about in part by reducing the number of days foreign fleets will be permitted to fish off the Canadian Atlantic Coast each year. The 40-per-cent figure is an average as some zones will have larger reductions than others.

The reductions would apply to all ICNAF members except Canada and the United States, whose coasts are involved, and France, which controls the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon off the south Newfoundland coast.

Groundfish stocks include cod, haldock, plaice and redfish.

Describing the results of the conference as "an unqualified success," the minister lauded the perseverence of Canada's negotiating team.

He said the negotiators succeeded in convincing ICNAF members of the justice of Canada's cause.

Mr. Leblanc said replenishment of depleted stocks would take several years, but would eventually produce increased income for Atlantic fishermen and lower prices for Canadian consumers.

New quotas will reduce the catch of cod from as little as 20 per cent to as much as 50 per cent, depending on the zone concerned.

Fisheries department statistics indicate Canada's total Atlantic catch of groundfish has been declining steadily for the last six years and department spokesman say this is largely as a result of increased foreign fishing.

Atlantic ports were closed to the Soviets earlier this year when the Canadians charged Soviet ships were ignoring current quota restrictions.

The total catch of all types of fish in the convention area in 1974 was 3,976,000 metric tons, the bulk of which—1,157,000 metric tons—was taken by the Soviets.

The American delegation also hailed the decisions taken by the conference as a positive move toward protecting U.S. fishing interests.

Troops Occupy Portuguese Media

LISBON (Reuter) — Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo today ordered troops to occupy all Portuguese radio and television stations to prevent media exploitation of such events as protests against the executions in Spain of five urban guerrillas, the state radio announced.

The statement said the occupation was a temporary measure aimed at guaranteeing broadcasting of news that is not manipulated and serves the country and the revolution.

Once "responsible and multi-party information" is again available the occupation will end, the statement said, indicating that the premier is preparing to break the Communists' hold on Portuguese news media.

The admiral said recent events such as a crippled former servicemen's campaign to press for improved benefits and the weekend sacking of the Spanish embassy and consulates in protest against the guerrilla executions were exploited by radio and television.

He said this is "part of a whole provocative campaign encouraging seditious attitudes endangering the revolution and undermining order and discipline, especially in the armed forces."

The premier said the action was taken to avoid the proclamation of a state of emergency.

"Socialism and social justice cannot be built on anarchy," the statement said.

The decision was taken by Admiral Pinheiro de Azevedo in his combined capacity as premier and acting president in the absence of Gen. Francisco da Costa Gomes, on a week-long visit to Poland and the Soviet Union.

Portugal, which depends on Spain for much of its water and electricity, has expressed regret at the incidents and promised to pay for the damage.

Transit Service Operating Today

MONTREAL (CP) — Bus and subway service began rolling today for the first time in 11 days as striking transit workers returned to their jobs under the threat of fines and decertification of their union.

Rush-hour traffic assumed more manageable proportions as people who used their cars to get to work during the strike took public transit once more.

About 2,150 cashiers, clerks, garage and maintenance workers employed by the Montreal Urban Community Transit Commission walked out Sept. 18, to support contract demands.

Maintenance workers voted 406 to 213 Sunday to obey a back-to-work law enacted at a special session of the Quebec national assembly.

However a union official said the men were dissatisfied with the legislated settlement and may use "guerilla tactics" to influence the course of mediation.

"We return because of a law forcing us to; we don't return of our own free will," said Jacques Beaudoin, president of the Montreal ransport Union (MTU).

"But this doesn't mean we have given up the battle," he told Sunday's meeting. "We will continue to fight for you."

The 1,600 maintenance workers, part of a 2,150-member common front which included cashiers and oificer workers, walked off the job to back contract demands.

A & P Sunday Business Brisk Says Official

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Customers were lined up at cash registers "pretty well all day" Sunday at the A & P supmarket chain in the Belleville Plaza, acting assistant store manager Dennis Anderson said today.

However, he would not reveal the extent of business done yesterday, the first Sunday opening of a chain supermarket in Belleville.

Receipts have been tabulated, said Mr. Anderson and "they can probably be favorably compared to Saturday", a normally busy day for the supermarket.

"Customers were quite inclined" and "went for the idea" of Sunday shopping, he said.

A & P in the eastend plaza is the first chain food store that has opened its doors to shoppers in Belleville.

Reaction from other food stores in Belleville was mixed in a Intelligencer poll Friday, with some saying the Sunday opening wouldn't make any difference to their business and others indicating they might also open their stores to provide competition.

Hoffa Mystery Unsolved

DETROIT (AP) — A man who said he helped bury the body of James Hoffa provided information that led to an unsuccessful weekend search of a nearby field for the missing former Teamsters boss, a Senate subcommittee investigator said.

Investigator William Gallinaro, who tipped local authorities that Hoffa's body might be found in the field, said his information came from an unidentified informant who was not involved in the labor leader's disappearance but who has underworld contacts.

Gallinaro said his informant believes the man who said he helped bury Hoffa is being held by "the mob" until he provides exact directions to the body's location.

World Dismayed Over New Oil Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both rich and poor countries expressed dismay today over the 10-per-cent increase in oil prices agreed to Saturday by the world oil cartel.

The British pound slumped to a new low, attributed largely to the price increase. The United States dollar strengthened.

Amir Jamal, Tanzania's minister of commerce and industry, said in Dar es Salaam that oil-trading countries were "apparently turning their backs on the developing countries, particularly the least developed."

He said the increase agreed upon in Vienna by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) will cost Tanzania an extra $10 million in foreign exchange annually.

"For the least developed countries, petroleum products are not luxuries, they are necessities," he added.

OPEC boosted its price to $11.51 a barrel from $10.46, effective Wednesday, and said it then would freeze it for nine months. For U.S. motorists it means an extra penny a gallon for gasoline. When the increase was announced, President Ford said it would "worsen inflation throughout the world."

South Korean officials in Seoul calculated their country will have to spend an additional $122 million a year for crude oil imports because of the OPEC move. South Korea currently imports 118 million barrels of oil a year.

Belleville Puppeteer Teaches 10-week Course at City Museum

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Kae Oatman is going back to teaching, but it won't be in a classroom and it won't be some dry subject like algebra or prehistoric reptiles.

Rather, her subject is puppetry and her classroom will be the Glanmore House, Hastings County's museum.

That, of course, doesn't mean she will end her tours of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties schools to demonstrate her puppetry talents. Mrs. Oatman has done so since she moved to Belleville from Hamilton about a year ago.

Now, she says, she will also teach, something she did for five years in her former home town.

As far as she knows, she said Sunday, her 10-week course at Glanmore House will be the first puppetry classes offered in Belleville.

"I'll cover more than just puppet construction," she said. "I'll show them (primarily childern) how to put on a show."

A puppet, whether it's a hand, rod, or shadow puppet, doesn't just pop up and wiggle around. It hangs on a peg until someone breaths life into it, "Mrs. Oatman says.

"Through your body, you put life into a puppet," she says.

And then sometimes a puppet can do better than humans. A puppet can fly. It can pop out of thin air. If it's a tree puppet, it can talk. If it's a flower puppet, it can dance.

She will try, in her $15 course, to convey to students the theatrics of puppetry, she says. Classes start Saturday, Oct. 4.

An Ontario Puppetry Association member, she will also be teaching a course at a hobby shop in Belleville Plaza. But this course, she says, is aimed more at teachers, rather than children.

Puppets are increasingly being used as visual aids in classrooms, and are even used in church Sunday schools. But the aim here is at children, something she says she hopes to change one day.

Puppetry was once solely an adult entertainment, one that slipped to children's entertainment around the turn of the 18th century, she says. Centuries ago, theatrical and religious themes were handled with puppets. (When Cortez came to America, a priest with the expedition was a puppeteer," she says.)

Jamaican Gunmen Hold 7 in Spaghetti House

LONDON (AP) — Three Jamaican gunmen held seven Italian waiters hostage in the 10-by-12-foot basement storeroom of a restaurant today for the second day.

The Jamaicans invaded the Spaghetti House in the fashionable Knightsbridge section at 1:45 a.m. Sunday in an attempt to steal the nights proceeds. Nine employees were still on the premises prepring to close up.

One of the employees shoved a bank satchel containing the money under a table, escaped and called the police. When they surrounded the area and the Jamaicans realized they could not escape, they herded the other eight Italians into the storeroom.

The gunmen made "vague demands for certain people to be released," but the two prisoners they named have already completed their sentences, Police Commissioner Sir Robert Mark reported.

"They have been told there can be no bargain of any kind," Mark said.

The gunmen released one of the hostages Sunday evening as a token of good faith, but the police still refused to bargain.

'We have been asking them to put down their arms and not to harm anyone and no harm will come to them, said a police spokesman. "But we are making no progress."

Police listening at an air vent from the storeroom reported the gunmen were arguing about what to do.

"They may offer a lot of bravado, but I can tell you they will be damn scared," said one policeman. "They're in a corner. They don't know how to get out of it, and they're bloody confused."

The storeroom "will be a pig hole by now," said Margherita Roscelli, whose brother-in-law was one of the hostages. "You can hardly breathe in there. After all, its only a larder. It's not big enough to take all those people."

"Water has been passed in to them and we have asked if they want anything else," a police spokesman said. "They have said they do not want anything."

Frankford Power Knocked Out

CAMPBELLFORD — More than 75 customers were without electrical services today, 15 hours after two equipment failures cut off power to Campbellford and the Frankford rural area Sunday night.

Ontario Hydro had two crews working since a conductor broke at 9.09 p.m. Sunday and were replacing customer transformers and fuses blown on a low voltage, power line after the original breakdown occurred.

Power was returned to Campbellford within an hour of the breakdown on the 44,000-volt, main feeder line out of the Ranney Falls Generating Station, and to most other customers in surrounding Frankford area almost six hours later.

Ontario Hydro officials said the quick action in Campbellford was possible because the town could be fed from alternate lines. The rural Frankford area is serviced by the Petherwick distributing station where the breakdown occurred and had no alternate lines to feed the customers.

When the switch was thrown after the original repairs at Petherwick a second equipment failure blew out transformers and fuses on 75 to 100 homes in rural Frankford.

Ontario Hydro hoped to have service resumed by noon today, officials said.

Buildings Art Topic

Jerry Stapley has just finished a successful week of exhibiting at Quinte Mall and now he's ready to retire for the winter and work on his commission sketches.

He began his career five years ago after leaving high school. Country scenes were the beginning and now he's progressed to sketching historical sites and portraying some client's homes.

Mr. Stapley, who has staged one-man shows at Corby Library. The Four Seasons in Belleville, Toronto and Ottawa, used a drafting pen for his work and has now branched out to provide hastynole packages.

"There's real character in old buildings; it's something you can't find in newer constructions," he said. He views his art as one way of preserving the historic sites.

Mr. Stapley who is now planning a Toronto show, said this part of Ontario was excellent for subject matter.

City Discusses Disaster Plan

Backed by the concerns of Belleville General Hospital (BGH) Board of Governors, city council willinvestigate alterante disaster co-ordination in the face of the demise of the Quinte Emergency Mesures Organization (QEMO), Ald. Stu Meeks indicated Friday.

He told the BGH borad he and Mayor Ben Corke will discuss the situation of lack of a disaster co-ordinator and will consider "the setting up of a viable organization" either on a volunteer basis or otherwise.

"The city must have a disaster plan ... and a viable one," Ald. Meeks emphasized.

Dr. Bruce Morgan pointed out that BGH has its own disaster plan within its own premises but that the plan is not effective without outside co-ordination.

He noted that BGH must currently depend on the efforts of individuals and the ambulance services.

Mayor Corke also suggested that Hastings County Council "should be involved in any discussion of this matter."

Candy Dandy... For Trustees

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Candy is dandy — for trustees but apparently not for students.

The Hastings County Board of Education last week made a formal motion to discourage the sale of candy bars for fund-raising purposes in or out of school. The move was prompted by a nutritional task force which recommended that candy sales be banned from all county schools.

However, the irony of the situation is that during the 30—minute debate over candy sales, board trustees sat in front of mint candy placed strategically around the table. Then, if that wasn't enough, the board recessed for cookies, cakes and sandwiches, not to mention coffee and cigarettes.

The board had a lot of nerve to come down hard on public school students who in good faith and the best tradition of capitalism try to raise a few dollars for the benefit of other students.

There is little argument with the board that candy bars are not nutritional. However, they are a fact of life, and quite popular.

Only one trustee, Ed Paquet, strongly opposed the move on the grounds that the board would be denying the students the best possible means of making extra money.

The point Mr. Paquet was making was that lightbulbs don't sell as well as candy bars and that adults are going to chocolate bars despite reprimand from school board trustees.

The community also supports candy bar drives out of a sense of loyalty to students or other worthwhile groups attempting to raise money.

If the board wants to press the point on a moral issue then it should clean up its own act first and get rid of all those non-nutritional foods at board meetings. Perhaps small bowls of carrots and celery would be more in line.

The original task force report has some good and concrete recommendations that would be better served by a little attention from the board.

A suggestion of a pilot project in which nutritional foods would be offered at lower prices than the so-called junk foods is certainly worth the effort.

What the board should really be interested in is moderation in the area of non-nutritional food because there is no way junk foods will be eliminated.

Banning something is no way to encourage or teach moderation.

Disaster Areas

Harley Joyce, furnace repairman with Moira — Schuster Fuels, 17 Pinnacle St., says homeowners could clean parts of their furnace providing they avoid the "disaster areas" such as sensing and safety devices protecting the furnace from becoming too hot.

School Board Tries To Cut Energy Bill

Despite dwindling public interest in the conservation of energy the Hastings County Board of Education is still keeping a stiff upper lip in hopes of cutting thoses electrical bills.

Director of education Eric Runacres consoled the board by reporting that the administration coupled with special school committees continue to battle the energy problem.

A lighting program, wich involved eliminating all the incandescent fixtures in schools, has been completed with a 50 per cent cost reduction.

Mr. Runacres also said the replacement of obsolete and inefficient heating plant units is still underway as funds become available. Maintenance personnel are also undergoing training programs for heating plants.

He also said that the temperature control systems, using night set-back sequencers, is being continued with a temperature reduction of 10 to 12 degrees in most schools.

The plant department is systematically replacing old windows each year to combat heat loss. Weather stripping is being applied to most doors.

In the battle to conserve energy each school has formed a special energy committee, composed of the principal, custodian, staff representative and student leaders, to find ways of conserving energy in each school.

The committees attemp to find ways of lowering the room temperatures to between 20 and 21 degrees. It also issues dress standards to students in order to accommodate the lower room temperatures.

The reduction of artificial lighting in the schools also becomes a prime target for these committees. The control of air-conditioners and ventilation systems is also a continuing problem for school custodians.

In a final step Mr. Runacres said the schools still try to work conservation of energy into curriculum and school activities. Such subjects and environmental science and Man on Earth help to give an academic balance to the practical steps being taken.

However, the over-riding problem facing the board is a lack of funds to update old equipment and implement new energy-saving techniques in heating and plumbing

Superintendent of plant Keith Hawkins has repeatedly told trustees that without additional funds the plant personnel are hamstrung as to the ultimate goal of energy conservation.

Furnace Like 'Loaded Gun'

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Servicing your own furnace is like "looking down the barrel of a loaded gun," says a Belleville furnace repairman.

This is the first year oil companies have not offered an annual cleaning and inspection free of charge. They now charge about $16.

"We found amout 70 per cent of customers are getting it done," said Mr. Kerr. The rest, he said, are ignoring necessity or trying to do it themselves.

Adjusting your own furnace can be dangerous, said Paul Stephenson, Belleville fire department fire prevention officer.

"I would strongly recommend people don't touch their furnace unless they really know what they are doing," said Mr. Stephenson.

Harley Joyce, service man with Moira — Schuster Fuels, 17 Pinnacle Street said with proper equipment a homeowner could clean a furnace "but they have to realize the disaster areas."

One of the most critical areas the home handymen should avoid are sensing devices that shut the furnace off it the fuel is not being ignited.

"The amateur may not be aware of the use or service of these devices," said John Stoneham, furnace inspector in the energy safety branch of the Ontario ministry of consumer and commercial relations.

Oil burning furnaces are equipped with at least two sensing devices to determine if fuel is being burned. One reacts to light and one to heat. If fuel is not being burned the furnace is shut off within a 120 second maximum time set by provincial law. Th furnace can be re-set mannally and should be re-set only once.

If the furnace is re-set more than once too much oil could be ignited causing damage to the fire pot.

Furnaces also have a high limit switch which turns the furnace off if the temperature inside becomes too high.

"If the safety controls aren't checked there is a possibility of over-heating the furnace. There is a smaller possibility of causing a fire," said Mr. Stoneham.

Another area not to tamper with are the ducts providing air to the combustion chamber.

In August the provincial government rapped the knuckles of the federal government which had published a book on energy conservation. The book suggested ways the homeowner could adjust the furnace burner air shutter.

In the press release Sidney Handleman, minister of consumer and commercial relations said : " — unless you know exactly what you are doing you should leave the settings alone."

Adequete ventilation is essential. Without it carbon monoxide could enter the home endangering occupants.

"If you are concerned about the efficiency of your gas or oil appliances leave the adjustments to trained personnel where ever possible," said Mr. Handleman.

Advice in the book, said Mr. Handleman, is particularly danagerous as a great number of persons will accept government published information as being correct.

The federal government has agreed to revise future copies, said Mr. Handleman.

Skipping Cleaning No Saving

Oil companies now charge about $16 to clean and inspect a residential furnace. Until last fall the work was done free of charge.

"If they get it done every two years they're only kidding themselves," said E. B. Kerr, Belleville furnace serviceman.

"One sixteenth of an inch of carbon on the heat exchanger can increase heating costs 10 to 15 per cent over a winter," said Mr. Kerr.

"Annual servicing is advisable just from an economical point of view," said Mr. John Stoneham, provincial furnace inspector.

"If a furnace is cleaned properly it will save the homeowner 10 per cent on heating bills. There's no question," said Jim Driscoll of Moira-Shuster Fuels, 17 Pinnacle St.

Loyalist Attracts Big Names

The Loyalist College student council will not take a back seat to anyone when it comes to attreacting big names to college events this year.

The council has secured well-known Canadian folk singer Jesse Winchester as part of its three-artist special folk music night Oct. 8 in the Loyalist cafeteria.

The appearance will follow last Wednesday's pub night attraction which saw former Lighthouse member Bob McBride – now on his own making big-sellers – entertain.

Dan King, council vice-president of administration, said Winchester will appear with Alan Rhody of Toronto – who perfprms regularly at the Green Door at the Quinte Hotel – and Belleville singer Trevor Burt.

Mr. King said the event is open to the general public. Advance tickets cost $2.50 per person and are available at the student council ticket office at the college, Muntz Stereo Centre at 215 Front St. and Fredelle Shoe Boutique at the Quinte Mall. Tickets will be $3 per person at the door.

Mr. King said Winchester is a naturalized Canadian – former U.S. citizen – who is into contemporary folk music. A resident of Montreal, about 30 years of age, he has three albums out and a fourth on the way.

The three albums are Jesse Winchester, 3rd Down, 110 to o and Learn to Love It. They are not pushed commercially, Mr. King added.

Rhody, in his late 20s, has a contemporary country-folk style, said Mr. King. He has three singles out but nothing in the line of albums yet.

Rhody left the U.S. in the late 1960s to avoid the draft and is not yet a Canadian citizen, he said.

Guitarist Burt will be the local flavor. He has played with a few bands in the Belleville area.

Mr. King said the three artists mainly will perform solo and may or may not have bass accompaniment.

Quality Award

Donald G. Williams of Mutual Life of Canada, was presented with the 30th year National Quality Award by Reg Massey, member of the Quinte Life Underwriters Association. Mr. Williams, a long-time resident of Belleville, said all the award means is "a little hard work and love for your fellow man."

Two Occupants Injured

ROSSMORE — Two Belleville men were taken to Belleville General Hospital early Sunday following a single car accident on county road 28, two miles south of Belleville.

Treated for cuts and bruises were driver of the car, Ted Jones, 18, of 74 Alexander Street, Beleville and his passenger Dennis Raycroft, 18, also of Belleville.

A police spokesman said the car was northbound on county road 28 when it went out of control and overturned in the ditch.

Ottawa West's PC — Donald Morrow — Laid it on The Line and Won Again

By RICHARD JACKSON

Ottawa Correspondent

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Polarized politics pay.

That, at least, came clear in the Ontario election.

Much of the rest is confusion as the country waits to see what the big-spending socialist pressures of the surging New Democrats on the waning Conservatives do to the economy of Canada's wealthiest province, and, very directly, to the already unhealthy financial state of the nation.

That remains to be seen.

But what now is in plain view is that in polarization is the political payoff.

Or, put another way, polite political pussfooting profits.

While the Ontario Conservatives, in power 32 years, were losing 23 seats and slipping into a weak minority position, vulnerable to the free-spending whims of both the Liberals and the NDP, a supposed Tory loser was winning big against all the odds.

He was Donald Morrow, for 27 years MPP for Ottawa West, a low profile politician, a man of so few words as to have spoken only eight times in recent years in the legislature, and for a campaigner, old, at 67.

To the Liberals and New Democrats he looked like a pushover, and they each fielded a young, strong and regionally prominent candidate.

And Donald Morrow, stumbling along in his ramshackle campaign headquarters, his own manager with a staff of only two, was labelled "the invisible candidate."

His opposition spent money, lots of it, on signs and advertising. They had the troops for the door knocking.

Then, at the last minute, into the Ottawa newspapers, he popped an advertisement that became the talk of the National Capital Region.

It broke all the rules

It wasn't "constructive.' It wasn't exactly nice. In fact, on radio, television, in the newspaper editorial pages and in news reports, it variously was referred to as bigotted, even racist, and as one pundit put it, "an insult to the intelligence of the National Capital."

It simply said this:

"Now more than ever . . . vote Don Morrow.

"Keep Ontario strong and free.

"Only the Davis Conservatives can do it.

"Finance Minister John Turner has gone.

"The one countervailing force against the neo-socialists and the campaging bilingualists of Pierre Trudeau's 'in-group' is out.

"You don't dare put a Trudeau rubber stamp in power in Ontario.

"You won't put this province in peril of rule by a provincial satellite of the Federal and Quebec Liberals.

"Vote Don Morrow . . . Vote Conservative . . Keep Ontario strong and free."

But Don Morrow said that was too much, a little like flag waving, and although there was nothing wrong with showing the flag, he killed the one line.

The rest ran, in good big display space in the papers the last two days before the election advertising cutoff.

It gave the bleeding hearts and limousine Liberals time to cry crocodile tears and howl bigot, but no time to build up a backlash.

And it worked.

It turned Ottawa West around, transformed what had looked like a loser into a winner.

Commenting, the editor of The Ottawa Journal deplored the ad as in bad taste if not altogether divisive, but went on to say that, well, yes, maybe it wasn't a good idea to have Ontario, Quebec and the federal governments all Liberal.

The Ottawa Citizen quoted a Liberal campaign worker as lamenting that the "bigoted" ad cost his candidate 3,000 or more votes.

And when the votes were in, The Journal observed that, rightly or wrongly, Mr. Morrow had "made sure in his advertising that the pace and pressure of the federal language programs was the issue among the voters of Ottawa West, mainly middle management public servants."

And the surprised Liberal loser said on TV that "yes, it hurt us."

No, it wasn't "nice." You're not supposed to talk about such things, especially in an election campaign. It's "racist," you know — "divisive," even "bigotry" — but it gets to the voters where it counts, on the ballot, and it wins.

Wins, because he laid it on the line. Hard.

Fire Protection Need

Belleville sorely needs more apartment buildings.

And pending new Ontario housing code could, for the first time, require developers to construct their projects with stringent provisions made for adequate fire protection.

The fact remains, owners of a proposed 116-unit highrise on Palmer Road wanted an exemption from this city's sprinkler system bylaw and there is no provincial building code on the books yet guaranteeing apartment tenants the fire protection they deserve.

That makes city council's decision — albeit by a narrow 6-4 margin — to refuse the Palmer Road project exemption from the sprinkler bylaw a sound one.

A spokesman for the owners told council the cost of installing the sprinkler system would make the project "unviable."

We've heard that argument before, from the original proposers of the harborfront highrise now being developed by contractor Maurice Rollins.

But human lives are more important than financial expediency.

Did the developers not know this city has had a sprinkler bylaw on the books since last year? They should have taken any additional costs required to meet sprinkler standards into consideration when planning their highrise.

That is, unless they were gambling that the new provincial code would not require sprinkler systems and would take precedence over local building regulations.

If that is the case, they should be prepared to wait — while construction costs go skyhigh — until the province's new code is proclaimed, possibly by the end of the year says city engineer Joe Angelo.

Political Furrows

From a political standpoint, Prime Minister Trudeau doubtless was following the letter of the law when he stayed away from the International Plowing Match at Oshawa because a Rhodesian team was participating.

Canada, in line with United Nations condemnation of Rhodesia's white supremacist policies, does not recognize that country. For this same reason a team from black ruled Kenya withdrew from the event.

However, if politics was the reason behind Mr. Trudeau's decision, it also represents a broken commitment as well as a snub to his hosts and the visitors from overseas.

This in a country which annually observes a Brotherhood Week, while not always living up either to the spirit or the letter of its tenets. Nor are we exactly top league in giving full effect to the civil rights and material welfare of our own people, while in Quebec, what is being implemented in terms of compulsory language edicts, is further justification for raised eyebrows among Canada observers abroad.

Certainly Mr. Trudeau's action has been an embarrassment for the agricultural community. One official of the Plowmen's Association was quoted as saying: "We have nothing to do with race or creed in this outfit."

The Rhodesians voiced similar sentiments, noting also that black Africans compete on equal terms with Europeans in their country.

Since the establishment of the United Nations, however, and the unshackling of colonial ties, it has been the practice increasingly for nations to back-seat drive their way into the affairs of others.

One day Rhodesia will have a black majority government, but it is not something that can be accomplished overnight. Meanwhile, plowmen in Canada, and their guests from overseas, should be permitted to do their thing without political shenanigans from Ottawa.

Kidnapped Americans and Execution Threat Toward Haile Selassie Associates Balks U.S.

By KEVIN DOYLE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The latest kidnapping of two Americans from a United States communications base in Ethiopia is causing serious alarm here at a time when U.S. relations with the remote African country are deteriorating rapidly.

A state department official says the situation has become "practically impossible from our point of view."

The two U.S. military personnel were captured with six Ethiopians during the weekend in an attack on the base by secessionist guerrillas in the rebellious northern province of Eritrea. The rebels now hold four Americans, with two kidnapped last July.

The secessionists, who have been battling sporadically for several years against the central government in Addis Ababa to gain autonomy for Eritrea, are threatening to murder the hostages unless the U.S. makes major concessions.

They say Washington must ban all future arms shipments to Ethiopia and press the Addis Ababa government to free captured Eritrean rebels as well. The secessionists also want the base, on the Eritrean coast, to be dismantled immediately, charging it has been used to spy on their activities.

State department officials say they have no intention of negotiating directly with the rebels but they acknowledge that their ability to deal through the central government has been severely limited by recent events which have strained relations with Addis Ababa almost to the breaking point.

The most immediate reason for the deterioration has been a formal statement of concern by the United States at growing rumors that Ethiopia's military government is planning the mass execution of about 300 people in the capital within days.

These are reported to include roughly 12 princesses from the former regime of deposed emperor Haile Selassie, who died in August, along with a substantial number of their children.

The U.S. also has done little to quell speculation that the legendary Selassie, who was 83, may have been poisoned by the military rulers who overthrew him a year ago.

The state department has warned Addis Ababa of "serious consequences" for U.S.-Ethiopian relations if the rumored executions are carried out. Addis Ababa, meanwhile, has reacted angrily, scoffing at the speculation.

Officials here believe there are some promising avenues which could be explored in order to obtain the hostages' release without a complete capitulation to the guerrillas' demands. But they add that so far the Ethiopian government has shown little willingness to make any effort whatever on Washington's behalf.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

September 29, 1945

The Chamber of Commerce approved an immediate start on the proposed city sewage disposal plant at a special meeting held at the Hotel Quinte recently, following an address made by William Storrie of the firm of Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers of Toronto. Treatment could be either partial or complete, the former removing 40 per cent of the impurities and the latter from 90 percent to 95 per cent. Owing to Belleville's situation on the Bay of Quinte, which moves relatively slowly, only complete treatment was recommended for this city.

40 YEARS AGO

According to local employment statistics, 75 men of this city are working on the administration buildings now under erection at the Royal Canadian Air Force base on the Trent Road.

Dutch Elm Battle Continues

Ottawa Journal

This dry summer of 1975 has not helped trees at all and the NCC planners and preservers have continued their long-term campaign against the Dutch elm disease. This blight first appeared in France and the Netherlands in 1919. It has been affecting Quebec trees since 1944 and Ontario trees since 1946. Since then thousands of dollars and person-hours have been spent each year on its control.

The disease is a fungus which attacks and clogs the vascular system of the elm preventing the passage of water and dissolved minerals. Until this decade the control of Ceratocystys concentrated on the extermination of its carriers, the native and European elm bark beetles.

In the last few years another and more effective antidote has been developed, a chemical formulation (CFS — 1020). This chemical attacks the life of the fungus itself. This is not a "wonder drug," but when used successfully it is comparatively much more effective than previous remedies. Each year since 1972 the NCC has treated approximately 175 trees in Ottawa by this means. The chemical is injected into the root system of the tree, whence it is carried by natural process through all parts of the tree, killing the fungus and rendering the tree for several years immune to further infection.

Since the chemical is expensive the hours required for injection long, and the application — especially for larger trees — cannot always be thorough, the NCC, is using this new method selectively, preference being given to areas such as Parliament Hill and the lawns of Rideau Hall. Other more "conventional" methods, such as spraying and removal of badly infected trees, are being continued.

To some taxpayers the amount of money spent on nursing trees and maintaining the character of the city may seem excessive. But the same men and women would deplore the disrepair of the National Arts Centre or the National Gallery. The individual artist celebrated for his genius gets much more sympathy for the trials of his work than do the city planners and conservers. The particular beauty of Ottawa has been said rightly to depend on the beauty of its trees, especially its elms. In the long run, it might cost more in mere dollar terms, to truck all the dead elms away than to keep them alive and beautiful.

Economics Of Being Handicapped

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I have written from time to time AGAINST a minimum income for everyone. I am still just as strong against this guaranteed income for those who are able to work. But there are a great many people who are not able to hold a full time job due to sickness, accidents, the handicapped or mentally retarded, widows with families and the wives and families of the handicapped.

Some of these people may have a little money, and will put themselves through considerable hardship rather than spend all their money and become eligible for welfare These people should be given a minimun income based on their income from all sources not whether, or not they have money in the bank.

It only takes a few minutes to write to your M.P. or other figures in the government. Let us make our views heard and ease the lot of these people who, with rising prices are facing more and more hardships.

Christian Influence In Schools

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

On September 22, you reprined a column by Lubor Zink of The Toronto Sun claiming that our schools are being taken over by Marxist revolutionary teachers who are indoctrinating young children with their beliefs. The "danger" was presented in inflammatory terms, yet without any reference to facts, with the exception of a reference to one school program, probably one small part of one school's program.

Because one teacher somewhere in Toronto decided to teach children something about today's China, Zink would have us believe that all Ontario teachers are Communists! This column, printed in a prominent position on your editorial page, is the worst sort of red-baiting and has no place in your newspaper. If somebody there at the Intel chose that column because he or she agreed with it, then that person at least owed local teachers a little investigation into the situation before maligning them as a group! I think your reporter would quickly find that teachers around Belleville who teach children to strive for a better, more loving, more "communal" society owe less to the writings of Marx than they do to those of Christianity.

Please don't insult the intelligence of your readers again by reprinting this kind of lunatic fringe garbage.

Communists Make Gains in UK Says Former Labor Minister of State

A threat to democratic government in Britain. This was the premise discussed in a recent article in the Glasgow newspaper, The Sunday Sun, by Lord Chalfont, a former Minister of State in the Labor government of Harold Wilson.

* * *

Democracy in Britain is in grave danger.

There's real risk we may wake up one morning to find ourselves under the rule of a Communist-dominated government.

They have gained a dominant position in many trade unions.

From there they now wield enormous influence over Parliament, where they have many friends.

Look at the trade unions. Among the millions of members, only a handful are Communists or left-wing extremists. Yet it's they who hold positions of power.

They've gained this strength by turning out in force to union meetings and elections, putting their strength behind their own candidates.

The moderates, who truly represent the views of the majority, are howled down when they try to speak.

Either the moderates vote for the extremist candidates, or, as happens much more often, don't vote at all

The result is the same — the leftwingers gain control.

Once in office, they control union policy. The politics they follow are invariably Marxist.

They will continue to oppose reasonable Government measures and do everything they can to disrupt industry and foment trouble.

The campaign is deliberate, well planned, and well—organised.

In Parliament the situation is even more worrying.

The left wing have gained such a grip on the Labour Party, they feel powerful enough to try the same strong-arm tactics they've used in the unions.

The attacks they've made on Reg Prentice and other moderate Labour M.P.s are the first public sign of this.

But it has been going on behind the scenes for much longer.

Unless the moderates of this country stand up against the left at every opportunity, the extremists will continue to make gains until they have won control.

About 20,000 supporters out of the whole Russian population of 100 million.

Yet, six months later, by exploiting the apathy of the majority, they were able to engineer a second revolution and take power.

Not by revolution. But by stealth.

Apple Picking Doesn't Stop For Sundays

REDNERSVILLE — Apple picking doesn't stop for Sundays anymore.

Evidence of its popularity can been seen along the Rednersville — Carrying Place Road where orchards have flanked the Bay of Quinte for generations.

Pick-your-own signs now blossom along the road in fall as readily as the apple trees did in spring.

The trend means picking is less of a chore and more of a convenience — benefitting both growers and consumers.

The advantages:

— Producers also have worries over labor problems eased.

Labor shortages and costs were among major reasons prompting producers to try out the fresh approach say local growers.

Donald Bonter, who operates Bay Orchards west of Rednersville with his father, Harold, believes he was among the first to try out the idea in the area about five years ago.

After the first two years its popularity began to gather space. Now local farmers have turned it to other fruit — like strawberries.

One weekend, says Mr. Bonter, he estimated people picked about 10,000 quarts of their own strawberries.

"It just seems like a real good way to do things for ourselves and the consumer," he says.

Further east along the road, Ron Redner believes pick-your-own apple projects still are the "coming thing."

His charges range up to $5 a bushel depending on the variety picked. McIntosh are in season right now. If a family picks a whole tree, the charge goes down as low as $3.50 a bushel.

This compares, claims Mr. Redner, with the equivalent of $8 — $10 in urban stores.

But there's another reason for pick-your-own popularity: It also gives families contact with rural surroundings, the novelty of a working day in the country.

"They get the satisfaction of coming out and picking their own apples — as if they'd grown them themselves but without all the bother," says Mr. Redner.

"This way we also get a chance to talk to customers and make them more acquainted with rural problems," he says.

Mr. Bonter agrees. Fewer people now live on farms. Picking apples as part of a weekend drive — most people pluck one or two bushels — is a means of helping families relate to farm life.

At Bayview, they even arrange trailer rides for pick-your-own customers.

So far, weather — recenty it's rained regularly — hasn't been a big business booster.

But it's made for "excellent quality" apples, points out Mr. Redner.

Cool nights help convert starch in the fruit to sugar. The result has been good flavor and color.

Trend in The Trees

Rednersville — area orchard owner Ron Redner (left) talks apples with picker John Bertelink, RR 5 Belleville. Trend in recent years has brought more people to pick their own fruit — saving costs with a day working in the country and easing labor problems for growers.

Big Crops Pressure Prices

WAUJOOS — Bumper crops of apples in Ontario and parts of the United States this year will glut the market predicts Prince Edward County orchard owner Bruce Litle of Waupoos.

Mr. Little said Sunday that the heavy apple crops this fall will " put the pressure on prices" unless the American yield is cut by strong winds or other adverse factors.

He observed that there is a large 1975 apple crop and also a large hold-over of processed apples from 1974.

The Waupoos fruit grower commented that Ontario enjoys a good market for top fruit such as fresh. apple. When the American market is down apples are shipped out to the United States.

Mr. Litle said that the economy in the U.S. now is "rough" and it is doubtful that the apples will be purchased as readily as in other years.

The Waupoos farmer said he has had no problems in hiring pickers for his 30 acres of orchard but the weather has hindered the harvest this fall.

Recent heavy rains have prevented work and it is now important to harvest the McIntosh apples quickly.

In addition to the "Macs" grown on his farm, Mr. Little has Delicious apples and a quantity of processing apples.

Like many Prince Edward farmers he promotes the pick your own plan that permits motorists out for a Sunday drive to stop and gather up a hamper of grounders or fill a basket from the trees.

"We are really too far away to benefit from it, though," says the fruit grower whose orchard is on a cross road just off the main road through Waupoos.

Most of the motorists who stop to collect grounders and buy other apples are from the Kingston area.

Mr. Little said that he would like to advertise a pick your own operation but this would mean that constant supervison would be needed in the orchards.

He added that a crew of pickers can harvest from 500 to 600 bushels daily from the orchard but if his operation relied heavily on pick your own such a large quantity would be impossible.

Mr. Little attributed his bumper crop to what he described as an unusual year. He felt that the summer heat waves benefitted the apple crop. This fall the heavy rains affected the McIntosh apples. Instead of ripening and coloring they have continued to grow.

The grower, who charges $1.50 for a well-rounded hamper of quality grounders, says he prefers to clear his apples at a low price instead of asking more money and possibly dumping part of the crop.

"There is no way you can grow and produce for what we are selling for," he remarked.

He explained that the price of orchard spray is up by 25 per cent and the cost of gasoline also is increasing.

"Its a depressed situation," he said.

The apples that are not sold in the orchard often sell for juice but this year many growers may decide against taking this step.

Mr. Little said that because of a large hold-over of juice apples from 1974 this year they will sell for $20 less per ton.

"It's the difference between bothering and not bothering in some cases," he commented, referring to the price drop and the grower's decision to sell for juice.

Details of the incident are sketchy and police are continuing their search for two other youths believed to be at the scene when the accident occurred, a police spokesman said.

A spokesman at Hotel Dieu Hospital said Sunday the boy is in satisfactory condition but still without sight in his left eye after an exploratory operation.

Quinte Cuisine

Given talent money to help raise funds for the rebuilding of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Dolly Feather decided to sell steak and kidney pies. On her last batch now, Mrs. Feather has increased her talent and given her customers a real taste for this British dish, a favorite of hers since her childhood in Yorkshire.

Steak and Kidney Pie

1½ lbs. chuck steak, cut in pieces one or two kidneys
flour for coating meat
one large onion, cut finely oil for browning meat salt and pepper bay leaf
one tsp. ground sage.
¼ pt. beef stock (can be made with beef extract cube)

Cut the steak into small pieces, trimming off all fat and gristle. Remove skin and membrane from the kidneys, and soak them in cold salted water for 30 minutes before cutting into small pieces. Coat the pieces of meat in flour.

Heat the oil in a pan and saute the onions and kidney pieces until delicately brown. Cut steak and brown lightly. Add soup stock, and seasonings and stir until well-mixed.

Put it into an oven dish and stew gently in the oven at about 300-degrees for about two hours, or until tender. Remove and thicken the gravy with flour and water. Take out the bay leaf.

Line six individual pie tins (Mrs. Feather uses the two-inch deep foil containers) with pie pastry, and add the cooled meat mixture. Put on a top crust and brush with milk. Place in a 350-degree oven for about 20 minutes, or until the pastry is browned.

(This can be made in one large pie plate if preferred.)

Laurence Burford and clock

Clockmaker by Accident

The furthest thing from Laurence Burford's mind, when he set out to build a grandmother's clock for himself and for his wife Margaret, was making two grandmother's clocks.

But one clock became two and two became 10 and today Laurence Burford has a market for as many of the cherry or walnut clocks he cares to build.

"We'd been looking for a clock but I just couldn't afford one," Mr. Burford says.

"I figured if I get the works I could build one."

Mr. Burford, who is retired after operating a garage in Picton for 33 years, has been, in his words, "playing with wood ever since I was old enough to shove a plane'.

The first clock was a cherry grandmother, 74 inches high, which still sits in the front hall. A friend admired it - that was in 1973 - and before long several persons had ordered a cherry or walnut clock.

Mr. Burford admits that he doesn't like to work at clockmaking steadily - too monotonous - and if someone wantedto order one he couldn't promise a delivery date.

"I'll make it but in my own time."

The clocks are made from solid wood, glued and sanded by Mr. Burford in his garage workshop with its lathe, joiner, radial saw and power sander he invented and built.

The works come from Germany.

"You've got to work on it only when you want to or you can't do it. You're just asking for trouble."

Fashioned from 128 separate pieces of wood, many of those glued together from smalled pieces of wood, the grandmother clocks sell for $800 to $1,000 depending on the type of wood.

Clockmaking isn't the only skill acquired by Laurence Burford, who has built end tables and bookcases, cabinets and spool beds for his Picton home. Recently he built a revolving display case with lamp for Margaret's silver spoon collection.

Special gifts like the display case, which was a birthday present, aren't his only motivation. Often necessity has prompted hm to pick up his tools.

"During the war we tried and tried to buy a refrigerator but we couldn't get one. But we found out that you could buy parts here and there."

So, naturally, Mr. Burford built a large refrigerator with case and rock wool insulation, into a corner of the kitchen. Pump in the basement, it still runs after more than 25 years.

Two dozen decoys, for his favorite hobby, have been produced in his workshop as well.

"Whatever I made, I made the best I could," Mr.Burford says simply.

ADAPTABLE STAGE COSTUME FOR WOMEN

By Elizabeth Russell

This publication by Theatre Arts Books is a most valuable one for costume-makers. Any dramatic group searching for helpful guidelines will find in this book a hundred-in-one costumes for women, since the basic fitted gown has an interchangeability for all types of periods. The necessary changes can be made with 'additions', sleeves, underskirts, etc., which can be stored in boxes, labelled according to their period. This helps to eliminate storage problems.

Suggestions are made for suitable materials; ideas, too, are given for inexpensive trimmings. Head-dresses, caps, and bonnets are included in the layouts and diagrams. The illustrations cover complete costumes from Saxon times through the Victorian period to 1885, a great range of adaptations from one basic fitted gown with details of the many changes for the various periods.

The author is a former student in two couturier houses in Paris and has been a costumer in the London professional theatre. From this experience she found her practical approach to using one cut of women's costume for every age starting with a basic bodice and skirt and with the addition of authentic accessories adapting it to each period.

This book is available in the Corby Public Library.

Evans — Bush

Patricia Louise Bush and Michael John Evans were united in marriage by Rev. George Ward in Bridge Street United Church on August 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Carl Bush and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Evans.

Scot Cameron, the bride's uncle, gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of triple chiffon over taffeta featuring a scooped neckline, long sleeves, with waistline and cuffs trimmed with Belgium lace, and a full chapel train falling from the back. A matching headpiece of lace petals outlined with seed pearls and boreolis beads held a lace-trimmed veil and the bridal flowers were orange roses, white baby mums, baby's breath and lily of the valley.

Claudette Button was bridesmaid in a blue gown with long sleeves, ruffled neckline and a high empire waistline. Jackie Evans was bridesmaid in a maize yellow long-sleeved gown with a wide flounce. Lee-Ann Evans was bridesmaid in a pale green dotted swiss gown with a round neck and puffed sleeve. All the attendants wore picture hats.

Captain A.P. Humphreys was the groom's best man. The ushers were Laurie Button and Keith Lawday.

A buffet and dance at the Four Seasons Hotel followed the ceremony. Since their trip to Portland, Maine, the newly-married couple have settled at 9 Wilkie Street.

They Got Their Big Family Through Children's Aid Society

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Staff Correspondent

Restaurant owners in the Picton area do a double take whenever the Newnham family decides to dine out—for as many as 14 marching through the doors in military fashion isn't an unusual sight.

Alfred and Carol Newnham of RR 2, Picton, have five children of their own and always wanted more but couldn't afford them. The idea of fostering children was sparked when the couple, formerly of Port Perry, discussed the possibility of inviting a foster child on a weekend camping trip. After several meetings and the assurance that board, clothing and medical expenses for a foster child were compensated by the Children's Aid Society, the Newnhams applied for their first foster child in the fall of 1970.

Today the Newnhams have six foster children, two of whom arrived this past weekend. The family now own a farm in Sophiasburgh township with everyone sharing in the responsibilities. According to Garth Smith, Director of the Prince Edward County CAS, the Newnhams have one of the highest success rates of all the foster homes in Prince Edward County.

"There are 50 Children's Aid Agencies in Ontario," says Mr. Smith, "but there are not enough homes to meet the needs of foster children," He attributes this largely to people being uninformed about CAS work.

"There are a lot of people who probably would like to have a foster child, but aren't too sure what fostering is all about," explains Mr. Smith

"A foster child isn't necessarily looking for someone to call 'Dad', but wants a companion, someone he can lean to for guidance," adds Mr. Newnham.

The Newnhams say they are quite happy with the Picton CAS office, with a social worker "as near as your phone".

There are 37 to 40 foster homes in Prince Edward County and five full-time social workers working out of the Picton office, says Mr. Smith. Applications for families interested in fostering are available from the CAS office in Picton.

Ann Landers

Girls' Lip-biting 'Habit' Self-Destructive

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't think I am too crazy to bother with. I need your help. It's this terrible habit and it's driving me nuts. First I should tell you I am 18, a girl, lonely and very unhappy with myself.

About a year ago I began to bite the inside of my mouth and my lips. It's like biting fingernails—once you start you can't stop. I have bitten myself so hard that my mouth bleeds, scabs form and still I can't stop biting myself. I'm scared to death I'll get cancer if I don't get over this stupid habit.

Can you suggest a hypnotist? I need someone to take control of my mind and make me stop doing this terrible thing. Sign me—Ashamed And Scared

Dear Friend: Biting your mouth and lips is not the problem. It's the symptom of another problem. You need to find out why you have an uncontrollable urge to hurt yourself. A hypnotist will not provide the answer.

I suggest a talk with your school counsellor. Confide in her or him. Verbalize your feelings of loneliness and inadequacy. If you aren't comfortable with the counsellor, ask your family doctor to suggest a therapist who can help you talk about your anxieties and problems. And do hurry, please. The sooner you start the better.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son's wedding is getting to be a real pain in the neck. Every day it gets worse. Here's the problem:

His future in-laws have some ritzy ideas about how a wedding should be and it is sure running into a lot of money. They seem to think it would be nice if we offered to help out with the expenses. My husband and I don't agree. Already they have asked us to take 25 people off our list of 110. Can you imagine the nerve?

We are not rich people, Ann. What's more, we have two daughters of our own to marry off within the next few years. Believe me, we have no intention of asking anybody to help us out with the expenses. Isn't it understood that the parents of the bride put on the wedding and they do whatever they can afford? Or are we crazy? Please tell it like it is.—Refuse To Be Gouged

Dear R.G.: Hold your ground. You're absolutely right. Trim your list if you must but tell the bride's parents that any kind of wedding they can manage is perfectly all right with you. Let them know it's THEIR party.

Dear Ann Landers: Something has been bothering me for a long time. Maybe you can provide the answer and put my mind at ease. I am worrying about the comfort of baby kangaroos.

I'm aware that a kangaroo's pouch is a membrane attached to the animal's body designed to carry the young. I'd like to know if the pouch is fur-lined on the inside so the baby is kept warm and comfy. Can you tell me, please?—Kangaroo Fan

Dear Kang Fan: Pam Bianco from the Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago says only female kangaroos have pouches. A pouch is not considered a membrane. It is merely an additional part of the skin—and alas, it is not fur-lined. But so far, I haven't heard of a single baby kangaroo who declined the ride, so it must be pretty comfy in there.

CONFIDENTIAL to Who Said It? It was Will Rogers and I agree it's pretty darned funny. "On account of us being a democracy run by the people we are the only nation in the world that has to keep a government four years no matter what it does."

Male Teachers Stereotype Girls

TORONTO (CP) — A Winnipeg high school principal said Thursday that more women high school teachers are needed because many men teachers find it difficult to see female students as anything but lovely and nubile.

Sybil Shack told delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Education Association that "a surprisingly large number" of men teachers cannot see female students in the same light as male students, headed for careers.

High schools dominated by men teachers are undesirable because female students mistakenly may assume such a situation is proof that men are better at handling more demanding work, Mrs. Shack said.

She added that preschool teachers should be made aware of sex-role stereotyping so they stop "automatically" sending girls to play kitchen and boys to play with trucks.

Broiled Chicken

TAUNTON, England (CP) — Sally Hasler heard strange noises coming from under her car A policeman who investigated found a chicken covered in oil but still alive after a 25-mile motor journey.

Blacksmith Learns To Shoe Own Horse

CHESTER, N.S. (CP) — Blacksmiths are not a dead breed. Neither do they have to be big and brawny.

"I was finding it impossible to find anyone to shoe my horse Flash," said the 23-year-old smith.

So she qualified as an advanced farrier in two six-week courses at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro

Now she is the only qualified female blacksmith in the province.

"My father is in the wrought-iron business," she said. Consequently the tools of the trade are readily available.

Christine's love for horses goes back a long time. "So it is a great convenience to be able to do my own shoeing."

The blacksmith trade has remained virtually unchanged by time or technology. Christine's tools are similar to those of her great-great grandfather, Robert Smith, who built the first blacksmith shop in the village in 1856 when the area was known as Shoreham. It had been settled by families from New England.

Christine's father, Stuart Smith worked the same forge from 1945 until last year when the quaint, almost fairy-tale-like structure, so much a part of Chester's heritage, was demolished by a runaway truck.

The term blacksmith comes from England and is thought to signify the grime resulting from his occupation, or the black metal he works with, which was compared with the polished metals of the silversmith and goldsmith.

The village smith once was one of the most important members of the community. For his work included making and repairing all sorts of necessary tools, equipment and hardware, from nails to sled runners, and almost any item which could be fashioned from iron by forging.

Many specialized industries such as shipyards, mining companies, lumbering firms, painting trades, gunmaking shops and railway lines still require the services of blacksmiths.

About 100 years ago the blacksmith took over the job of horseshoeing from the farrier, who also acted as a veterinarian. The farrier later served solely as a veterinary, and both the blacksmith's and the farrier's work was done by the blacksmith

In the 1850s, there were more than 1,500 blacksmith shops in Nova Scotia. The Industrial Revolution proved unkind to the trade and today few smiths remain, they are scattered in mostly rural areas.

Christine Smith is helping keep the blacksmith trade alive and well.

Christine feels that a "second coming" of the trade is imminent. "More and more people own horses today and, like automobiles, they need constant attention," she states.

Since 1971, a total of 83 students have successfully completed 13 farrier courses at the N.S. Agricultural College and received certificates.

"The first thing we did was learn to make our own tools," Christine said. "And basic training taught us to shape and fit various standard-design horseshoes. The advanced training course instructed us in making shoes to fit horses with abnormally shaped hoofs.

As the first female in Nova Scotia to take the blacksmith's course, Christine's presence naturally fostered a degree of initial disbelief.

"The men at the college were a little suspicious when they first heard that a woman was coming to take the farrier's course," Chris said. "I later found out that they had placed bets as to how big and stocky I would be.

"I initially want a job shoeing horses or taking care of a stabe. When I gain more expertise with artistic wrought-iron work, I hope eventually to take over my father's business. When he retires, someness must run the forge.'

Garvie Won't Resign Over Bricklan Woes

FREDERICTON (CP) — Economic Growth Minister Lawrence Garvie of New Brunswick says he does not intend to resign because of developments involving Bricklin Canada Ltd.

But he said he wants time to study remarks by Liberal Leader Robert Higgins, who criticized the Conservative government after Bricklin was placed in receivership Friday when it ran short of cash despite a two-year, $20-million program of government assistance.

"There's no thought in my mind of resigning," Mr. Garvie said. But he added: "I'm not so stubborn or narrow-minded that I don't consider what other people say. I have to . . . get the complete context of what the opposition said."

Denies Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine quotes convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt as saying he was never ordered to assassinate columnist Jack Anderson, only to drug him. Hunt says he was ordered by then White House counsel Charles Colson to administer a drug to Anderson before one of his live radio appearances and "cause him to ramble incoherently," the magazine says. Hunt is also quoted as saying that the idea "never got beyond the proposal stage.

Declares War

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuter) — Brazilian security officials declared war Sunday on the country's notorious death squad, held responsible for the killing of about 3,000 alleged petty criminals during almost two decades. The new drive launched by security chief Gen. Osvaldo Inacio Domingues follows recent discoveries of bullet-ridden bodies bearing the trademarks of death squad executions.

Wallace May Run

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The national meeting of the American Independent Party (AIP) ended Sunday with members confident George Wallace will be its presidential candidate in 1976. Although the party officially is "leaving its options open" for the presidential campaign, party chairman William Shearer said the Alabama governor, the party's 1968 candidate, is the AIP's best chance for a victory.

Hijacker Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man accused of hijacking a Chicago-to-Nashville airliner in 1971 was arrested by United States Marshals in Puerto Rico on Saturday, officials said. The U.S. marshals office said Walter Hines was arrested on charges of hijacking a Delta Airlines plane to Havana, Cuba, Feb. 4, 1971. Hines will be taken to Chicago for trial, the spokesman said.

Man Charged

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Leeman Elijah Taylor, 41, has been charged with murder punishable by life imprisonment following the death of Linton Stephens, 33, of nearby Woodhouse Township. Police said they found the victim's body on the kitchen floor of his home early Saturday with lacerations to the face and neck

Soldiers Drown

NEWARK, England (AP)—Ten part-time soldiers on an exercise to test their skills on water were drowned Sunday when their assault boat swept over a levee on the Trent River, the British Army said. An 11th man in the 12-foot-long aluminum craft was rescued by workers who were repairing an electric cable damaged in a gale.

Welfare Programs

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — An Indian leader told a human rights conference Saturday that Ontario's 65,000 native Indians are being "strangled to death by welfare programs."

Doubles Acreage

ANKARA (AP)—Turkey will permit its opium poppy farmers to more than double their acreage for poppy cultivation, says a government decree made public Sunday. The move came shortly before a Senate election sheduled for Oct. 12. In 1974, 100.,000 farmers were licensed to grow poppies on 50,000 acres, with each farmer having an average half-acre plot. Plots now can be as large as 1.2 acres a farmer.

Indian Immigrant Wins $500,000

WINNIPEG (CP) — Tens of thousands of Canadians won a total of $28.5 million Sunday night in the sixth Olympic Lottery, but only one major winner had claimed his tax-free prize by early today.

Shamsher Singh Bath, who arrived in Canada from India last March, bought only one ticket—1484382 in series B. He won $500,000. He said in an interview at his Toronto apartment he plans to donate $50,000 to a Sikh temple in Toronto.

Mr. Bath said he and his wife will also buy a house and presents for their two children who celebrate birthdays this week.

The 35-year-old machinist said he won't be at work this morning and, when asked if he would work Tuesday, replied: "You're joking."

Three tickets bearing the number 1235174 were selected for $1-million-dollar prizes, and 33 other tickets are worth amounts ranging from $50,000 to $500,000.

Lottery officials said late Sunday they believe they know the general whereabouts of several major winners. One million-dollar ticket likely was sold in the Toronto-Hamilton area and another in the St. Lambert area of Montreal.

Two of the three tickets bearing the number 1484382 worth $500,000 each were said to have been sold in Vancouver and Moncton, N.B. One $100,000 ticket was believed to be in Winnipeg.

Other winning numbers and the amounts won are:

$250,000—1570725

$200,000—2782441 and 2073287

$100,000—1953815; 2547758; and 2949225

$50,000—3250409; 3261122; 1199862; and 3310131

Spanish Workers Protest Executions

MADRID (AP) — Thousands of workers in Spain's northern Basque provinces began a 48-hour strike today to protest the execution of two Basque nationalists and three other terrorists convicted of killing policemen.

The death sentences, carried out at dawn Saturday despite appeals for mercy from leaders around the world, touched off violent demonstrations in Western Europe and prompted 12 nations to recall their ambassadors to Spain as a sign of displeasure with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Reaction in Spain spread immediately through the Basque provinces of Alava, Guipuzcoa and Vizcaya. An estimated 30,000 persons stopped work Saturday when they learned of the executions. On Sunday civil guardsmen opened fire on a crowd of 2,000 persons in Algorta, a guerrilla stronghold on the northern coast, as the crowd poured through the streets shouting "Murderers, we will avenge our dead!" Six persons were reported wounded and scores were arrested.

Riot police in Madrid dispersed 1,500 young demonstrators who attempted Sunday to turn a mass into a requiem service for the five. Several persons were detained, but there was no violence.

From Scandinavia to Greece, thousands demonstrated against the Franco regime and the 82-year-old dictator's refusal to commute the death sentences of the five as he had those of six other convicted police killers Friday night.

In the northern Portuguese city of Oporto, police and soldiers fired into the air Sunday night in an attempt to disperse 1,000 leftists who marched on the Spanish consulate and burned its furniture in the street. They shouted "Franco murderer" and "Death to Fascism."

The Spanish Embassy in Lisbon was sacked and burned Saturday.

Sixty policemen were injured during a riot at the Spanish consulate in Geneva. The Spanish Embassy in The Hague was heavily damaged by fire. A bomb broke windows at the Spanish ambassadors residence in Ankara, Turkey.

Mexican President Luis Echeverria called for Spain's expulsion from the United Nations, and his government ordered all connections between Mexico and Spain broken. All flights between Mexico and Spain by Iberia, the Spanish airline, and Aeromexico were cancelled. Spain's official government representative, the correspondent of the Spanish news agency EFE and the representative of the Spanish tourism office were ordered out of the country, and the offices of all Mexican enterprises operating in Spain were ordered closed.

Parti Quebecois Claims Separation Top Priority

QUEBEC (CP) — Independence for Quebec will have to be a priority if the Parti Quebecois (PQ) ever wins a provincial lection, the PQ whip in the national assembly says.

Marcel Leger, member for the Montreal riding of Lafontaine, said in a recent interview that he would resign should the PQ not take steps to negotiate with Ottawa for separation immediately upon assuming power.

Other PQ members said last week that their priorities were to replace the current Liberal government of Premier Robert Bourassa.

Mr. Leger pointed out that the PQ, with six seats in the legislature, originally obtained support because of its separatist-oriented platform.

It is not unrealistic to assume the PQ will take power soon, Mr. Leger said, because of growing disenchantment with Mr. Bourassa's government, which holds 98 of 110 national assembly seats.

The PQ whip said various scandals within the current government account for the increasing unhappiness among the Quebec electorate.

Time Magazine Will Stay in Business

TORONTO (CP) — A long-awaited federal government ruling on Canadian content for foreign magazines will allow Time magazine to continue its Canadian edition and will not be as strict as expected, says columnist Richard Gwyn of the Toronto Star.

In his column Saturday, Mr. Gwyn says Time will change its content to meet the new ruling.

He says the ruling, to be announced in early October, will stipulate 60 per cent of the magazines content be rewritten and edited in Canada, rather than written about Canada or done by Canadians as first proposed.

Existing law gives Time and Reader's Digest the same tax advantages as Canadian magazines. Last January, State Secretary Hugh Faulkner asked that this advantage be removed.

The present law allows Canadian advertisers the right to deduct from income taxes the money they now spend on advertising in all foreign periodicals and broadcasts.

Time Canada is wholly owned by its parent U.S. company, but Canadians hold about 30 per cent of the Reader's Digest shares.

The columnist says Time, which earlier announced the new rules would force it to fold, now will stay and meet the 75-per-cent ownership requirement by selling shares to a group of buyers headed by Thomson Newspapers of Toronto. It also will transfer editorial control to its Montreal head office from New York, he says.

But Reader's Digest is not in the same position as Time. The company is opposed to selling a majority of its shares in its Canadian edition because it publishes 28 editions around the world and any precedent set here might be copied by other countries, he says.

He says Reader's Digest will discontinue its Canadian edition but will continue to operate its mail-order business in books, records and packaged vacations.

Chretien Warns Of Frantic Pace

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP) — Canadians must moderate their demands and stop pursuing increased incomes at the present "frantic pace," Jean Chretien, treasury board president, has warned.

Mr. Chretien said Saturday that major wage agreements negotiated in the first half of 1975 averaged more than 18 per cent. He called these increases unprecedented.

"Over the last three years, salary increases in Canada have been clearly higher than those in the United States," he told a regional development society. "I wonder whether we can afford such a luxury."

However, he said the blame for inflation does not rest with labor alone. All groups had to exercise moderation in money demands.

"We (government) are doing our part, but industry, labor and other governments must do their part as well. Responsibility for restraining unwarranted price and wage increases rests first with business, labor and professional groups."

Surplus Reported

PARIS (CP) — France recorded a payments surplus in current accounts of two billion francs in the first half of the year. A second quarter surplus was 3.1 billion francs compared with a deficit of 1.1 billion francs in the first quarter.

Frozen Food Industry Should Do More Testing

WINNIPEG (CP) — The distribution of specialized equipment would increase business for frozen food processors, says Robert G. Brown, president of Gordon G. Brown and Co. Ltd., of Toronto.

Mr. Brown told the annual Canadian Frozen Food Industries Association conference on Sunday that the industry should do more testing of new equipment which goes with frozen foods, such as convection and microwave ovens and high-speed steam defrosters.

The industry should consider a system sales approach and include equipment and procedures with food as a total marketing package.

Alva Gross, director of dietetics for the centre, said frozen foods require less work than fresh ones, are usually as good in quality and eliminate the need for seasonal menus.

Canadian Company Invents Super-hot Melting Torch

NEW YORK (CP) — A small Canadian-owned company has received international recognition for creating a unique super-hot plasma torch to melt raw materials.

The continuous plasma system, developed by Ionarc Smelters Ltd. of Vancouver, is virtually pollution-free and conserves energy because melting is done in a fraction of a second.

Ionarc's pioneer work in applying plasma technology to commercial use has received recognition in American chemical engineering circles.

The company is one of five from an original field of about 30 entries to reach the finals for the 1975 Sidney D. Kirkpatrick chemical engineering achievement award, to be announced in mid-October.

Given for group achievement in the industry every two years, the award is named after the late editor-in-chief of Chemical Engineering magazine.

Four multinational giants, including International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Inco), also reached the finals. Inco was cited for technical innovations in the production of high-purity nickel directly from nickel sulphides at its Sudbury, Ont., works.

Ionarc is credited with being the first to use a commercial-scale plasma, or electric carbon arc furnace system, in the production of a chemical commodity.

"What we will become in the future, I think, is a company that will licence its technology for future application," said Lauch Farris, executive vice-president of Ionarc.

The Canadian concern is negotiating a joint venture with a major Australian mining company to build a 10-million-pound-a-year plasma furnace in Australia.

Ionarc's early plasma research was done in Canada and development took place in the U.S. The company built a pilot plant at its research centre in Bow, N.H., in 1970 and began producing high-quality zirconia (zirconium dioxide) from zircon sand. It expanded to commercial operations in 1972, building a capacity of one million pounds a year into its five-storey plasma furnace.

Plasma is created from gas, heated at high temperatures and stripped of electrons. Plasma temperatures can be applied to solids and liquids to make chemical and physical reactions take place.

Toronto Man May Have $35,000 American Penny

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto man says he thinks he may own an unusual American penny worth as much as $35,000.

Barry Roberts, an accounting clerk for Ontario Hydro, does not know how he got the coin, one of 13 aluminum pennies minted in the United States in 1973.

"I could have got it in change from some store, I could have won it in a card game," he said Saturday. "I just don't know."

Seventeen of the pennies were handed out in 1973 as samples when mint officials tried to talk the U.S. government into scrapping copper pennies. Only four were returned to the mint and melted down.

Mr. Roberts, who read about the coins in a newspaper, said he has had the penny for about a year.

"Whenever I see an odd-looking coin, I throw it into a drawer just in case," he said.

His wife Charlene said one collector, who did not want to be identified, is convinced the coin is one of the valuable pennies. However, another collector he consulted was not inteested, Mr. Roberts said.

"I've no idea what we'll do with the money if it really is worth a lot," he said. "Its too fantastic. Things like that just don't happen."

Union Leaders Warn Racism on the Rise

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Labor leaders and human rights experts told a conference Saturday that government, unions and the public should take action against what they say is a rising incidence of racism in Ontario.

The human rights conference, attended by about 100 trade unionists, was sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Labor (OFL).

Prof. Tom Symon, chairman of the Ontario Human Rights Commission, said racial attacks by extremists, if left unchecked, "can poison a whole society through the spreading of rumors and lies and by turning people against one another."

Human Rights Commissioner Bromley Armstrong, who has suffered death threats and office damage by white nationalists, warned: "If we don't do something, this country could be a terrible hotbed of racism and racial conflicts."

David Archer, president of the OFL, said: "The problems of lack of housing and unemployment are blamed on the influx of immigrants rather than on the shoulders of government where it belongs."

Dr. Daniel Hill, human rights consultant and former chairman of the Ontario Human Rights Commission, said he is concerned that incidents of racism in recent months "may represent merely the tip of an expanding iceberg."

He said the first corrective step should be to check the "crisis of confidence" in agencies responsible for protection of minority groups.

Dr. Hill said complaints about police brutality and harrassment should no longer rest on appeals to police departments and police chiefs but should go to the "real power," the politicians.

Police Investigate Murder

OTTAWA (CP)—Police had no new clues Sunday night in their search for the killer of a 10-year-old girl in neighboring Nepean township.

Patricia Seesink's body, shot twice at close range with a shotgun, was found early Saturday under a bale of hay in an abandoned barn. She was reported missing Friday when she did not return from school.

Nepean police have issued a composite drawing of a man believed to have lured the girl from the schoolyard on a pretext of helping him take some books to the local library.

The suspect is described as between 20 to 26 years of age and weighing 130 to 140 pounds. Sloppily-dressed and about five feet, eight inches tall, he has shoulder-length hair, long sideburns, a Fu Manchu-style mustache and possibly wears thick-rimmed glasses.

A car believed used in the abduction was found Friday night about 15 miles from where the girl's body was found. It had been stolen.

Among the persons being questioned are two families who live near the abandoned farm where the body was found.

A man approached both families, asking for help in getting his car free of some mud where it had become stuck. A member of one family is reported to have pulled the man's car free.

Melrose Evens SHBL Final

It's been a long, hard haul for Melrose this season. After finishing fifth in a closely contested regular schedule, the South Hastings Baseball League club knocked off two others in the playoffs before making the final series.

Sunday at home, the underdogs, led by the four-for- four bat of Hugh Brennan, took a convincing 4-1 victory to square the series at 3-3.

The deciding game in the match-up will take place in Cannifton, Sunday at 2 p.m.

Melrose had their backs to the wall Sunday, just as they've had for the last two games. They won the first game of the series, but fell behind 3-1. They won the fifth game in Latta setting the stage for Sunday's crucial match.

Brennan was the most noted difference in the game collecting three RBIs on two doubles and a pair of singles. Bruce Pascoe was right behind him with two singles and a double and Rick Meagher and Glen McMeacan singled twice in the winners 13 hit attack — the most hits by one team in any of the final games to date.

Offence wasn't all the Melrose crew displayed. On defence they all pulled in the same direction. Besides yanking three balls off the fences, their defence squelched a third inning rally with a triple play.

Randy Pascoe keyed the big play with a fly out in right field. At that particular point there were none out and two men on base.

Cats Shade Voyageurs; Win Streak at Six

The Belleville Bobcats wound up their exhibition schedule on Sunday night with a narrow 6-5 victory over the visiting Kingston Township Voyageurs in Metro Junior "B" Hockey action. The win was the sixth in a row for the Cats and their second over the Kingston team.

Belleville Bobcat Paul Tilley puts some fancy moves on Kingston Township Voyageurs defencemen Jim McMillan (left) and Steve Cherry during Sunday's exhibition game in Metro Junior "B" action at Memorial Arena. Tilley led the Cats with a pair of goals as the team wound up their exhibition schedule with their sixth straight win. The Cats will open the regular season on Tuesday when the y travel to Scarborough to take on the Whitby Young Bruins.

The Cats will be in Whitby Tuesday night for the league opener and if the exhibition schedule can be taken as any indication of things to come, coach Meehan Bonnar may have a winner on his hands. Belleville, over the course of the warm up games, downed the Whitby club by scores of 5-3 in Belleville and a 5-4 squeaker in Scarborough.

"We'll be shorthanded for the opener with Whitby, but the guys will all be up for the game," explained coach Bonnar after Sunday's victory.

"We played two good periods tonight and I'm really happy with their performance over the exhibition games," the local coach added.

In Sunday's match Bobcats appeared to have a comfortable lead heading into the final three minutes of the game but two quick goals put the visitors back in the game.

Coach Bonnar took the blame for the close call: "I was shuffling around the lines, trying out different combinations which is something you shouldn't do even with a 6-3 lead," said Bonnar later in the dressing room.

A lack lustre performance in the first period saw the Cats trailing by a 3-2 margin at the end of the period. Belleville's defence left something to be desired in the hitting department as the Kingston forwards were allowed to stand around in front of Belleville goalie Jeff Merrill.

Cats drew first blood in the contest with only 5 seconds having elapsed in the opening period. Grant Goegan on a solo effort dragged the puck in front of the Kingston net and with one hand fending off a Kingston defender, pushed the puck between the legs of Kingston goalie Coupland.

A former Belleville Bobcat, John Sargeant tied the game up for the visitors as he was set up all alone with Merrill at his mercy. Kingston received goals also in the first period from: McMillan and Darlington while Paul Tilley picked up his first of two for the Cats.

"Our power play is starting to work for us now and also the passing is starting to click," said Bonnar. Belleville outscored the opposition in the middle frame by a 2-0 count.

Rookie Tony Meagher found out that being in the right place at the right time and being alert enough to catch the opportunity pays off. The young winner fired a pair of goals in the final period including what proved to be the winner.

Belleville picked up a total of 13 minutes in penalties during the game as compared to the 17 awarded to the visitors. The visitors managed only a total of 14 shots on Merrill who played the entire 60 minutes for the Cats. His counterpart at the other end of the ice faced 32 shots.

Belleville Elliott Motors' Tyke Jim Cook takes to the air to avoid tag by Brampton catcher and score run in first game of Ontario Baseball Association final series at Parkdale, Sunday. Brampton took both ends of the twin bill to capture championship.

Brampton Takes Title

After a long wait for the start of the Ontario Baseball Association Tyke finals, Belleville Elliott Motors may have lost their edge. They went out in two straight games, to Brampton, at Parkdale, Saturday.

Brampton wrapped up the title with a 7-1 win after taking the opener in the best of three set, 6-2.

In the first contest, Kevin Hogax showed a very effective curve and drop while picking up the win for the visitors. He fired a two-hitter, striking out 14.

Robbie Revoy pitched well in defeat but errors hurt him. He finished up with an eight hitter.

Trailing 2-0, the Belleville squad battled back to square things in the third but in the eighth, the home side surrendered four runs and that was the ballgame.

Robert Boomhower and Jim Cook supplied the Belleville hits.

Brampton came on strong in the late innings of the second match, plating five runs in the seventh to cement the victory.

John Lawlor shared the winners' pitching with Hogax. They struck out nine while giving up six hits, Boomhower handled the Elliott Motors' pitching, allowing 11 hits and striking out three.

Boomhower slammed a double in a losing cause and Andy Balyx stroked two singles. Bill Harvey, Rob Revoy and Dave Coughlin each picked up a single.

Olympics Lose In Overtime

The Belleville Olympics dropped a 2-0 decision to the Kingston Portuguese in overtime in the opening round of the Buxcey Cup play at Sir James Whitney School in Belleville on Sunday.

Belleville, playing with only 10 men received excellent service from their defensive corps and from goalie Gary Donavan who kept the locals in the game. Two extra 10-minute periods proved to be enough for Kingston to score their goals.

Midway through the first half of play Edwardo Pie:ria beat the Belleville netminder and with only two minutes remaining in the second half, Peter Landu on a penalty shot added the insurance marker

Portuguese will now meet the Quinte Hellenics Sunday in Belleville.

Familiar Faces Out With Napanee Comets

NAPANEE — The Napanee Comets of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A loop, will be going with a rebuilt club this season and if first indications hold any merit, this winter will be an exciting one for Comets' fans.

Comets played their first exhibition game of the season against the Ottawa and District Senior club from Gananoque, Sunday. The Comets outmuscled the opposition to the tune of 10-3 at the Napanee Memorial Centre.

This season's roster will include several faces formerly engaged in hockey in the Belleville area. Some of the best news for Napanee this season is the acquisition of goalie Steve Rexe. Rexe who last season played with Springfield of the Los Angeles organization has moved back to Belleville and will add valuable experience to the Napanee cause.

Another Bellevillian who showed in Sunday's contest that he fears no one, is 6-foot-2, 200-pound Brian Coughlin. Coughlin played for Columbus Owls in the International League last season.

During the course of the 1974-75 season, Coughlin picked up a total of 50 points on the blue line while managing 350 minutes in the penalty box. In Sunday's match with Gananoque he picked up nine minutes in penalties including a major for fighting.

Peter Fleming of Belleville is also with the club.

How does Napanee coach Walter Gerow see this year's club as it is shaping up?

"We're going to have a very aggressive club this year. Steve Rexe in net is going to be another big plus for us."

One player not in attendance at Sunday's match was another former Belleville Senior A player, who has spent several seasons with Napanee, Wayne McConnell. He missed the game due to a commitment with a Picton ball club, but will be on hand to aid the locals again this season.

Another player who saw ice time with a Belleville club (Bobcats) is Al Garrison. Garrison made his debut sporting a specially constructed face mask to protect an injured eye. He picked up a goal in the first period of play.

Charlie Convery, formerly of Kingston and more recently, Belleville Senior hockey is also back for another season with the Comets and looked in fine shape scoring a goal and two assists in Sunday's contest.

Ron Swan, a secondary school teacher, who played last season with the Queen's University team, should also prove to be a valuable addition to the Comets. Swan picked up a goal and an assist on the blue line Sunday and looked strong in the skating department.

Other scorers in Sunday's contest with Gananoque were: Tom Goodfellow who picked up a pair of markers for Napanee, Ron Shepherd, newcomer Barry Brooks, Mike Flanigan and Rick Gerow.

Coach Gerow of the Comets hopes to get a few more exhibition games in before the start of the season on October 12.

Thurlow Midgets Advance

WATERDOWN (Special) — Thorlow advanced to the Ontario Baseball Association Midget C final here, Sunday, dividing a twin bill with Waterdown and taking the best of three semi-final 2-1.

Sponsored by Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund, the Thurlow team will now meet Essex in the final. Dates for the title series have yet to be announced.

Shaded 6-5 in 12 innings in the first game here, Thurlow pulled out an extra-inning win of its own in the second match to put Waterdown on the sidelines. The score in the deciding game was 12-7.

Thurlow Chisholm's of Roslin Bantams were not so furtunate. The team dropped the deciding game in its semi-final series with Merriton, 10-5.

Bardon Bows Out

Strathroy took the semi-final set 2-1 in games.

Awards Night for BDLSL

The Belleville and District Ladies Softball League finished off a successful season in fine style on Saturday night.

The league's annual banquet was held at the Oddfellow's Hall in Belleville, with plenty of winners.

Guest speakers were Tom Gavey of The Intelligencer and Doug Lucas of the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund team.

Trophies were plentiful at the dinner, as not only the league, but individual teams also, presented the hardware.

The league's Most Valuable Player was a girl who became Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund catcher out of necessity rather than choice. She is Carol McFarlane, who not only had a fine season at the plate, but was excellent defensively.

All of the awards were voted on by the league executive.

The Most Valuable Pitcher award went to Sandra Fleming of the Madoc Purinaettes. She accepted the award for her second time in two years.

The Most Sportsmanlike Players award went to Chris Fyke of Belleville Broadloom. It was Fyke's second year as winner, although in 1974 she won it under the name of Chris Smith.

The Most Improved Player for 1975 was Bonnie Jones, with Ray's Signs donating the trophy.

Other awards were made throughout the evening, including medallions for the Quinte Umpires Association, in recognition of their service at the Belleville Yardmen Ladies Tournament. Representing the umpires were, president of the association, Don Gavey, Jim Tebworth and John Linfield.

The League Championship trophy went to the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund. It was accepted by team captain Joyce McFarlane.

Possibility of Jinx Doesn't Bother Reds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The odds will be in favor of Cincinnati Reds but tradition will be against them when they open baseball's best-of-five National League playoffs at home Saturday against Pittsburgh Pirates.

They don't seem too concerned about tradition.

Since the playoff system began in 1969, no National League team opening at home has won the series. This year, the first two games will be at Cincinnati, on Saturday and Sunday, with the last three scheduled at Pittsburgh on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

"I can't say if there's a jinx," Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson said Sunday after the Reds had finished the regular season with a 7-6 victory over Atlanta Braves and were established by Las Vegas oddsmakers as 3-to-2 favorites against the Pirates.

"It's just crazy the way it's worked out. There couldn't be any other answer."

Johnny Bench, the Reds' catcher, said he didn't know no home team had ever won. "That shows how much concern I've got about the jinx."

"I never go to the ball park expecting to lose," added Anderson. "If we lose, we'll be beaten by a better team and I'll go to the World Series rooting for Pittsaburgh."

JOHNNY BENCH

The Reds didn't lose much this season. They finished with 108 victories—the third highest total in NL history. Only the 1906 Chicago Cubs, with 116 victories, and the 1909 Pirates, with 110, did better.

They finished 20 games ahead of runner-up Los Angeles in the West, the largest margin in the majors since the 1906 Cubs won the pennant, also by 20 games.

And they set a National League record with 64 home victories, only one short of the major league mark of 65, held by the 1961 New York Yankees.

While the Reds wound up with the best record, 108-54, among the four divisional winners in the majors, the Pirates finished with the worst, 92-69.

Pittsburgh, the East winner, ended its season in humiliating fashion, committing seven errors in a 6-2 loss to St. Louis Cardinals.

In other Sunday games, New York's Tom Seaver was credited with his 22nd victory—tops in the league—as the Mets held off Philadelphia Phillies 5-4, Chicago Cubs outslugged Montreal Expos 9-6, San Francisco Giants downed San Diego Padres and 20-game winner Randy Jones 5-3 and Houston Astros defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2.

On Saturday, Cincinnati edged Atlanta 7-6, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 4-2, Philadelphia whipped New York 8-1, Montreal topped Chicago 5-3, Diego 4-1 and Los Angeles defeated Houston 5-1.

In Cincinnati's final competitive tune-up for the playoffs, the Reds beat Atlanta on Cesar Geronimo's run-scoring single with two out in the ninth inning. It was their 33rd one-run victory of the season and the 45th time they had come from behind to win.

Willie Randolph, playing his first game at third base, committed three of the Pittsburgh errors and second baseman Rennie Stennett and pitcher John Candeleria were charged with two miscues apiece.

Seaver, 22-9, was knocked out by Philadelphia in the sixth, but Skip Lockwood preserved the Mets' victory with four perfect innings of relief. Philadelphia's Dave Cash set a major league record of 699 at-bats for the season, when he went to bat four times.

Pitcher Rick Reuschel had three hits and knocked in two runs, and Manny Trillo and Andy Thornton each drove in two runs for Chicago. Teammate Bill Madlock went hitless, but won the batting title with a .354 average.

Cliff Johnson hit a three-run homer, his 20th of the season, capping a four-run eighth inning for Houston.

Others Lost It Says the Winner

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Dave Hill, the beneficiary of a lot of other people's mistakes, was attempting to explain his victory Sunday in the Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

"I've said it before and I'll say it again. More golf tournaments are lost than won. And this one definitely was lost.

"After this, I'm going back to believing in miracles."

Hill claimed the title and the $27,000 first prize when Rik Massengale's bold gamble for the green ended in the water on the first sudden death playoff hole and Hill won it with a routine par.

"I was just fortunate to get in the playoff," said Hill, who had made double-bogey six after leaving it in a fairway bunker on the ninth hole at the 6,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course.

But his game suddenly came right. He played the back nine in 32 while the other contenders, Bruce Crampton, George Cadle, Bob Wynn and Bobby Mitchell, all fell back.

"After I birdied the 15th my caddy told me I was tied for the lead," said Hill. "The only thing I could think was: 'four or five of them other guys must have suddenly withdrawn.' "

They hadn't. They'd just fallen back in the brilliant sunshine that sent the desert temperatures soaring to the 100-degree mark.

Hill also birdied the 17th from short range just about the time Massengale, playing in front of him, birdied the 18th. It gave each of them a last-round 69 and a 270 total for 72 holes, 14 under par.

The playoff was over when Massengale tried to reach the green on the par-five first hole in two. Massengale put it in the water.

It was all over. Massengale, so upset his hands were visibly shaking, played out to a bogey and Hill had it.

Joe Inman had a shot at the playoff but, on the final hole, missed a three-foot putt. He finished with a 67 and a tie at 271, one shot back, with Mitchell. Mitchell had a closing 70.

Cadle and Crampton each had the lead alone at one time, but finished in a tie at 272 with Charles Coody and Don January. January had a five-under-par 66, Coody shot 68 and Cadle and Crampton matched 70s.

Yanks Do Red Sox Favor

Yaz, Johnson at Odds?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A no-hitter, two managers fired and a rumored feud.

The last day of the American League baseball season was anything but dull.

Oakland A's finished their regular season with a flourish by beating California Angels 5-0 Sunday behind the no-hit pitching of Vida Blue and three relievers.

Blue combined with Glenn Abbott, Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers to become part of major league baseball history—the first time more than two pitchers teamed up to throw a no-hitter.

While Blue and his teammates were splitting up the Angels, two other major league teams were shaking up their management.

Milwaukee Brewers, who finished the season by beating Detroit Tigers 7-0, fired manager Del Crandall and replaced him with Harvey Kuenn for the day.

Minnesota Twins, 6-4 losers to Chicago White Sox in 10 innings, also lost a manager when Frank Quilici was cut loose.

Meanwhile, in Boston, there was a rumored rift between first baseman Carl Yastrzemski and manager Darrell Johnson.

Reports of dissension started Saturday when Yastremski did not play in the game against Cleveland and grew Sunday when he didn't show up at Fenway Park during the Red Sox' 11-4 loss to Cleveland.

Johnson denied the rumors of dissension, noting that Yastrzemski was given a "rest", even though Saturday's game was a significant one in the American League East pennant race.

"I've never feuded with a ballplayer in my life, and I never will," said Johnson. "Carl asked for the time off, the trainer said the rest would be good for his (injured) shoulder and I gave him permission.

"I believe he is in Florida attending to some property of his there."

In other American League games Sunday, Texas Rangers defeated Kansas City Royals 3-1 and Baltimore Orioles beat New York Yankees 3-0 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second game, 3-2.

The Red Sox had clinched the division title Saturday despite a 5-2 loss to Cleveland, thanks to New York's 3-2, 7-3 doubleheader sweep over Baltimore. Catfish Hunter of the Yankees became this year's first 23-game winner in the opening game.

In other games Saturday, Oakland defeated California 6-3, Milwaukee dropped Detroit 5-2, Chicago nudged Minnesota 1-0 and Texas shaded Kansas City 5-4.

At Oakland, Blue pitched the first five innings, allowing three men to reach base. Dave Chalk walked with out one in the first inning, but was erased on a double play.

Lee Stanton reached base on an error by shortstop Bert Campaneris in the fourth and stole second, but Blue pitched out of the inning without any damage.

O. J. and Bills Wreck Steelers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

O.J. Simpson tied one of Jim Brown's many National Football League records and Buffalo Bills tied the Pittsburgh Steelers up in knots.

Simpson, who made a habit two years ago of running for 200 yards or more in a game en route to his 2,003-yard total that shattered Brown's single-season record of 1,863 yards, got his act together Sunday for the second straight week.

He turned Pittsburgh's Steel Curtain defence into scrap iron, rambling for a 227 yards—88 of them on a touchdown jaunt—for his fourth 200-yard game, matching a mark set by Brown.

Simpson's running and Joe Fergusons touchdown passes of seven yards to Reuben Gant and 28 yards to Bob Chandler led the Bills to a 30-21 victory over the defending Super Bowl champions.

In the rest of the NFL it was Dallas Cowboys 37 St. Louis Cardinals 31 in overtime; Los Angeles Rams 23 San Francisco 49ers 14; Oakland Raiders 31 Baltimore Colts 20; New York Jets 30 Kansas City Chiefs 24; Washington Redksins 49 New York Giants 13; Miami Dolphins 22 New England Patriots 14; Minnesota Vikings 42 Cleveland Browns 10; Houston Oilers 33 San Diego Chargers 17; Cincinnati Bengals 21 New Orleans Saints 0; Chicago Bears 15 Philadelphia Eagles 13, and Detroit Lions 17 Atlanta Falcons 14. Green Bay Packers visit Denver Broncos tonight.

Simpson's big third-quarter run broke open the game, giving the Bills a 23-0 lead. They were bogged down on their own 12-yard line when he took a handoff on a third-and-one, swung to the outside and flitted down the right sideline.

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach threw a three-yard scoring pass to Billy Joe Dupree with 7:53 gone in sudden-death overtime beat the Cards.

Tom Dempsey's 51-yard field goal and James Harris' 22-yard touchdown pass to Lawrence McCutcheon enabled Los Angeles to rally from a 14-3 half-time deficit and beat San Francisco.

Cornerback Neal Colzie returned four Baltimore punts for 104 yards, three of them setting up scores, and ran 38 yards with a fourth-quarter interception that helped Oakland beat the Colts.

John Riggins ran for 145 yards and two touchdowns and Carl Garrett tacked on 125 yards and a score in the Jets' victory over Kansas City.

A defensive line that sacked New York quarterbacks eight times and two touchdown strikes apiece by Billy Kilmer and Randy Johnson highlighted Washington's win over the Giants.

Don Nottingham broke loose for 120 yards—all but 15 of them in the second half, to lead the Dolphins, who spotted New England a 14-0 lead on a pair of Neil Graff touchdown passes.

Fran Tarkenton passed for two touchdowns—29 yards to John Gilliam and 13 yards to Chuck Foreman—and ran two yards for another score in Minnesota's romp against the Browns.

Defensive lineman Curley Culp scored his first pro touchdown in eight years, running 38 yards with a Jesse Freitas fumble on the opening play of the fourth quarter to lock up the Oilers' victory over San Diego.

Ken Anderson passed for three touchdowns—52 and five yards to Isaac Curtis and 14 yards to Charley Joiner—in the Bengals' win over Cincinnati.

The six, plus 10 previously named, will play early matches to decide who joins Tom Weiskopf and Nicklaus, who have been seeded into the semi-finals. The event carries a total purse of more than $100,000.

Latta's Howard Skelly, right, was named manager of the year at South Hastings Baseball League award night, Friday. He receives award from league secretary Art Buller.

Riders' Fake Field Goal Catches Argos Napping

OTTAWA (CP) — With the regular Eastern Football Conference season about to enter its final month, Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes appear on their way to a showdown for first place while Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats battle for the third playoff spot.

The Riders thus got back into a first-place tie with the Alouettes, each with 14 points. The loss left Toronto with six points, one more than Hamilton.

Gerry Organ kicked the convert and added a 12-yard field goal and two singles.

Toronto's only touchdown came when defensive half Larry Uteck intercepted a pass by Tom Clements and ran it 45 yards into the Ottawa end zone. Zenon Andrusyshyn converted and added a pair of singles, one on a wide 27-yard field goal attempt.

The interception was one of four picked off by an alert Toronto defence. Three of them were off Clements, who gave way in the third quarter to alternate quarterback Condredge Holloway.

Holloway gave up one interception, but played a key role for Ottawa with his scrambling—64 yards on four carries including one for 51 yards after Al Marcalin stole the ball from Toronto's Dick Morton on the Ottawa six.

The Argos tried a fake field goal on their own in the second quarter, but Bynum's 30-yard toss to Dave Hadden at the Ottawa six-yard-line was called back because of offensive holding and the Argos were left with no points to show for their effort.

The victory was a costly one for Ottawa.

Two-way tackle Jim Coode was carried off the field early in the second half and Saturday night was operated on to relieve a cracked shin bone and ligament damage to his left ankle. He appears to be lost for the season.

Art Green, with 96 yards on 26 carries for Ottawa, outrushed the whole Toronto backfield—held to 72 yards including 40 yards on seven carries by Morton.

Meanwhile Clements was good on six of 11 passes for 105 yards and Holloway was good on three of 11 attempts for 66 while Bynum hit on 13 of 27 passes he tried for 106 yards total.

Mike Eben led Toronto receivers with five receptions for 38 yards while Tony Gabriel was the top Ottawa catcher at two for 73 yards.

Next EFC action is Wednesday when the Rough Riders are in Hamilton.

Redman Repeats

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Brian Redman of Britain sewed up his second consecutive Formula 5000 championship Sunday when he won the Long Beach Grand Prix, run on city streets and watched by a crowd estimated at 65,000.

Grandstands lining the two-mile course through the downtown area and along the seaside were filled, and spectators packed balconies and windows on surrounding buildings.

The race, the first major auto racing event on streets since the 1952 Watkins Glen, N.Y., Grand Prix, was a shakedown for a Formula I world championship race to be staged on the same course next March.

Al Unser, twice Indianapolis 500 champion, took the lead in the first two laps but Tony Brise and Mario Andretti nipped by on the third lap to pull away from the field and begin a duel that would continue for more than 30 laps.

It ended when Andretti, who had the fastest time in qualifying, [illegible] with mechanical problems on the 31st lap. Two laps later, Brise coasted to a halt, leaving Redman well in command.

At the end only Redman and Australian Vern Schuppan were on the same lap. Redman averaged 86.325 miles an hour.

Finishing third in the $100,000, 100-mile race was Epple Wietzes of Toronto, followed by Chris Amon of New Zealand, David Hobbs of England and Warwick Brown of Australia.

FINALS OPEN

CALI, Colombia (Reuter) — Defending champion Soviet Union and South Korea opened the final round of the women's world basketball championships with victories Saturday. The Soviets beat Colombia 92-34 and South Korea downed Mexico 86-76. In consolation play Sunday, Brazil defeated Canada 93-83.

Cutler Misses Record But Single Wins It

The Canadian Press

Dave Cutler of Edmonton Eskimos missed a chance for a Canadian Football League field goal record Sunday afternoon but he and his team-mates didn't mind.

Cutler got his chance from the 17-yard line with 14 seconds remaining. He missed the field goal but escaped with the single point that gave Edmonton a 37-36 victory over Calgary Stampeders in a Western Football Conference game in Calgary.

Previously, Cutler connected from 55 and 45 yards to tie the record of 171 set by Larry Robinson, former Calgary defensive back. He gets new chance to break the standard Oct. 5 when Saskatchewan Roughriders visit Edmonton.

The Roughriders, who trail the conference-leading Eskimos by three points, kept pace Sunday afternoon by whipping British Columbia Lions 33-6 in Regina. Edmonton has one game in hand

With running back Roy Bell and quarterback Tom Wilkinson on the sidelines because of injuries and defensive end Leroy Jones restricted to part-time duty because of an ailing knee, the Eskimos overcame 29-2 halftime deficit, to the dismay of a crowd of 27,188 and new Calgary head coach Bob Baker

Quarterback Bruce Lemmerman, going all the way because of an injury to Wilkinson, threw touchdown passes to Stuart Lang, John Konihowski and Calvin Harrell, who also counted on a 14-yard run.

Cutler converted two and added three singles besides his two field goals. Lemmerman ran over for a two-point conversion in the fourth quarter.

For Calgary, which lost three players after outbreks of violence in the third quarter, rushing star Willie Burden provided most of the offence. He scored twice on short plunges and took a short scoring pass from Joe Pisarcik, who also threw to Rudy Linterman for a touchdown. Pisarcik scored on a one-yard plunge.

Veteran quarterback Ron Lancaster combined with flanker Rhett Dawson for three touchdowns before a crowd of 19,302. Dawson, 26, had a brilliant afternoon with 152 yards on six receptions.

Five Teams from Europe To Play Canadian Clubs

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Assocation (CAHA) says it expects five European teams to tour Canada for exhibition series against Canadian teams this winter.

CAHA officials announced during a meeting Sturday that tours have been approved for Moscow Selects, Khimiks of the Soviet Union, the Czechoslovakian Young Olympic team, the Finland Olympic team and the West German Olympic team.

Moscow Selects are expected to play seven or eight games, mostly against junior teams, between Dec. 3 and Dec. 17.

The Khimicks, a Soviet First Division club, will play eight games against junior and senior clubs in Ontario and Quebec between Dec. 24 and Jan. 10. The same dates apply to the Czech team which will play in Lethbridge, Alta., and Victoria, B.C., as well as in Ontario and Quebec.

The Finland team's tour is set for Dec. 26-Jan.4 and is in return for a Canadian team going to Finland for a world tournament. The CAHA announced it has chosen Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League to represent Canada in the Finland tournament in late December.

In other business, the CAHA voted to continue to seek a written agreement with the two major professional leagues regarding the drafting of junior players, providing the World Hockey Association rejects the recent signing of Gord Roberts.

Roberts, a 17-year-old defenceman who played last year with Victoria Cougars of the Western Canada Hockey League, was signed last week by New England Whalers of the WHA, contrary to a verbal agreement the WHA made with the CAHA last summer that no juniors under 20 years old would be offered professional contracts.

WHA vice-president Bud Poile said Friday that the Roberts contract would not be approved. He said the league trustees had scheduled a meeting for today to discuss the case.

"I think they have to overrule the Roberts signing if they are to be consistent with their own bylaws," said CAHA executive-director Gord Juckes. "If they don't abide by their bylaws, it will confirm the suspicions of some people that they can't be trusted in an agreement."

Also at Saturday's meeting, the association honored Hugh McLean who stepped down from his post as the CAHA's referee-in-chief to take a position as vice-president of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Scrappers Champs

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Waxman Scrappers defeated Oshawa Tony's 2-0 Saturday to win the 1975 Ontario Fastball League championship before a crowd of more than 1,100.

Scrappers took the best-of-five series in three games, all by shutouts. Other scores were 1-0 and 2-0.

Wally Dick scattered six hits, struck out nine and walked one for the win. He also won the first game in the series, while Ed Neudorf was credited with second.

Hamilton opened the scoring in the second inning when Larry Christie was hit by a pitch, advanced on a passed ball and an error and scored on Jim Thompson's sacrifice fly.

The second run came in the seventh on a double by Wally Dick scoring Fran Stuart.

Paul Wannamaker was the losing pitcher, yielding four hits, striking out eight and walking one. He also had the loss in the first series game. Wayne Colley got the loss in the second.

Jerome Drayton In Record Time

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Jerome Drayton of the Toronto Olympic Club won the 12-mile event in record time Sunday in the eighth annual Springbank international road races.

Drayton pulled away from Frank Shorter of the Florida Track Club, winner of the gold medal in the 1972 Olympic marathon, in the final 200 yards to win in 54:52.4. The previous record of 55:17.4 was set last year by Miruts Yifter of Ethiopia.

Shorter's time was 55:01.6.

Bill Rodgers of the Greater Boston Track Club, the 1975 Boston marathon champion, placed third. He was followed by John Vitale of the Hartford, Conn., club, Steve Hoag of the Twin Cities club of Minneapolis, Minn., and Tom Hollander of Ypsilanti United of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Doug Scorrar of the Seaway club of Cornwall, Ont., placed seventh, followed by Andy Boychuk of the Toronto Olympic Club, Kevin Foley of Edinboro State College in Edinboro, Pa., and Ken Inglis of the Kitchener-Waterloo Track Club.

SET RECORD

Larry Damon of the Green Mountain club, Stowe, Vt., won the six-mile event for men 40 and older and Ted Maidman of the Oshawa, Ont., City Legion club won the six-mile race for men 50 and older.

Momigi Leads Field

The winner finished one length ahead of Kan Kobol to return $38.80 and pay a seventh-race exactor of $1,573.60.

On Saturday, Momigi, a three-year-old filly owned by Koichiro Hayata of Japan, won the $57,000 Breeders Stakes, ruining L'Enjoleur's attempt at being the first horse to win Ontario's Triple Crown of racing since 1963.

LEnjoleur, winner of the Queens Plate and the Prince of Wales, held the lead for most of the 1½-mile race, but was unable to hold off a drive by Momigi and finished third behind Pampas Host, owned by Canada West Ranches of Calgary.

Momigi had finished third in the Prince of Wales, four lengths behind L'Enjoleur.

Momigi, ridden by Gary Melanson, finished the race in 2:38 1-5 and returned $15.50, $8.30 and $2.10. The filly combined with Pampas Host, who returned $5.90 and $2.10, for an exactor of $94.30. L'Enjoleur returned $2.10.

"After the Prince of Wales I said there was no way anyone was going to beat Momigi in the Breeders," said trainer John Morahan. "Momigi lost a shoe in the race and that stopped her cold.

"Momigi is still not as good as I think she can be," he said. "In fact, I honestly feel that she is nowhere near her best despite her big race in the Breeders."

Jockey Sandy Hawley said after the race that L'Enjoleur, owned by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal, became tired after holding off a rush in the early part of the race by Black Hawk Jim.

A daily double combination of Reigning King, winner of the first race, and longshot Hail the Moon returned $1,121.80. Hail the Moon alone returned $105.90, $35.40 and $14.70. In the ninth, winner Sam's Own and Barbson combined for an exactor of $86.70.

A crowd of 14,490 wagered $1,451,147.

Habs Make Bowman a Prophet

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Scotty Bowman of Montreal Canadiens promised this season he would impress upon his club the need for a tighter defence in an attempt to cut down on their goals against.

Bowman noted that his Canadiens didn't need to be reminded how to score goals and Sunday night, they proved it in a 5-1 exhibition victory over Chicago Black Hawks with defenceman Guy Lapointe scoring three of the goals from long range.

It was Montreal's third win in seven National Hockey League pre-season games in which they have managed to outscore the opposition by a 29-23 margin.

In other NHL exhibitions Sunday, Pittsburgh Penguins defeated Buffalo Sabres 4-3, Vancouver Canucks beat California Seals 3-1, Philadelphia Flyers defeated New York Rangers 2-1 and Detroit Red Wings edged Atlanta Flames 4-3.

In World Hockey Association pre-season games, Brynas of Sweden beat Toronto Toros 7-4 in a game in Sweden, Minnesota Fighting Saints beat Indianapolis Racers 4-2, Houston Aeros edged Denver Spurs 4-3 and Cincinnati Stingers whipped St. George de Beauce, Que., of the North American Hockey League 10-1.

In Saturday's NHL action, Boston Bruins edged Montreal 5-4, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 9-0, Atlanta defeated Minnesota North Stars 5-3, Kansas City Scouts tied St. Louis Blues 3-3, New York Islanders edged Los Angeles Kings 3-2 and California beat its Salt Lake Central League farm team 4-1.

Saturday's only WHA exhibition saw Cincinnati beat Quebec Nordiques 3-1.

At Chicago, the Black Hawks took a 1-0 lead on Stan Mikita's first-period goal but the Canadiens quickly recovered with a goal by Bob Gainey.

In the third period, Lapointe got all his three goals on power-play shots from beyond 50 feet and Pete Mahovlich chipped in with a goal from short range.

Reggie Leach's fourth goal of the pre-season schedule was the winner for Philadelphia, breaking a 1-1 tie with the Rangers midway in the second period.

The Rangers' Rick Middleton beat Flyers goalie Bernie Parent for the first goal early in the first period and Bob Kelly's goal tied the score for the Flyers.

Buffalo took a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Danny Gare and Gil Perreault but Pittsburgh got second-period goals from Harvey Bennett, Vic Hadfield, Pierre Larouche and Jean Pronovost. Perreault added his second goal on a third-period power play.

Forego Turns The Tables

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Forego turned the tables on Wajima and won the 108,200 Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park in New York on Saturday.

The five-year-old gelding, beaten by a head by his three-year-old rival in the 250,000 Marlboro Handicap two weekks ago, outran Wajima in another stretch duel, winning this time by 1¾ lengths.

Braulio Baeza, aboard Wajima, claimed foul against Heliodoro Gustines, on Forego, for alleged interference at the 16th pole, when Forego drew away. After viewing the videotape, the stewards upheld Forego's victory.

Forego, in breaking Wajima's streak of five consecutive stakes victories, ran 1½ miles in 2:27 1-5—one-fifth of a second faster than he ran it in winning it a year ago—and paid $3.60, $2.40 and $2.10.

Wajima, who went off at even money, paid $2.40 and 2.10. Twelve lengths farther back was Group Plan, a five-year-old, a 20-to-1 shot who paid 2.60

Avatar, the only other three-year-old in the field and the winner of the Belmont Stakes last year, finished fifth in the six-horse field. Okavango beat Avatar by three-quarters of a length for fourth and Free Hand was last.

In other major United States races Saturday, Old Goat took the $27,850 Seahore Stakes at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N.J., and Royal Glint took the $65,700 Hazel Park Stakes at Hazel Park, Mich.

Old Goat, kept on the rail by Michael Hole, turned on the speed at the top of the stretch to win the Seashore Stakes. La Tamborea edged favored Dancer's Vixen for second in the six-furlong race for two-year-old fillies.

Royal Glint won the Hazel Park Stakes by three lengths over Proper Bostonian, the only other horse in the field of six able to stay close. The victory his seventh of the year in 14 starts and his fifth in his last seven outings, was worth $39,420 to Royal Glint and increased his season earnings to $350,850.

In Memoriam

WILSON — In loving memory of our mother and grandmother Margaret Wilson who passed away Septmeber 29, 1969 and our father James David Wilson who passed away December 3, 1974.

Too dearly missed to ever be forgotten by her family, Marg, Peter and children.

FOX — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Kenneth Fox who passed away seven years ago, September 29th, 1968.

God knows how much we miss you,
And how hard it is to bear,
Death's separation darling.
For He hears our constant prayer,
That eternal rest in heaven.
Be yours: and ours, who mourn,
Joyous meeting with you there,
When we're in Christ reborn.

—Lovingly remembered by wife Veron and family.

Made Last Call

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. (AP) — Mrs. Kate Tannehill, 80, the oldest living native of this onetime boom town, lost her telephone after the telephone company phased out all its old hand - cranked magneto - type telephones, which were installed in 1882. Mrs. Tannehill made the last call while a local musician played Taps in the background.

Mark Author's Death

LONDON (CP) — To mark the 25th anniversary of the death of the English author George Orwell, Penguin publishers will issue in paperback new editions of eight of his books. They are Animal Farm, Nineteen Eighty Four, Burmese Days, A Clergyman's Daughter, Homage to Catalonia, The Road to Wigan Pier, Keep the Aspidastra Flying and Down and Out in Paris and London.

Whistling Helps

WASHINGTON (CP) — Whistling not talking will help indoor plants to grow, says Dr. Gaylord Hageseth, botany professor at University of North Carolina. "My experiments show that broad spectrum noise such as the human voice slows down the growth rate. Pure tones like a whistle accelerates growth," he said.

High School Soccer Is in Full Swing

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

The Bay of Quinte High School soccer season is underway with a record 26 teams competing. The teams will come from all over the area, with both Senior and Junior divisions in the loop.

In the Senior Division it looks like Quinte and Moira A are the teams to beat. In their first hook up of the season they battled to a 0-0 tie. Moira A were last year's COSSA championship team. Dan Ying recorded the Quinte shutout.

Quinte opened their season with a win over Nicholson Catholic College. The final score was 3-0, with NCC goalie Steve Dolan having his work cut out for him.

Belleville Collegiate got off to a quick start in Senior soccer play, with two quick wins. First they beat Madoc 3-1 with Dave Archer providing two goals. In their second game of the year BCI took on rival Nicholson in a mud bath which resulted in a 4-1 win for BCI. Dave Archer, Marty Lowery, Randy Donovan and Gord Van Vliet scored for the winners. The only NCC goal came from Jim McSherry on a long pass from Richard Hanley.

Brotherly love didn't come into effect when Moira A played Moira B in Senior action. The final score was a rather lopsided 8-0 for the A team.

The Junior Division saw a strong BCI squad defeat Madoc 10-0 in their first game of the season. Dwight Begley scored three times for the winners while Kevin Parr scored twice.

Trenton took a 3-0 win from Sir James Whitney in their Western Conference match. Prince Edward was victorious over Bayside in another Western game. The final score of that game was 3-0.

Trenton Old Stars Down Ottawa Squad

TRENTON-With body contact et a minimum and the emphasis on skating and passing. Trenton turned back Ottawa 9-5 in a confrontation of "Old Stars" at the Community Gardens here, Sunday night.

The game was the first in what is hoped will be a series of benefit games staged by the Trenton team with proceeds going to minor sports and recreation.

While the match did not attract a sellout crowd, response by the fans should spur organizers on to schedule more of the same. The turnout was termed "good".

Wayne Bonter and Spike Martine shared the goalkeeping duties for the home side, George Brine was in goal for Ottawa.

Madlock On Top

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Cubs coasted from first to last place during the 1975 National League baseball season, but third baseman Bill Madlock managed to stay on top.

"I didn't give a thought to winning the batting title at the beginning of the season—I just started hitting," said the 24-year-old Madlock, who took the National League crown with a .354 average.

He fell short of Rod Carew's .359 mark in the American League, but Madlock easily topped Ted Simmons of St. Louis, who finished with a .332 average.

Although Madlock went hitless four times Sunday, he scored a run and knocked in another as Chicago took a 9-6 decision from Montreal Expos in the season finale that left the two teams tied for last place in the NL East.

Cubs pitcher Rick Reuschel earned his 11th triumph against 17 losses for the year and got three hits and two RBIs. Darold Knowles notched his 15th save of the season as he held the Expos to three hits and no runs in 3 2-3 ennings of relief.

Montreal moved to a 3-0 advantage in the first inning. moved to third when the ball got past Jerry Morales. Biitner scored on a single by Tim Foli. Mike Jorgensen then hit his 18th homer of the year to score Foli.

But Chicago came back with two runs in both the first and second innings. In the Chicago's first, Don Kessinger walked, moved to third on Rick Monday's double and scored on an infield out. Monday came home on a wild pitch by Expo starter Don Carrithers.

Andy Thornton led off the second for Chicago with his 18th homer of the season. Manny Trillo then singled, moved to second on another wild pitch, and scored on Reuschel's single to centre.

Montreal took a 5-4 lead in the fifth when Jorgensen singled and scored on triple by Larry Parrish, who then came home on Reuschel's wild pitch.

But the Cubs scored the four runs in the fifth off loser Don DeMola, 4-7, who came in relief of Carrithers in the second. Doubles by Jose Cardenal and Manny Trillo plrs singles by Morales, Thornton and Reuschel accounted for the fours runs. The two clubs traded runs in the seventh inning.

PENSSL Presents Awards

WELLINGTON — The Prince Edward North Shore Softball League held its annual awards banquet at the Legion hall here on Saturday night. The evening proved a very profitable one for the Bayview Orchards team as they picked up most of the trophies for single achievements and as a team.

Bayview clinched the pennant by finishing on top of the league at the close of the season and also took the championship trophy by downing Consecon in the finals.

For single awards, the league's most valuable player trophy went to Dan Vance of the Yardmen Midgets while Sonny Holoway picked up the award for the most gentlemenly player during the course of the season.

Earl Hill of Consecon took the rookie of the year honors for his performance in the league. The highest batting average award went out to a member of the Bayview Orchards club, John Allison. He rounded out the season with a .629 average.

Home run champ for the league this season was Neil Goyer of the Belleville J. Goodes. Goyer picked up four grand slams.

Quinte Figure Skating Club's ambitious four nights a week program opens its 1975-76 season at Memorial Arena this week. The skaters take to the ice for the first time, Wednesday when seniors do their stuff, Juniors take over, Thursday.

Whn the first full week of sessions begins, it will be juniors on Mondays and Thursdays, with seniors scheduled for instruction, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Skaters start as young as two years of age, progressing through group instruction and moving through a badge system until they arrive at a point where they may take private lessons from one of the club professionals. After preliminary tests, it's on to the senior ranks.

Professionals with the club are Joan Sparrow, Susan Elgart, Shirley Schoorstra, Jim Macaulay, Kim Bennett and Janice Coyle.

Mrs. Sparrow, from Peterborough, has taught various clubs in Canada and Florida, since 1957. She's a former junior Canadian ladies' champion, a silver dance medalist and gold medalist.

Also from Peterborough, Susan Elgart has been teaching four years. She has her seventh figure, silver free dance and gold free skate. She was Western Canada senior open women's champion.

A former member of Quinte Club, Miss Schoorstra became a professional three years ago. She has her sixth figure and silver dance.

Macaulay, from Kingston, is in his third year of instruction with Quinte Club. He's a triple gold medalist.

In his first year at the executive level, Ken Thompson, president, has daughters Kerri and Tracey skating.

Locals Favor Smokin' Joe

MANILA (AP) — Gamblers' odds still favor Muhammad Ali, but local sentiment has taken a sharp shift to challenger Joe Frazier two days before their battle for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

This was evident both at Saturday's official weigh-in and at brief workouts Sunday where the usual "Ali, Ali, Ali" chants were drowned out by "Go, Go, Smokin' Joe."

Unquestionably, Ali's marital problems last week cut heavily into his popularity in this highly religious, family-oriented little country as well as perhaps in other parts of the world.

Ali continues a 2-to-1 choice with Las Vegas bookmakers but promoter Don King reported he has been informed these odds were almost certain to tighten before the 10:45 a.m. starting bell Wednesday (10:45 p.m., EDT, Tuesday).

Promoters expect the indoor coliseum to be a 25,567 sellout, with a gross of $1.8 million. Headquarters reports are of quickening interest in the 68 countries where closed circuit TV is being sold."

"Tragedy money is hard to take delight in," said King, admitting that Ali's problems with his wife, Belinda, conctivably could bolster the television gate, estimated at a likely $22 million.

"The story is on many front pages," the promoter added. "A lot more women are likely to take an interest in the outcome."

Belinda left her fighting husband in tears Friday, hours after flying across the Pacific to be at his side. She was reported to be distraught after an argument over "the other woman," Veronica Porsche of Los Angeles.

However, when she arrived in San Francisco, Belinda said there had been no argument and called the reports "just propoganda—I don't know what triggered it off."

"My husband doesn't have any girl friends. I'm his wife."

She told reporters she and Miss Porsche were friends, had sat together at Ali's fights in Las Vegas and Kuala Lumpur "and sometimes travel together."

As in previous fights dating back to the one in Kinshasa, Zaire, last October, when he won the title back from George Foreman, Ali had squired Miss Porsche around official functions, litting her be introduced as "Mrs. Ali."

At the weigh-in Saturday, there were no wild cheers and hand-clapping for Ali as there had been in Zaire, where spectators reached near riot proportions in their enthusiasm. When Frazier appeared, the crowd gave him a tremendous ovation.

Ali weighed in at 224½ pounds and Frazier at 215¼, both heavier than expected.

Addressing himself to last week's "triangle" developments and Ali's insensitivity to what happened—the champ showed up with a different pretty girl on his arm—a member of Muhammad's entourage said:

"Ali lives on crises. If there isn't a natural crisis before one of his fights, he always manages to create one."

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Jim: "How did you happen to think of the rule of the ace and the king?"

Oswald: "In the early Thirties, slam bidding was a hit-or-miss proposition. I wanted a simple rule to tell when to invite or actually bid a slam. I came up with the idea that any time you could take a king out of your hand and still have enough for game, you should think of a slam and possibly make a mild slam invitation. If you could take out an ace, you should definitely invite a slam. And if you could take out an ace and a king, you should bid the slam."

Jim: "I assume the bidding in the box shows this rule in operation. South would surely bid four spades without the ace of diamonds. So he invites the slam by bidding four diamonds. If North signed off at four spades, South would probably give up."

Oswald: "Right. But North cue bids in hearts and now South invites the slam strongly by bidding five spades. He doesn't use Blackwood because he isn't worried about aces. North has full values and goes on to the laydown six.

Ask the Jacobys

An Alberta reader says, "Playing at three notrump the deuce of hearts was led against me. Dummy held ♥Q6 and I held ♠A105. Should I have played the queen from dummy?"

The answer is no. The play of the six spot insures two tricks in the suit. If you rise with dummy's queen and the king covers you may only make one heart trick.

To Your Good Health

Early Diagnosis Very Important

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Isn't there some way to diagnose appendicitis rather than wait until it becomes serious? Does it have to be serious before a doctor can decide that it is truly appendicitis, requiring removal of the appendix?

I had an episode of pain above my navel. It passed, and when I told my doctor about it he said that if it had been appendicitis it would not have passed. He took a blood test and urine test and said there was no evidence of appendicitis.

Appendicitis is an inflammation of the appendix. Early diagnosis is recognized as very important and your doctor must have had good reason to suspect some other reason for your pain. Or more correctly, he must have had good reason not to suspect appendicitis.

Advances in diagnostic technique and surgical procedures have reduced the death rate in appendicitis dramatically. In 1959 the rate was one per each 100,000 of the population in the U.S., a 90 per cent reduction from what it had been 20 years earlier.

The first symptoms are pain (usually in the upper abdomen) from mild to severe, followed by nausea, vomiting and loss of appetite. And since the usual cause of the inflammation is an infection, an increased white blood cell count is usually a good indicator in diagnosis. Also, the initial pain would be followed by a duller pain in the lower right abdomen. That area is tender.

When diagnosis is doubtful, the general rule is to remove the appendix. This is the reason why even to this day many removed appendices are found o be perfectly healthy. The pain in younger persons is often due to lymph-gland infection within the abdomen. This often mimics appendicitis. You would not have heard the last of it had your pain been due to appendicitis. The infection would have remained. There is some doubt about whether appendicitis becomes chronic. If you still doubt your physician's diagnoosis, I guess the only way to ease your mind would be to seek an opinion from a second doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 55, and have developed high blood pressure. My doctor tells me I must now take pills for the pressure the rest of my life. I take three pills, one for water retention, two for the pressure.

Is it true I must take these the rest of my life? What if my pressure returns to normal? Also, why must I take water pills when I have no swelling anywhere? Mrs. A.W.

High blood pressure cannot be cured. It can be controlled and control is a lifelong process. You don't mention just which of the various available medicines you are taking. This can vary depending on the cause and seriouspess of your hypertension.

Sometimes, a simple sedation can control it. In more severe cases, more potent medication may be needed. The water pill (probably a diuretic of the thiazide group) is commonly used as initial treatment in relatively mild hypertension. It is effective in removing sodium, which can cause fluid retention.

Confidential to Mrs. C.M. — Why get all shaken up? Your husband has been told he has a low sperm count. Your chances of becoming pregnant are admittedly low. Take your doctor's advice and have him see a specialist. About 20 per cent of families are childless. It's estimated that at least a third of them can be helped medically. There may be a glandular deficiency, a toxic state, or some anatomical obstruction. The important thing now is to find out the reason for the low sperm count, and go on from there.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several months ago I was told by my doctor that I have glaucoma. Since that time my right eye has gradually become worse. I have been going back to the doctor for regular check-ups and use drops in my eyes which he prescribed.

I am now becoming disturbed and quite discouraged. What can I expect? — Mrs. H.V.H.

Sounds like a case of poor communication.

From your description it appears your doctor is attempting to control your glaucoma by the accepted conservative method. Glaucoma, as you should know by now, is a build-up of fluid (hence pressure) within the eye. The goal of treatment is to reduce this fluid and the pressure.

For this, eyedrops are often used that constrict the iris, and this can help open tiny "canals" intended for the drainage of fluid from the eye.

If your vision is becoming worse, or if you are experienceing pain, you should report this promptly on your next visit.

There are other drugs that can be used. Diuretics, for example, can reduce body fluids, and this can have an indirect effect on the glaucoma. If such methods produce no improvement, more radical measures may be suggested. This can include surgery to relieve the fluid pressure by opening new pathways for the drainage structures I mentioned above.

I hope I've told you enough about your condition generally so that the next time you see your doctor you will be able to ask him where you stand, and what the future might hold. You shouldn't be shy about asking.

Investment Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — Direct foreign investment in Canada during 1973, the latest reporting year, rose 11 per cent to $32.78 billion from a year earlier, Statistics Canada reported. The increase followed raises of six per cent of th two prvious yars. cent of the two previous years.

Estimates $2.2 Billion

MONTREAL (P) — Consulting economist Michael Hudson of the Hudson Institute estimates that the 1976 Montreal Olympics may generate as much as $2.2 billion in added economic activity. He predicted increased tourism will bring $300 million and other games-related revenue will total $510 million.

Ontario Sends Doctors to Japan

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Frank Miller said Sunday the Ontario government will send a team of neurologists to Japan to consult with experts on the problem of mercury poisoning among Indians who eat contaminated fish.

Mr. Miller said in an interview that the team probably will include a senior official from the environmental health division of his ministry, as well as specialists from the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

The provincial minister said it is possible that Canadian officials who examined Indians in areas where fish have been contaminated by mercury have underestimated the extent of the problem.

"The trouble is, the symptoms of mercury poisoning are so hard to pin down if you're not an expert in the field," he said.

In the case of many Indians, he said, physicians might believe that a person is suffering from alcoholism when he really is displaying symptoms of mercury poisoning.

Mr. Miller, Environment Minister William Newman and Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier planned to meet today with Japanese officials who have toured Indian reserves in Northern Ontario to determine the extent of the mercury problem.

Mr. Miller said a federal-provincial government testing team found 20 or 30 Indians from the Grassy Narrows and Whitedog reserves near Kenora who displayed symptoms of mercury poisoning.

He said it is the federal government's responsibility to provide treatment for the victims, who have been asked to go to a hospital in Winnipeg for more extensive testing.

Researchers found some Indians in Northern Quebec with similar symptoms, he said.

The Japanese delegation includes three victims of Minamata disease—named after the fishing village in Japan where it was first discovered in 1956 and where about 900 persons have been identified as suffering from methyl-mercury poisoning.

Mr. Miller said one of the biggest problems the government faces is coping with the attitude of the Indians.

"We've just got to get through to them that they shouldn't eat certain fish," he said.

Indians in the Kenora-Dryden area are paid 55 cents a pound by the province to fish in uncontaminated areas while the federal government pays them $2.10 an hour.

The fish they catch are offered free to Indians as an alternative to eating contaminated fish, Mr. Miller said.

Roy Martin, son of Chief Roy McDonald of the Whitedog reserve, said in a telephone interview that the Japanese delegations visit to the reserve impressed upon many Indians the danger of eating contaminated fish.

He said, however, many Indians still eat fish from unsafe areas.

Reisman Says Canada Should Impose Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — Simon Reisman, former top economic adviser to the federal government, has repeated his belief that Ottawa has little option but to impose wage and price controls.

Mr. Reisman, until March the federal deputy minister of finance, said action is needed to restore some balance between the demands on the economy and its ability to meet them.

Basically, he said, he does not favor artificial controls, preferring "sensible policies" and the workings of normal market forces.

But "we have reached the point where the expectations of all sectors cannot be sustained by the economy."

Mr. Reisman said if controls are imposed, the government also should implement new policies to solve the underlying causes of the country's economic troubles.

"Controls would be worse than useless without a suitable policy of constraint in respect to government expenditures and monetary policy," he said.

"That would be like putting a lid on a boiling pot without turning down the heat. At some point there is bound to be an explosion."

If it were his decision, a freeze of three to six months would be imposed "as universally as possible to cover virtually every level of wages and prices."

That would give government time to "develop a more fundamental program and make sure it was working."

He would also send every minister in the federal cabinet out across the country explaining what was being done.

"Controls can't work unless the people understand why they are needed."

FBI Uncovers Bomb Factory in Former SLA Apartments

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — While the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) enlarged their arsenal and gathered the makings of a bomb factory, they collected thick files of information on business and government activities in the United States and notes on corporate officials.

Weapons, explosives and cryptically labelled file folders were listed in a 128-page inventory of items discovered at two apartments—one that had been occupied by Patricia Hearst and Wendy Yoshimura and the other by SLA members William and Emily Harris.

The FBI, which catalogued the items but declined to elaborate on many of them, made the inventory public Monday.

Miss Hearst, the Harrises and Miss Yoshimura were arrested on Sept. 18. Miss Yoshimura charged with a bombing and the other three accused of a variety of charges including bank robbery and kidnapping.

The two apartments yielded 17 guns ranging from .38-calibre revolvers to sawed-off shotguns and thousands of rounds of ammunition. In the Harris apartment, agents found several pipe bombs and materials for making more explosives.

Separate pages mentioned "Wells Fargo La Sierra" and "B of A Marysville."

A spokesman for the Bank of America said the Marysville branch has not been robbed in the last 18 months, and a Wells Fargo spokesman said there is no Wells Fargo branch in La Sierra.

Miss Hearst is charged with participating in the April 15, 1975, robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch in San Francisco.

In Sacramento on Monday, Chief Deputy District Attorney Geoffrey Burroughs said authorities there are investigating robberies at the Crocker Bank in suburban Carmichael on April 21, 1975, and the Guild Savings and Loan Co.'s Sacramento office on Feb. 25, 1975, for possible SLA connections.

The FBI inventory of the Harris apartment included a navy blue ski mask.

Group Plans New Home For Seniors

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Aldersgate Incorp., an amalgamation representing 89 Wesleyan and Free Methodist churches in Ontario, is planning a $3.3 - million senior citizens complex composed of 166 apartment, nursing and self-car units at Belleville's western doorstep.

The multi-million dollar project was made public Monday as Bob Marcotte, a principle in Hallcraft Crop. of Belleville, unveiled plans to Sidney township council.

To be built in the township on a six-acre site, the complex will be located just west of Avondale Rd., the western city limit, and just north of Hastings Manor.

Present composition calls for 80 senior citizen apartments, a 52-unit nursing home and two other buildings each housing 32 self-care beds. Provision for future expansion is included in site plans.

Rev. Earl Bull, superintendant of the Eastern Ontario Conference of Free Methodist Churches of Canada, said today his conference and the 25-congregation Central Canada District of Wesleyan Methodist Churches have undertaken the project.

A third church group, the Standard Church of North America, has expressed interest in the project, but has made no frm commitment, said Mr. Bull.

He said constuction on the first building should start next year if Aldersgate can get services to the six-acre parcel. Erection of other building is five to 10 years away.

Mr. Marcotte's interest in the project stems from Hallcraft Crop. ownership of 265 acres of land immediately west of city limits. The six-acre parcel is part of the larger tract called Hastings Park in a secondary plan shelved by Hallcraft some 10 years ago.

Hallcroft, said Mr. Marcotte, would sell the six-acre parcel to Aldersgate with services and last night took the first step along the road to a still unknown construction start date.

He asked Sidney council to request Belleville council and the utilities commission for sewer and water service extension to the proposed complex.

With little discussion, comcillors agreed to make the request and also decided to ask the Quinte Planning Board for its comments.

Pushing for a planning overview, councillor Reg. McCurdy said "if I can get their support, then it might improve its (the complex's) changes before Belleville council."

Despite the township's lack of a zoning bylaw "to tie it down", Mr. McCurdy said he felt planners could make comments based on "planning principles."

"I'd like to have their backing, but I don't know whether we'll get it or not," said the councillor.

Services from Belleville would be needed to handle the entire complex, Mr. Marcotte said even though only one phase . . . the 50-unit apartments were to be built initially.

Gunmen Continue Restaurant Siege

LONDON (AP) — A police siege of three gunmen holding six Italians hostage in a downtown restaurant's tiny basement storeroom went into the third day today with no end in sight.

"We're staying put," one of the gunmen shouted Monday night through a hole drilled in the wall of the 10-by-12-foot room after Scotland Yard twice refused their demands for a plane and safe passage out of Britain.

"They ain't going nowhere," said Deputy Assistant Commissioner Ernest Bond.

There were fears the trio—a Nigerian and two Jamaicans—may crack under the strain and start shooting the captives in an attempt to force compliance with their demands.

"The situation seems to be worsening," said Bond. "But if it does get worse, we've got contingency plans to meet any emergency."

Asked whether that means going in shooting, he replied: "It hasn't come to that yet. Right now we don't care how long we have to wait."

The gunmen invaded the Spaghetti House in Knightsbridge, headquarters of a chain of Italian restaurants, early Sunday morning to steal the night's proceeds from the chain. One of the nine Italian employees in the restaurant escaped after shoving the money under a table, and at the speedy arrival of the police the gunmen herded the other eight Italians into the storeroom.

They let one man go Sunday as a "good-will gesture" and released Pasquale Cenicola, 34, after he collapsed Monday in the foul air of the tiny room.

His release was arranged by Italian Consul-General Mario Manca, who told reporters: "Our men are in good spirits and health. But they are frightened, in fear of their lives, afraid that something might be done to provoke the gunmen."

Bob Nixon Steps Down, Rumors Mention Turner

TORONTO (CP) — John Turner, former federal finance minister, was being mentioned today as a possible future leader of the Ontario Liberal party in the wake of Robert Nixon announcement to step down as leader.

Two prominent provincial Liberal caucus members said Monday that they had spoken with Mr. Turner since the Sept. 18 Ontario general election.

James Breithaupt of Kitchener, the party's finance critic and house leader, said he talked to Mr. Turner by telephone last week.

"I said to him I hoped he would consider it (the provincial party leadership) and he said he would consider it," Mr. Breithaupt said. "That's all there was to it—no great plotting in depth, or anything like that."

James Bullbrook said Mr. Turner called him after he (Bullbrook) was re-elected in Sarnia Sept. 18.

Mr. Bullbrook said it was a friendly call, "but I couldn't say as a politician it was just that."

Mr. Bullbrook said that if Mr. Turner became a candidate for Mr. Nixon's job, "I'd be quite proud to serve as one of his lieutenants."

Speculation about Mr. Turner was heightened when J.S. Grafstein, who directed the Liberal advertising program during the election campaign, indicated an interest in remaining active with the provincial party.

Mr. Grafstein, who has worked for Mr. Turner as a political adviser, executive assistant and campaign manager, said he is interested in provincial politics and "a lot of the guys have asked me to take a heavier part."

The former opposition leader will continue to serve as an MPP—he loves the cut and thrust of the legislature and has tremendous respect for the legislative process.

"I will continue to serve as long as the people of Brant will have me," Mr. Nixon has said repeatedly.

Broadbent Urges Price Board

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ed Broadbent, national NDP leader, said Monday that Canada's inflation and unemployment should be met head on with a prices review board and program of housing construction.

The prices review board "with teeth in it" should cover many sectors of the economy besides food, and have the power to roll back inflationary price hikes, he said at a news conference.

He also said "massive' infection of government funds into housing would lower the unemployment rate, help solve the housing crisis, and also have a deflating effect on inflation by lowering the cost of renting or home purchase.

These measures would help the average Canadian where he is feeling the pinch of inflation most, in the cost of food and shelter.

While advocating a type of price control, the NDP leader did not support wage controls. However, he said the prices review board should have authority to investigate sharp wage hikes.

He said that during the last year, wages have outrun the cost of living, but that once workers are able to catch up with inflation "my own expectation is that wages are going to level off."

He said his party regards the Liberal government's intention to raise the amount workers must contribute towards unemployment insurance as a "very regressive move," and said the cost of unemployment should be borne by general revenues.

Asked why the federal government has not acted decisively to end inflation, Mr. Broadbent replied:

"I think they have been relying entirely on the American economy I think that they have been waiting for the Americans to bail us out. That's like waiting for Godot."

In Edmonton, Mr. Broadbent said the federal government's plan to reduce its share in medical care schemes us "regressive" and "despicable.'

He said the idea behind medical care is "to have the same services available in Newfoundland as in Alberta.'

The federal government's reduction, he said, will mean the richer provinces might be able to continue the plan at a greater cost to their own people but the rest of the provinces will suffer.

Buckling in for the Breezy Blue Yonder

Ted Slack, one-time Bellevillian, buckles down for another flight into a blue yonder with faces unprotected into the breezes. The novel aircraft on which he touched down on at the Belleville airport Monday had design patterned on early days of aviation's flying machines. The motor is out back with the pilot perched up front. Ferrying the plane from Ottawa to Toronto meant regular touchdowns and speeds so slow he often watched his flight overtaken by highway vehicles. Francó Proceeds With Basque Trials

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spanish government is believed planning to go ahead with trials of 15 Basque guerrillas and death penalties for some of them despite the thunderous foreign protests against the execution of five terrorists last weekend.

The government denied new trials are imminent. But lawyers for 10 men and five women held on terrorist charges said they have been told to prepare for the trials before military courts.

Basque lawyer Juan Maria Bandres said he has been asked to defend the country's top guerrilla leader, Jose Ignacio Mugica Arregui, the 30-year-old military chief of the Basque nationalist movement ETA, or Basque Land and Liberty.

Mugica, charged with having a leading part in the December, 1973, assassination of Premier Luis Carrero Blanco, was transferred Monday night to prison from police headquarters, the lawyer said.

He said that the trials may begin Wednesday and that he expects the prosecution to demand the death sentence for at least four of the male defendants.

Plebiscite Suggested

Ministers Vary On Store Hours

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Belleville Ministerial Association members Monday had reactions ranging from apathy to a request for a plebiscite following the Sunday opening of the A and P Supermarket at Belleville Plaza.

The Association has not as yet reached an opinion but the matter will be discussed at the next meeting on Oct. 9, said Rev. Jack Morrison, association president.

"I'm not very happy about it being open Sunday or until midnight," said Mr Morrison.

The supermarket is now open Sundays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays until midnight and Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

It's the first major Belleville chain store to open on Sundays. Other may follow.

"It's making people work unnecessarily," said Mr. Morrison.

After-hours and Sunday sporting events and entertainment are a different matter, he said, but people should be able to get their shopping done during normal business hours.

Sunday opening of all but small neighborhood stores is technically a violation of the Lord's Day Act.

There are also local by-laws covering store hours.

City officials said they had little reaction from residents regarding the new hours of the store and doubted any action would be taken.

Rev. J.L. Dean, of Tabernacle United Church, said a referendum should be held in the city to determine if stores should be open for extended hours and Sundays

"It hasn't anything to do with church attendence. Even communist countries found it unsound to work seven days a week,' said Mr. Dean.

Mr. Morrison said it would be difficult to draw a line concerning which stores should be open Sundays: "Society in general needs a day off."

Sunday Store Hours Hurt Buyers: Archer

TORONTO (CP) — David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, says supermarkets which have extended their shopping hours operate at extra cost and to the disadvantage of consumers.

Mr. Archer said, "Chains are paying overtime not only for store employees but also for trucking and warehouse staff. Government must step in and curb this type of wasteful competition."

Richard O'Brien, advertising manager for Dominion Stores Ltd., said Dominion, which has some stores open Sundays, would not mind if laws were passed to restrict stores to being open six days a week.

"But with everybody else in there, we have to protect our market share," he said.

Jim Gregory, merchandising vice-president for Loblaws Ltd., said Loblaws has no stores open Sundays "and we don't intend to."

"When you have to pay 2½ times your normal labor rate to open up a store, it has to increase costs,' he said. "Government policy has been very lax on this issue.'

Report on Status of Women Outlines Task Force Goals

The Ad Hoc Committee on the Status of Women at Loyalist College has submitted a report to Herb Young, collegt president, containing its recommendations for the composition and goals of a permanent task force on the status of women in Loyalist.

The report outlines the following goals:

— "to study the report of women in colleges, with particular reference to Loyalist College;

— "to study the process of women's course and career selection;

— "to establish ongoing educational activities pertaining to women;

— "to look at the possibilities of daycare at Loyalist;

— "to look at other activities relevant to the role of women in society."

The report says the committee also feels a college-funded budget is required and recommends "meetings of the task force be open meetings and that approval be given for task force members to attend meetings during office hours."

Regarding composition, the report suggests the following:

— "that the task force be composed of two Loyalist staff student members from each of administration, faculty, support staff, the student body and one female advisor from the board of governors;

— "that the following persons who have shown interest and given their time and energy comprise the permanent task force: W. Blackwood, student liaison officer and J. Rickard, allied health chairperson (administration), M. Bosiak, accountancy co-ordinator and G. Spragg, economics instructor (faculty) and J. Gauthier, stenographer with alternate B. Lo of the resource centre and S. Barriault, secretary (support staff);

— "that the student associations (SALC and retraining) elect one representative each but that any interested students sit on the task force until such an election can take place; — "that the members of any of the above mentioned groups have the option of electing a replacement person for those named above;

— "consideration was given to having extension students represented, on the force but the mechanics of determining this representation posed some difficulty. The committee recommends that this area be left open for discussion."

Sandy Barriault, committee chairperson, said Friday, "the committee feels very enthusiastic about the proposed new task force and anticipates strong support from the college administration."

She noted that Mr. Young had requested the committee's assistance in the establishment of the task force.

Rotarians Take No Action On Issue of Women Members

In a jovial meeting Monday Belleville Rotary Club made no decision as to whether women should be admitted to the club.

Club president Neil Britton refused to acknowledge results at the end of the club's first-ever debate that indicated by an overwhelming majority that women should not be invited to join.

Mr. Britton said laughingly it was one of the club's most important meetings.

Mr. Shewfelt, principal of Albert College, in favor of admitting women to the membership, said ladies could contribute to members fellowship, or "personship".

Probation officer George Smith said female members would cause problems at out-of-town meetings requiring overnight accommodation and would cause a parking problem at meetings: "Banged up fender problems would be twice as bad."

Joe Demez, said it would be best to invite women during International Women's Year rather than "in a decade under pressure".

Pere McGuire, opposed to female members, said: "Women could show the men up as an inferior group."

REAL ESTATE:

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

Ed. McKinney Realty Ltd.
J. E. McKinney

I'm sure you've heard it said: "Why should I sell my home through a REALTOR? I can sell it myself and save a lot of money." Right? . . . Wrong!

This kind of thinking usually turns out to be financially unwise. The prospects will usually start by mentally deducting the commission and then start negotiating from there. On the average, a homeowner saves NO money when he sells his own home. In fact, the opposite is true. Studies over a ten year period show that the net proceeds from owner-sold property are LESS than the REALTOR-sold piece of real estate, even after the payment of commission.

As a private seller you're at a great disadvantage in the intricate areas of financing, negotiating and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a REALTOR. He'll sell it for you — without hitches — for the best price in the shortest amount of time.

Beckett's Defeat Delays Final Northumberland Report

COBOURG — The Northumberland Task Force development strategy workshop scheduled for October 3 and 4 has been postponed until the end of the month when a new chairman of ministerial level can be appointed and briefed, officials for the study said, Monday.

The technical committee for the task force agreed to postpone the meeting at the request of Darcy McKeough, Ontario treasurer, until after the provincial cabinet is appointed and a new chairman named and properly briefed.

Richard Beckett, past chairman of the task force and minister without portfolio for municipal affairs was defeated in the Sept. 18 election. Mr. McKeough also told the committee he would like to be present at the workshop but could not attend the early October session.

Peter Walker, project director and consultant for the task force said he is pleased with the provincial response saying it showed the government is still interested in the study's findings.

"If they had appointed a temporary chairman I would have been more concerned about their intentions," he said in a telephone interview.

The two-day workshop will be the final chance for municipalities involved to provide input for the final decisions of the $231,000 provincial funded study.

The results of the workshop will form the final development strategy recommendations to the task force and the provincial government which will implement the policies for growth and development in Northumberland for the next 25 years.

New Levy on Builders Rejected by Council

TRENTON — In the face of stiff opposition from area developers who claim a levy on builders would stifle growth in the municipality, town council unanimously rejected the additional fee, Monday night.

Members had previously considered the report about the impost requested by council and prepared by town clerk Aubrey Sharp this summer in more than one closed session before it was brought up for public discussion, on Monday night's agenda.

Councilman Edward Todd, acting as chairman, cast the deciding tally on a resolution whether to bring the issue to an immediate vote or postpone it until the council had a chance to further consider the tax.

The meeting was originally intended as a discussion session to hear what Trenton developers and subdividers had to say about the tax, a council member said.

Some members of council said they were not ready to vote on the tax, expressing a desire to hear further comments on the issue from Mr. Sharp and members of the public.

"I don't think enough consideration was given to the plan," said Mayor Robert Patrick after the open council session. "This meeting was intended to get the opinions of the developers and subdividers and we did not have a chance to adequately discuss the issue," he said.

Councilman — Wannamaker requested the vote be postponed so council could further consider the issue and until other interested parties could be heard.

The resolution was passed by a single vote during the committee of the whole to bring the matter before council for an immediate vote.

It was during this ballotting Councilman Todd cast the deciding tally, voting with councilmen Ronald Price, Pete Aziz and Peter De Groot to bring the issue before council for immediate consideration.

The vote was taken by council on whether the municipality should immediately levy the impost and it was defeated by a unanimous vote with Councilman Todd the chairman, not voting.

The levy would have to cover the increase in costs to provide services to the new areas but one developer said the town was gaining immediate taxpayers as soon as a buyer took possession of his home and the tax would just be a double levy.

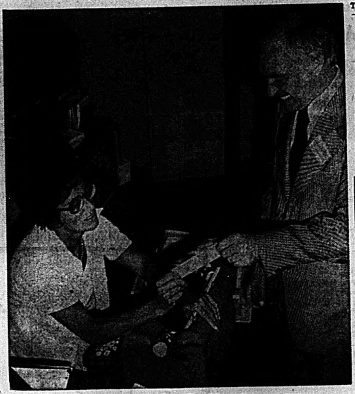
Builders Say PUC Delaying New Homes

TRENTON — Town council said Monday they will explore charges made by builders the municipality and the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) are responsible for delays in the construction of new houses in the town.

The issue raised by representatives of the building industry present at council meeting to discuss a proposed tax by the municipality on developers and subdividers to help pay for increased service costs to the new areas.

Stan Klemencic told the council in a letter part of the reason it is difficult to build in Trenton is a failure on the part of the municipality to make lots available by not approving new subdivisions. He also said the high cost is directly related to the "constantly higher demands by the municapality," and delays of up to 3½ years in approving subdivisions.

Mr. Klemencic s letter said demands made by the PUC are responsible for adding more than $1,000 to the cost of building a house.



Seeing Is Believing

Don Lindsay, Trenton campaign chairman for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind collects a donation from Eve Pallidwar during the organization yearly fundraising effort in the town. More than 150 volunteers will be canvassing the town until October 3 trying to reach this years goal of $5,000.

75-year-old Woman Hurt in Crash

GLEN MILLER — A 75-year-old Frandford woman is in Trenton hospital today in satisfactory condition with face, hand and leg lacerations after the car she was a passenger in hit a utility pole and wagon on a farm, just east of here, Monday.

In hospital is Laura Burkett, a resident of the senior citizens home on Mill St. Also injured and treated for face lacerations, but not admitted to hospital was driver Mary Gray, 74, of 50 North Trent St., Frankford.

Belleville provincial police say the car "mounted" a utility pole and travelled another 60 feet before colliding with a wagon on the farm of Roland Clark of RR 5 Trenton.

The other two passengers in the vehicle, which sustained an estimated $1,500 damage, were not injured.

Fair Draws Large Crowd

MADOC — One of the largest crowds in the 70-year history of the Madoc Fall Fair was on hand this weekend to watch Jennifer Sprague, 16, crowned Miss Madoc Fair.

According to gate receipts, a total of $8,000 was taken in admission fees, nearly doubling the $4,800 raised in admissions last year.

The two-day fair drew equal crowds both days said organizers. The fair specialized on agriculture and a midway.

Miss Sprague will travel to Toronto in August to compete in the Canadian National Exhibition's Sweetheart of the Fair beauty contest.

Arthritis Society Blitz Lacks Adult Workers

PICTON — The Prince Edward branch of CARS (Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society) is planning a fund-raising blitz on Oct. 6 but only eight adults have volunteered to canvass says campaign chairman Bob Renaud.

"People don't realize the need," explained Mr. Renaud, who has been recruiting volunteers for the blitz for more than a month.

"If it weren't for the high school kids and the public school children we would have a difficult time," he added.

Mr. Renaud noted that youth participation in the blitz is excellent with many volunteers from Prince Edward Collegiate Institute and Queen Elizabeth School in Picton taking part.

An entire class from PECI will join the fund drive as a class project. Goal for the Prince Edward bllitz is $2,000 while the CARS national objective is $4,840,000.

Mr. Renaud said arthritis and rheumatism often are considered erroneously as "old people's diseases."

"The association should bring it in front of people more," he suggested.

Campaign Countdown

It's less than a week before the Prince Edward branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society (CARS) will hold its fund raising blitz in the Picton area and campaign chairman Bob Renaud is offering final instructions for canvassers. Volunteer Michele Dousett (R) examines canvassers' kits at a meeting of CARS workers hled last night.

Bangladesh – Millions of Starving People and an Unproven Government

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

A press release from the World Bank in Washington announcing a small $4.6 million loan to destitute Bangladesh to facilitate unloading of oil at the country's main port, says much about the start from scratch which this country is still attempting.

Chittagong is the main port of Bangladesh and terminus for the vital 1.2 million tons of oil a year consumed by this very hard-pressed nation. But port facilities there are not adequate enough for direct ship-to-shore transfer of oil.

The World Bank soft loan for a period of 50 years including 10 year. of grace with no interest to buy two used tankers to do the job, emphasizes the almost total lack of basic facilities for distribution in this country.

And it is distribution services and the ability to improve them which this country needs, not the kind of vengeance coup which saw the murder of the founding president and his replacement by a clique of nobodies.

Bangladesh is sick enough physically and economically without her leadership falling apart, which apparently it was doing under the late President Sheik Mujib Rahman.

He is now gone and the new leaders claim so has corruption and nepotism with him. Now they will have to prove their honesty and efficiency in ruling a nation which remains the basket case of South East Asia.

The fact is the new President Khandeker Mostaque Ahmed is not secure in power and the military and tanks still patrol the streets of Dacca. Adding this to the unresolved deep social and humanitarian problems of this country and you have the possibility of chronic unrest and upheaval.

The human problem of Bangladesh still defies description in a country with a staggering 75 million people and the densest population of any country in the world, which is saying something where the over-populated Third World is concerned.

The new president claims that exports of jute fibres, the nation's major source of income, were woefully mismanaged by the late Sheik Mujib, as was the country's economy.

Having said that and attempting to prove the inadequacies of his predecessor, the onus is on the new president to move quickly on some of the country's problems.

Unlike almost any other Third World nation of its size which have indigenous strengths for change, Bangladesh appears on the surface to be a hopeless case, no leadership, no funds, no food resources, just tens of millions of starving mouths.

Whatever has been done since the murder of the former president, the outside world knows little about since the foreign press was ejected last August 15th and has not been allowed to return.

Canada has been generous in her aid and assistance to this new nation indeed perhaps too generous, given the wastage and spoilage of imported food and supplies before they reached a hungry population.

It is difficult at this distance to be sympathetic to anything that has happened in Dacca since last August, wondering why a cadre of well-educated Bangladesh politicians and civil servants cannot start to solve the problems of water and land distribution of food and medicines from abroad.

Planning Evolution

Planning in Belleville has been through many vicissitudes — from the time a decade or so ago of the "Magic Circle" concept, suggestions of a Norwich Plan type of clean-up by paint and elimination of unsightly signs, to the situation today that sees considerable progress in one way or another.

There is the Mall, and word of expansion approval. There is news too of the Century Place complex anticipating full occupancy by next March.

The latter should serve as a spur to the downtown revitalization which planning committee chairman Joe Cox is talking about and which surely must be in the cards for the years ahead.

Mayor Corke, while expressing concern that mall expansion will militate against the downtown core, has given his blessing to it. He had taken issue with a planning subordinate planning advisory committee view that mall expansion would not be "detrimental" to the downtown core, but added: "I'm not complaining. I'm supporting this proposal."

Certainly in the long run an expanded Mall complex and a revitalized downtown should complement each other and constitute a much more attractive community overall. The city would then be in a position to attract more tourists, although this would presuppose also additional motel and/or hotel accommodation.

Improved harbor facilities this year helped the tourist flow and with still further developments envisaged there tourism will benefit even more in future.

It is all part of growth that has already taken place and with the prospect of more to come. A new look at the east end Plaza is also contemplated: it is to be roofed in. With this development, and the Mall expansion, and the prospect of downtown revitalization ,it is important to look to the tourist potential that will help make this total concept a viable proposition.

Soviet Oil Output

Last year the Soviet Union became the world's largest oil-producing nation.

That is good news for the people of the USSR.

Not so many years ago, we used to hear talk about nations being forced to choose between guns and butter. To no nation was this choice more necessary than to the Soviet Union. Its leaders, even Khrushchev, invariably chose guns. "Guns". in the sense of this phrase, did not necessarily mean weapons for defence. Rather it meant capital goods, the equipment needed to produce more goods in the future, rather than consumer goods.

Paradoxically enough, the Communist lands are the only ones which have preserved a belief in the principles upon which capitalism was weaned and upon which it has flourished and produced the present age of "consumerism" in the western world.

They believed ,and they apparently still believe, that hard work will eventually be rewarded, that today's sacrifices will bring rewards tomorrow.

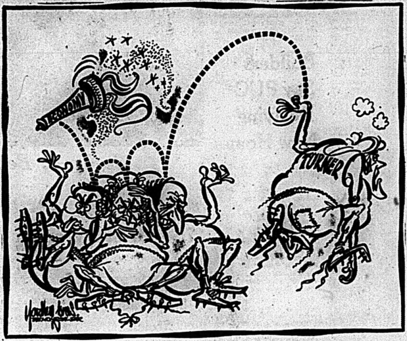
Western eyes, meanwhile have shortened their focus and western people are concerned primarily with today.

And there is good reason for this change in western thinking. Despite our chambers of commerce and our industrial com missioners, "progress" may soon be a thing of the past.. Growth will not be, because the world becomes ever more crowded. But more people may not, as in the past, mean any increase in production, a greater store of goods to be shared. Raw materials are growing scarcer; we are still frittering them away on non-essentials,

The Communist lands, finally nearing the dawn of an era in which they, too, can participate in "the good life," may find they have arrived too late. They may wake to the day of plenty just as its sun is setting.

And yet, coming late, they may enjoy an advantage over the (West,

None of these Communist lands have frittered away their heritage on non-essentials. They may be able to enjoy, in the century to come, perhaps not "the good life" of their dreams, but at least an existence more comfortable than will be available to the West. Unless of course, we can achieve the miracle and make a virtue of necessity, curb and simplify appetites, relearn the value of sacrificing today's joys to meet tomorrow's needs, restore a hope in the possibility of a good future and, yes, even reestablish a belief in the dignity of work.



NDP's Staying Power Is Now the Big Question

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Elections notes; the NDP:

The winners!

But will the success continue?

One point in the party's favor is that from now on it will be getting big play.

Stephen Lewis is a favorite of the press. Reporters, particularly television and radio, like his pithy comments.

It should get lots of publicity.

But then it should now be the main target of the government.

The PC's presumably will be bringing up the extremist sides of the party philosophy which recently (and paricularly during the election) have been let lie.

Among his freshmen he has some quite outspoken members.

It is agreed by both the premier and the NDP leader that one of the first matters to be tackled is mortgage interest rates.

Both their parties now have the same position, to give tax credits to lower rates.

Both positions developed during the campaign.

The NDP policy in its printed pre-election policy statement was to use Ontario Savings Office funds for morgages.

Nothing was heard of this during the campaign.

Nobody was more surprised at the NDP surprise in the election than the NDP.

Few, if any, in the party were predicting near the 38 seats they ended up with.

One veteran party official, always in the past willing to take a flyer, this time wouldn't bet.

She said the election just wasn't predictable, and was looking for a maximum of 30 seats.

During the campaign, Stephen Lewis frequently referred to B.C. as an example of what an NDP government could do.

With the mess that province is in now the reference probably won't be used much in the future.

The big question now is will the NDP be looking for a quick election, and when.

One factor against any hasty move is money, the party should be short. And then it would be logical to give new members a chance for some publicity before they have to face the voters again.

Stiff Course for Hunters Required in West Germany

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Hunters in southern Ontario, who like to be able to go out after deer or pheasants without driving too far from home, or tramp the fields shooting rabbits or groundhogs even closer to home, would feel cramped if they had to obey the rules imposed on hunters in West Germany.

A hunting licence there is granted only after the applicant has taken a one-year course, obtained high marks on a final examination, and even then the licence has to be renewed each year.

In a population of 66 million, only about 250,000 are licensed to hunt. One result is an abundance of game, including deer, and another is a scarcity of accidental shootings involving hunters.

As people who have lived or travelled in rural Germany know, it is a forested country, by comparison with southern Ontario. Reforestation has been practised much longer there than in Canada, and the balance of woodland to cleared land has been restored by centuries of professional forestry.

In Ontario the effort to reforest land that should never have been cleared dates only from 1906 when Nelson Monteith of Downie Township, as minister of agriculture, started the first provincial tree nursery at St Williams.

Waterloo Region is now 11 per cent forested, 89 per cent cleared. Oxford County is only eight per cent forested; Perth only seven per cent. West Germany's area is 27 per cent forested, and offers far more habitat for game and other wild life. Even though we think of it as a crowded country, it actually provides more opportunity for sports shooting close to home than do the farm areas of southern Ontario.

A tight licensing policy to restrict the number of people who go wandering about the countryside with guns would make more sense here than it does there.

The bill was never enforced and was repealed 20 years later.

No Hayseeds In Alberta

Richard Needham in The Globe and Mail

Richard Gwyn is the Ottawa columnist of the Toronto Star, and he made a curious statement in that paper on Saturday about Premier Peter Lougheed. "He knows that it's one thing, with a fat treasury and a politically unsophisticated public, to run Alberta, and quite another to run the country". Having lived and worked in Alberta for some 16 years of my life (1935-51) and having kept in touch with it since that time, I'd never say its people were political rubes or hayseeds. They know what they're doing, and they're doing it well—much better in my view, than the people in Ottawa or Queen's Park. As I observe the results of the Ontario general election, the political hicks are here in Metropolitan Toronto; they gave half its seats to (God help us) the New Democratic Party.

Crosswalks 'Expensive'

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I am writing in reference to the proposal 'by some' for lighted cross-walks.

In my opinion, this would be nothing more than an additional expense to the taxpayers as one has only to view daily the walking habits of the public, e.g. persons cross at will 'anywhere' on 'most' streets and some even ignore traffic lights. It is also debatable as to whether crosswalks would be 'safer', for at least under present conditions the pedestrian must look before crossing whereas when crosswalks are in operation they assume there is some invisible barrier protecting them while at the same time automatically stopping traffic. Although there is merit in this proposal 'as such', I feel as in the case of the many proposals put forth that it should be measured in terms of priorities.

It is also about time that more responsibility be placed on each individual to protect his own interests rather than placing the onus on some obscure entity. For, no matter how much we spend, or how many devices we endeavor to install, there will always be those who will ignore them and those who will suffer for it.

Election Aftermath

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I am sure the people of Belleville feel as I do. Not many have been missed like our ex-mayor, Mrs. Robin Jeffrey. Although she was a graceful loser in our last election, it's nice to remember her for the good she has done in the past.

As for you "Bill Hockley", I heard you say on the radio 'quote'— that Mrs. Jeffrey could go back to the kitchen and her cook book. I'm sure it would please the majority in our city if you would go back to England and your tea-pot. It would be a good place to spout off.

Wives Are Often Left in Dark as to Details of Husband's Estate

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Strange how some business people can plan meticulously for the disposition of their estates—and then forget to tell their spouses anything about those plans.

At the recently concluded annual conference of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants in Quebec City, 10 wives of male chartered accountants were questioned about their husbands' estate planning.

All were extremely vague on the subject, says Lyman MacInnis, the Toronto chartered accountant who carried out the mini-survey.

Not one of the 10 women knew whom may should contact if her husband were to die.

None knew how much life insurance her husband held, nor even the name of his insurance company.

"Husbands are out in the business world handling other people's investments, estates, legal problems and bank accounts," Mr. MacInnis said.

"At the same time, they leave their wives in total ignorance of their own family's financial and legal affairs."

Because death is an unpleasant subject, few couples can bring themselves to talk about it in the home—even though they know by looking around them that it can happen at any time.

"It's essential that a wife knows where she stands and what she should do if she suddenly finds herself a widow," said Mr. MacInnis.

"Nothing happens automatically. She has to take action."

All husbands probably know innately that they should have a will—even though some never get around to the task of making one.

But the chartered accountant advises every wife to make out a will as well, on the assumption of her inheritance.

"One's legal heirs are not necessarily the desired heirs," he pointed out. "A legal will prevents haggling."

On the question of nominating an executor, Mr. MacInnis strongly urges husbands to name a close family friend rather than their wives.

"A widow is in no emotional state to handle legal matters at a time like that."

Here are five steps that Mr. MacInnis says every husband should take:

—Call a lawyer immediately (not tomorrow) to draw a legal will or to up-date his old will.

—Make a list of his bank accounts, insurance policies, safety deposit boxes, annuities and the like, keeping a list for himself and giving copies to his wife and to some other independent person.

—Make sure that his wife knows how to reconcile a bank account.

—At the same time, and again with his wife, draw up a family budget for the following year. This will help to give his wife a true appreciation of money management.

One final suggestion to husbands and wives from Mr. MacInnis:

"Check to make sure they are legally married.

Unemployment Costs Rise to $2.014 Billion

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment insurance benefit payments to the end of July totalled about $2.014 billion, 43 per cent higher than the total for the same period in 1974 Statistics Canada reported Monday.

The pay-out for all of last year was $2.116 billion.

Benefit payments this year have been pushed up by the highest jobless rate in 14 years, over seven per cent; a larger numbr of persons covered by the plan; and increased average benefits because of higher earnings.

Government officials have been expecting the cost of the unemployment insurance program to climb markedly and legislation has been introduced in Parliament to raise premiums levied on the working public.

The benefit pay-out for July rose sharply over the total for the same month in 1974, rising to $255 million from $159 million. The June total this year was $239 million.

Average weekly benefit paid out so far this year has been $83.58, up from $74.40 for the same period in 1974. To the end of July there had been 24 million weeks of benefit paid, up from 19 million for the same period seven-month last year.

Railwayman Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Calder Johnston, who started with Canadian National Railways as a telegraph operator in 1908 and retired in 1957 as assistant vice-president of operations, died Monday. He was 88. Mr. Johnston worked throughout Ontario and became assistant general manager of the railway's central region in 1946.

Needs Supplies

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Truong Tan of South Vietnam, a spokesman for the Peoples' Revolutionary Government (PRG), said Sunday his country is desperate for food, medical supplies and machines.

Wants Increase

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Freight Association plans to make an application for an increase of 10 per cent in rail rates for container shipping from east coast ports, a spokesman for Canadian National said Monday. He said a formal request for the tariff increase will be filed with the Canadian Transport Commission 30 days before Jan. 1, 1976, the date the railways expect it to become effective.

Demands Increases

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro reports that electrical demand in August increased 1.8 per cent from the same month last year because of dry weather conditions. Water-powered units supplied 34.3 per cent of energy generated in August, down from 41.2 per cent in August, 1974.

Major Victory

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — The left-wing of Britain's governing Labor party won a major victory at the party's annual conference today by ousting Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey from his seat on the national executive committee—the party's policy-making body.

He was beaten in the polling by Eric Heffer, an outspoken left-winger whom Prime Minister Harold Wilson sacked earlier this year as minister of industry for his anti-Common Market views.

Lisbon Talks

LISBON (AP) — Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, Portugal's security chief, joined Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo and leftist representatives for emergency talks early today as civilian barricades were being erected in Lisbon streets.

The conflict between the government and the revolutionary left deepened Monday with military occupation of the capital's leftist-controlled television and radio stations.

Train Crashes

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A commuter train crashed into the rear of stopped passenger train Monday night 30 miles north of this Argentine capital, killing at least 30 persons and injuring about 100, police reported.

Some of the injured were in critical condition.

El Rosarino, which travels the 170 miles between Buenos Aires and Rosario daily, was waiting for a signal when the commuter train smashed into it.

OMA Head Says Doctors May Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Donald MacNeill, head of the Ontario Medical Association (OMA), says Ontario's doctors might strike if they do not receive fee increases of between 35 and 50 per cent in 1976.

Dr. MacNeill said Monday that doctors submitted fee requests to a joint provincial government-medical committee on physicans compensation 10 days ago.

"I think the government will be very loathe to consider paying an increase of that size," he said. "But we've just reached the end of our patience."

Dr. MacNeill said Ontario doctors' fees rose 7.75 per cent last year and four per cent this year under the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP), but these increases had not kept pace with doctors' rising living costs.

Doctors might opt out of the OHIP plan and bill patients directly at higher than OHIP rates or withdraw their services except for emergencies, he said.

He added that opinion among doctors is split. At a recent meeting, doctors in northwestern Ontario seemed unwilling to withdraw services. But northeastern Ontario doctors at a weekend meeting in North Bay appeared to support strike action, he said.

Health Minister Frank Miller said Monday the province is preparing a counter-offer but refused to discuss it or the increase sought by the doctors.

Although OHIP doctors' fees rose by 7.75 per cent last year, gross billing to the province went up by 16 per cent during the same time, he said.

Mr. Miller said the increase in billing might mean doctors are spending less time with each patient while billing the province the same amount for each person, or it might mean doctors are working longer hours.

Dr. MacNeill said the figure would reflect an increase of about five per cent in the number of doctors with practices in Ontario.

Mr. Miller, who said he saw no possibility of a doctors' strike in the foreseeable future, estimated that the average net income for full-time doctors in Ontario is about $43,000 a year.

New Oil Agreement Pressures Prices Here

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Alastair Gillespie, newly-appointed federal energy minister, said Monday the 10-per-cent increase in crude oil prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) is putting "upward pressure" on retail gasoline prices in Canada

Mr. Gillespie said at a news conference consumers will not feel an immediate effect but the federal government will have to cushion the increasing pressure.

"It tends to increase the adverse trade balance we have at the present time because we are a net importer of oil," Mr. Gillespie said. "When the price of oil goes up, even though we give more to the United States in exports, there is a net deficit."

The minister said he could not predict how long retail gasoline prices will remain unchanged.

"There are only two ways to cope with this," he said. "Either growing subsidies from the consolidated revenue fund or the price of oil will have to inch upward."

The new price for benchmark Arabian light crude oil of $11.51 a barrel of 35 imperial gallons—up from $10.46—is expected to add about one cent a gallon to U.S. gasoline and fuel prices.

The increase will have little impact in Canada where the government pays the difference between the import price and a domestic price of $8 a barrel.

The minister said Canada has gone over many hurdles since the first major oil price increase in the fall of 1973.

"There are many more problems ahead for us," he said. "We've got to find ways to persuade the public to change its habits, to adopt new attitudes towards energy.

"This is not going to be easy. It is going to mean ultimate changes in lifestyles for many people"

Harris Says Hearst Tricked by Parents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Emily Harris, a member of the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA), says Patricia Hearst was tricked by her parents and lawyers into signing an affidavit in which she said she was brainwashed and tortured by the SLA.

"Who is brainwashing whom?" Mrs. Harris said Monday in a statement taped from her jail cell in Los Angeles.

She described Miss Hearst as a "truly beautiful woman who is being manipulated by her parents' into abandoning her SLA comrades, Mrs. Harris and her husband William.

"Since our capture, the Hearst empire has put into motion all the power and influence that blood money can buy," Mrs. Harris said. "The two of us are the sacrifices this time."

Meanwhile, one of Miss Hearst's lawyers said at a San Francisco news conference Monday that psychiatrists have expressed concern that she may try to commit suicide if she is forced to remain in her San Mateo County jail cell.

Lawyer Terence Hallinan said Miss Hearst's mental health is rapidly deteriorating in the jail.

"She's been spaced out. It's harder to get her to talk. She becomes overwhelmed by tears much faster. She cannot even begin to get into these areas that her mind has closed on."

Hallinan said Miss Hearst should be transferred immediately from the jail to a hospital for psychiatric treatment.

In other developments in the Hearst case:

—U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter postponed for one week a hearing scheduled today on Miss Hearst's mental competence to be cross examined. The judge was told that psychiatrists' tests on the heiress are not ready.

—Steven Soliah, a 27-year-old housepainter, pleaded not guilty Monday to charges of harboring Miss Hearst and being an accessory after the fact in a bank robbery.

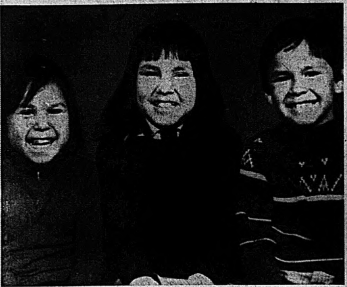
Today's Child

by Helen Allen



GORDON, CHRISSIE AND MOLLY

Seeing these pleasant smiles you'll have no doubt they belong to good-natured children. The healthy, happy trio will be a fine family for parents with the desore and the ability to welcome two daughters and a son into their lives.

Molly, seven, Chrissie, 11 and Gordon, eght, are Indian in descent and good-looking youngsters, as the camera tells you. They are in the same foster home. Like most brothers and sisters they have some family squabbles but get on well together. The battles are usually between the younger two, becuase Molly doesn't like Gordon's teasing. Their older sister seems to assume the "mother" role. These children are deeply attached and should be adopted together.

All are a bit behind in school, probably because of irregular attendance before they came into the care of the Children's Aid Society. Chrissie and Gordon are working hard to catch up, but Molly is having difficulties. Her teacher has not been pushing her, saying it will be best if she progresses slowly so she will get a good grounding.

The three are friendly and talkative, sociable even with strangers. They play happily with young friends.

Their foster mother finds them easy to care for. Molly has a temper and occasionally lets it fly but the others seldom need discipline. All are good sleepers and good eaters who seem to like everything offered to them. They do assigned household chores.

They are alike in being fond of music and they take piano lessons. Chrissie is doing very well. Gordon and Molly have just started but are enthusiastic even about practising.

Chrissie enjoys reading and coloring and in winter likes to skate. Gordon is an excellent skater and being keen on hockey he plays in an organized league.

Molly is neat and tidy (except in her school work.) She is good at coloring.

These children need parents who will give them much love and attention and who will help them catch up on the things they've missed - both in family affection and in general knowledge and experience. Since they are accustomed to other children, brothers and sisters might be an asset in their adoption home.

To inquire about adopting Molly, Chrissie and Gordon, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Comunity and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life.

Training Sessions Open For Telecare Volunteers

Who do you talk to when you don't have a friend to turn to? You might think the answer is yourself or no one . . . but in fact, there is someone out there who will listen to your troubles. That person is at the other end of the phone when you dial Telecare.

Operating in Belleville since 1967, Telecare (formerly Lifeline) has 90 men and women who handle calls on a rotating basis. Peter Potstra, current director of the 24-hour service, estimates that there are now an average of four or five calls every day.

Often the calls come from individuals who can't sleep and who need to break the lonely hours of the night by talking about their worries or fears. And often their voices are blurred by alcohol or sleeping pills. But the Telecare telephone workers must take the calls seriously, no matter what the caller's condition.

Occasionally urgent calls have come that have required direct assistance or intervention by Telecare workers, who send police or ambulance in an emergency. But usually their role is simply to listen, and to make information available that might be useful to the caller.

They'll suggest places where help is available — lawyers, doctors, family and social services, clergy or police — so that persons in need at least know where to go. But the actual seeking of help, and the attempt to solve problems, is left to the callers themselves, in the belief that every situation is, in the end, up to the individual.

The ability to give sympathy and support without giving direct "advice" is a skill that doesn't come naturally to many people. Consequently, Telecare workers are given an 18-week course to prepare them for their job.

The course, in understanding human relations and in learning to listen compassionately, teaches techniques to effectively draw people out so that they can see what solutions are available to them. Medical, legal, spiritual and social advisers will conduct the classes, during which those attending will be divided into small groups for closer inter-personal training.

The course will feature role-playing, in order to practise telephone conversations dealing with common problems. During these sessions, individuals will discover whether or not they are suited to this kind of endeavor. If they don't feel comfortable, they can quit. But at least, say Telecare organizers, anyone who has attended the classes will have derived some personal benefit.

The course, which begins October 7 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, has a $5 charge for materials but is otherwise cost-free. In the past, the sessions have trained 30 or 40 persons, but as many as 50 can be accommodated.

Anyone interested in attending the course should call Telecare at 962-4111.

WCTU MEETING

Amy Wilson was hostess for the recent meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Florence Hobbs led in prayer before the singing of hymns.

Edith Fife introduced guest speaker Betty White, who spoke on "Christ is the answer."

IODE Holds Annual Show

The third annual art show and sale, sponsored by the Hon. J.R. Cooke chapter IODE Stirling got underway Saturday half-an-hour early as anxious shoppers packed Stirling Community Hall.

Hundreds of people toured the hall until 10 p.m. looking at works by Stirling artists Madeline McIntosh, Jerry Stapley, Margaret Wood; Jack Downey, Larry Hick, Gary Barr, and Willi Killian; Belleville artists Edna Henderson, Freda Eves, Evelyn Luttrell, Phillip Till and Lois E. Clarke of Corbyville.

Decoupage by Karen Sager was displayed; wall plaques by Ginny Nurses, weaving by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dymond and ceramics and pottery by Mrs. Pearl White.

The IODE chapter, which sponsors local high school students with bursaries, collects 15 per cent commission from the items sold. Last year more than $1,500 worth of paintings were sold.

Argyll IODE Opens Season

At the September meeting of the Argyll Chapter I.O.D.E., Regent Joan Birkenshaw thanked the members who had assisted at Red Cross blood donor clinics and a Citizenship Court tea during the summer months.

Several committee reports were submitted. Marjorie Scott, educational secretary brought forward several suggestions to make the best use of educational funds, by way of donations of books to schools in our own community promoting Canadian Folk Lore (historical events and famous Canadian personalities who have helped to shape our nation), and by showing an active interest in the history of our community and concern for its preservation.

Olga Allan, services secretary, acknowledged the many knitted and sewn articles made for distribution. She also made an appeal for donations of used eye glasses which are badly needed in many areas.

The evening closed with a talk by Freda Vaughan, who described experiences that she and her husband had shared during a visit to the North West Territories. She told of the discovery of a small wooden building at Inuvik, built by local help with supplies provided fifteen years ago by the I.O.D.E. and used as a Community Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Goegan

Goegan — Whalen

Holy Rosary Church was the setting for the August wedding of Janet Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Whalen, and Michael Goegan, son of Eileen Goegan and the late Fiori Goegan. Father George officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer over sharkskin, with a high mandarin neckline and a bodice, sleeves and empire waist that featured Alencon lace trim. An unattached train had the same lace trim, and the two-tier veil, alling from a headpiece of lace and seed pearls, was also edged with lace. She carried red roses.

Bonnie Whalen, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a pink floral gown and a wide brimmed white hat trimmed with pink ribbon, and carried daisies.

Marion Bowers, Linda Robb, Gail Robb, Patti Wilson and Sue Bennett were bridesmaids in matching outfits, identical to the maid of honor but in blue.

Garnet Bowers was the best man. Grant and Gary Goegan, the groom's brothers, were ushers with Bill Whalen, the bride's brother, Rodney Hinze and Tom Helm.

A dinner and dance reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Goegan now live at RR 3, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kenny

Kenny — Maracle

Rev. Ted Davey officiated at the August marriage of Gerald Kenny and Dale Maracle in Kingscourt United Church. The bride was given in marriage by her brother Doug Maracle and attended by matron of honor Lee Sudds. Roger Seale was the groom's best man. After a trip to Ottawa and eastern Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny now reside at RR 3, Kingston.

Big Loser Really a Winner

WELLESLEY, Ont. (CP) — Some people think Marilyn Lotz's husband is running around with another woman since the 36-year-old mother of two lost 189 pounds.

Two-and-a-half years ago Mrs. Lotz weighed 335 pounds, says she looked 50 years old, wore a size 50-plus dress and took medication three times daily for high blood pressure.

Today she's 146 pounds, barely looks her age, takes a size 14 dress and takes no medication because her blood pressure has returned to normal.

"I still have the feeling I'm going to wake up and find it's a dream. You walk past a store wndow and see yourself and you have to go back and look again."

Mrs. Lotz began gaining weight when her first child, John, now 18, was born. (She was 155 pounds when she was married).

She felt as though she tripled her weight with the birth of her second child, Linda, now 14.

But other things helped, too "I was a pasta nut and I put gravies and sauces on everything,' she said. "I drank anything wet. I really enjoyed beer."

The Lotz's hydro bill dropped when Mrs. Lotz began dieting. Formerly she baked every day. She'd start out with a batch of cookies, proceed to butter tarts, maybe a cake and then some pies. Homemade bread was another downfall.

She'd eat half of everything she baked. Now she bakes only every few days and eats none of it.

"A lot of things led up to it," Mrs. Lotz said of the new life-style.

Two relatives, both with high cholesterol levels and heart attacks and died. Her doctor spelled out her chances. After spending a weekend in a hotel in Northern Ontario, she heard the gasp of other hotel guests when she went to the dining room.

She returned home determined to do something about the situation.

A Counterweight group was operating in nearby New Hamburg and she decided to join. But she hadn't the nerve to weigh in at the weight she was.

Her doctor prescribed a diet which included a series of three-day fasts and she got down to 294 pounds then joined the dieting group.

Now, less 189 pounds, Mrs. Lotz said her husband is "still stunned."

Ann Landers

She's Earned Her Title, Says Domestic Engineer

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Professional Engineer" who is upset because a housewife wrote in and suggested that she and others who stay at home and work be called "Domestic Engineers."

While he was "pounding the books" I spent my time in doctors' offices and labor and delivery rooms. We have three sons. My "fraternity" was housework, colic, diapers and formulas.

"Professional Engineer" resents people taking his title without earning it. I wonder what he calls washing diapers with a wringer-machine, draping them over radiators to dry, getting up for 1 a.m. and 4 a.m. feedings, nursing sick kids, and giving up all social life for umpteen years. I figure I've earned any kind of title I want to hang on myself.

"Professional Engineer" worked five years. Big deal. I've worked for nine years—and quitting time is nowhere in sight. There are millions more like me. Just sign us—Domestic Engineers, Magna Cum Laude

Dear Magna: If the title makes you feel better, go ahead and use it. You're entitled.

Dear Ann Landers: In regard to the question posed to you by a reader recently, "Can a woman be found guilty of rape?"—you quoted a prominent Chicago attorney who said, "Yes."

That answer was in reference to the possibility of a woman forcing a man to have sexual relations against his will. I read a few days ago of a landmark case in the Philippines where a woman was sentenced to life imprisonment for rape. It seems she pinned down another woman while her husband raped the woman in an attempt to introduce her to prostitution.

So—add this to your "What's The World Coming To List Of Freaky Happenings." — Philadelphia Reader

Dear Phil: The list is getting longer every day. Who needs to add to it? The case you cite in the Philippines is one where the woman was an accomplice, however, which is different from the question raised by the original writer. But thanks for informing us of the landmark case. It's a real weirdo.

City Must Help Cut Home Costs Says Builder

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

There must be more cooperation between developers and municipal councils in the fight against the high price of housing, says Bob Marcotte, president of the Quinte Home Builders Association.

Mr. Marcotte said in an interview Monday, he will advise his association at its next executive meeting to formally approach city hall and ask for increased municipal participation in the fight against prices.

Increasingly stringent demands on developers have lead to a feeling among builders that councils are legislating Cadillac subdivisions when people can only afford Volkswagen models.

"Whenever there is a cost added onto the subdivision — from whatever source — the added price is reflected directly in the selling price of the house," said Mr. Marcotte.

Mr. Marcotte said there are a number of municipal requirements on subdivisions that could be deleted — and the saving passed on to the home buyer. Rolled curbs, grassed ditches rather than storm sewers (where practical), no sidewalks on dead end and cul-de-sac roadways and zero lot lines allowing houses to be constructed closer together are some ways to reduce costs, he said.

"I sympathize with council . . . knowing it gets the complaints when problems occur in a development . . . but council must begin weighing the cost of all the requirements," he said.

Mr. Marcotte said the subdividers' liaison committee "must start meeting more frequently with council in an attempt to reduce the cost of housing."

Until now, the committee has been meeting when city requirements were coming along that would increase the cost of a development, he said. "We've had excellent cooperation,' said Mr. Marcotte.

Now, "we must start meeting to bring down the cost,' he said.

"We aren't interested in bringing down costs to increase our profit," he said.

"If we can pass the savings along to the home buyer . . we can stimulate the industry and more houses will be sold," he said.

"Developer is not a dirty word," said Mr. Marcotte anticipating comments that builders might be lining their own nests. "It is the developer who puts the money out and takes the risks.

New Plant Under Way

Cornerstone Builders Ltd. superintendant George Weymark watches on as workmen unload concrete blocks for construction of a 40,000-square-foot manufacturing plant. Company officials expect the owners, Tru-Glass Ltd. will be able to take over the building in December. The plant is expected to hire up to 80 employees.

Tru-Glass Work Force May Double: Official

The 40,00-square-foot plant to house Tru-Glass Ltd. in Belleville's north west industrial park will be complete by Christmas, a spokesman for Cornerstone Builders Ltd said Monday.

The firm announced several months ago that it will move its head office into Belleville with the plant employing approximately 40 people.

City economic development commissioner Fred Bemis relayed information from the Quebec - based company Monday that initial staffing could climb as high as 80.

Currently, structural steel has been fitted in place at the site and a says project superintendant George Weymark, "construction will employ as many as 50 workers at peak periods."

Once in operation, the firm will manufacture special glass products for the transportation industry.

Brian Holmes, principal of the building firm, said during an interview the building will cost in excess of $500,000 to construct.

Within the next two weeks a metal roof will be installed on the plant and concrete block walls should be complete.

"Sophisticated" equipment - some coming from as far off as England, should begin arriving at the plant by mid November, said Mr. Holmes.

Home-made Plane Recreates Earliest Days of Aviation

The seagull also couldn't help but notice Ted.

The plane the one-time Bellevillian flew from Ottawa puts the pilot out front among the birds — and anything else that happens to be airborne.

Its design is an attempt to capture the visual and physical spirit of the earliest days of aviation.

Like many a design of those vintage years, the motor is behind the wings; the structural framework is uncovered. That's the visual effect. Here's where the physical exhilaration comes in: The pilot perches up front, straddling the undercarriage — and running interference from wind pressure. That's the reason the machine was christened "The Breezy."

Its designer — a United States "amateur" — followed no specific patterns, said Ted.

"I think his intent was to get something as close to the Wright Brothers as he could," he added.

The explanations came at Belleville airport.

It was here the aircraft was parked for the night midway on a trip to Toronto from Ottawa.

The homebuilt aerial novelty is the property of the Experimental Aircraft Association's Toronto chapter. It was borrowed for the Ottawa Air Show two weeks ago.

Police Issue Warning On Use of Footpath

A young Belleville boy's encounter with an unknown person on a footpath between Bell Blvd. and Tracey St. in the city's north end late Monday has resulted in a city police warning about use of the path at night.

Chief Douglas Crosbie said today Robert Sinclair of 35 Lemoine St. was using the footpath at about 10 p.m. when he was approached by a man who demanded money.

However, the man was discouraged when Robert kicked him in the shin and fled, Chief Crosbie said. It is not known what happened to the man.

Chief Crosbie pointed out several occurences have been reported on the footpath including an alleged rape attack in July. It is a popular route for area residents to take to the Quinte Mall and will be the object of extra police patrols, he added.

"It is an ideal location for crimes of any nature to be commited at night," the police chief commented.

Another Smith Leaves

Dr. Robert S. Smith has resigned as director of Belleville General Hospital's laboratory medicine and as director of the school of medical laboratory technology, the BGH Board of Governors was told Friday. He has accepted the appointment of director of laboratories at Regina General Hospital and professor of pathology at Regina University. It is all effective Nov. 1 but Dr. Smith will be on vacation from Sept. 29 to Oct. 31. Dr. Patrick N. Cassidy, associate pathologist, has been appointed to Dr. Smith's former position and BGH will soon appoint a new associate pathologist.

No Takers for Board's Pregnant Student Class

To date the Hastings County Board of Education has no takers for its new program designed to bring a group of pregnant students together for instructional purposes.

Last spring the board devised a scheme whereby two or more girls could be brought together in some part of the county for instruction on academic matters as well as some guidance from medical personnel. The program was based on whether the special class could be operated on an economical basis.

In normal procedure a pregnant student who wishes to continue her studies is tutored by a special home instruction teacher.

Don Lockyer, acting superintendent of special services, said Monday that the circumstances have not arisen whereby two more pregnant students can be brought together for a special class. However, he said some students this fall are receiving home instruction during their pregnancy. Mr. Lockyer was unable to give exact figures.

The board has never released exact figures on the number of pregnant students in its system but last year the board's home-hospital instructor estimated that at least 30 girls a year leave the system due to pregnancy.

Mr. Lockyer said school officials are aware of the new arrangements but to date there has been no response for the program.

Several other boards of education across Ontario have similar programs designed to keep pregnant students in school and avoid missing a year's work.

Newsmakers

Smith Welcomed

City Ald. Jean Smith was formally welcomed as a new member of the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors Friday. She fills the position left vacant when Mayor Ben Corke was shifted to assume the seat of former mayor Robin Jeffrey. Mayor Corke retains the chairmanship of board's finance and audit committee.

Anderson Retires

Dr. Reginald M. Anderson, Belleville General Hospital's medical director, will retire Dec. 31. The BGH Board of Governors was told Friday advertisements are being placed in appropriate journals for a replacement.

Bloom Appointed

Jeff A. Bloom, 25, of Willowdale will become Belleville General Hospital's new evening administrator Oct. 6. The BGH Board of Governors was informed Friday he has a B.Sc. from the University of Toronto and has completed a two-year hospital administration course. His residency was at Wellesley Hospital and he should obtain his D.H.A. in November.

Centre Open ..Oct. 1

Belleville General Hospital's new department, the patient referral centre, will take effect Oct. 1. The BGH Board of Governors was told Friday the centre is the amalgamation of the home care department and the discharge planning service.

Bus Damaged

No one was reported injured when an unknown vandal threw a rock through a window of Belleville Transit Commission bus No. 31 at the corner of Isabel and West Bridge streets late Monday.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today no one observed the assailant. Damage was estimated at $40.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today:

Monday, Sept. 29, 8.25 p.m. wood shed full of garbage destroyed by fire at rear of vacant house at 28 East Dundas St., owned by the Keegan estate, set by persons unknown, no damage figure available, building to be boarded up due to fire.

Monday, Sept. 29, 9.31 p.m. — fire in trash container at Quinte Secondary School on West College St., no damage, cause unknown.

Education Director

Isabel Rubin, education director for the Ontario division of the Canadian Cancer Society, told members of the Belleville branch Monday the society's education program now is aimed at the kindergarten level.

New Firm Nears Production

Procter and Gamble Co. should be in full-scale production by January, a company spokesman said Monday.

Approximately 90 new staff members were started off on training courses Monday morning — bringing the new plant's staff to 185. Earlier this summer 95 successful applicants began training to handle the machinery which eventually will produce Pampers diapers.

Dave Miller, a public relations officer, said some of the staff hired will be working on the plant's six production lines and the remainder working in other related support areas.

Two of the production lines are already functional and production on these two should begin sometime this October, said Mr. Miller.

Workmen and still installing the equipment for the remaining four production lines, he said.

Once into operation, the plant staff will work in three shifts producing the disposable diapers.

TV Stolen

City police are seeking a thief who stole a $900 television set late Monday from the residence of Jocelyn Boyd of 34 Maple Dr. in Belleville.

Chief Douglas Crosbie said today Mrs. Boyd was at work at the time and had left her children with a babysitter. At about 10 p.m., the babysitter heard a noise, became frightened and took the children to her house, he said.

Cancer Society Program Aims at Youngsters

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

The Cancer Society of Canada doesn't incorporate hard sell tactics in their education program to get their point across. And programs now are aimed at young people-kindergarten level, says Isabel Rubin, education chairman of the Canadian Cancer Society of Ontario.

Mrs. Rubin was speaking to members of the Belleville and District Cancer Society at their annual meeting Monday night.

"When you start smoking young, you'll never quit. We talk to the kids before they ever taste a cigarette," she said.

Mrs. Rubin said an education kit which she devised, contains the popular film about the character 'Celly' is aimed at initiating discussion and creativity; not telling the children what is right and wrong.

"It's a health awareness program; not an anti-smoking campaign," she said. "We never mention the word cancer — let's face it, we don't want to turn the kids off."

She said negative feelings about the campaign have been expressed by teachers who smoke heavily and schools located in tobacco-growing areas. "But we'll get there," Mrs. Rubin said.

The high school program is aimed specifically at the girls who are given instructions about breast self-examination and pap tests.

Adult seminars are also being staged for nurses to help them deal mentally with cancer patients. Mrs Rubin said the first workshop for the clergy will be hled in November in Chatham to help them deal with the same problem

Bessie Marsh New President

Bessie Marsh, former education chairman of the Canadian Cancer Society, Belleville branch, was named the 1975-76 president of the local branch at the annual meeting Monday night.

Past president is Shirley Woodcox.

Mrs. Marsh said she plans to stress personal contact in the cancer society. She also encouraged young people to take an active part in the society's education program.

New President

Two Found Guilty On Mischief Charge

Two Toronto men pleaded guilty in provincial court Monday on a charge of public mischief following a fruitless 10-hour search by police Sept. 15 for a reported truck hijacker armed with a gun.

Pleading guilty before Judge J. L. Clendenning, were Mario Simonelli, 21, and Clifford Michael Nolan, 18. The case was remanded in provincial court here for sentencing Oct. 27.

The charge stemmed from a report to provincial police early Sept. 15 that a transport-trailer driver and passenger were ordered by a gun-wielding man at a Cobourg-area service station to drive him east on Highway 401.

The transport subsequently became lost on a Thurlow Township road, northeast of Belleville, where the man reportedly fled on foot into the woods.

An extensive search by police and tracking dogs proved fruitless.

Taking in the View

Twin City Visits May Become Annual Undertaking

At least, spokesmen from both Belleville and Lahr favor such a development.

But, although his trip is not official business, the visit of Lahr's top administrator is one of the latest in a number of exchanges between both centres since twinning in 1972.

Lahr citizens now are planning to return the mass visit in September, 1976.

But, Mayor Ben Corke, told the supper reception for the Kohlers: "We're already talking about a friendship flight to Lahr in 1977."

Later, in an interview, he said such mass exchange flights between both centres could become regular events.

"I don't see why not. They're so successful," said Mayor Corke.

Herr Kohler spoke enthusiastically of such flights.

"When we started the twinning . . . we never thought this exchange could have reached such expansion," he told the reception at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club.

Next time Bellevillians come in such numbers, plans already are to increase the contact with Lahr's citizenry at large — with more homes being opened to the visitors, he said.

Later, in conversation, the Lahr administrator said more friendship flights were hoped for — with exchange visits for each centre on alternate years as likely the best plan.

"The people in Lahr are very enthusiastic about that (June) visit," he said.

Cancer Claims Casey Stengel, Baseball's 'Ol Perfessor'

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Casey Stengel, baseball's "Old Perfesser" who piloted one New York team to unprecedented triumphs and another to amazingly popular losses, died Monday night. He was 85.

His death came only a few hours after a family spokesman disclosed that Stengel had terminal cancer of the lymph glands.

CASEY STENGEL

A spokesman at Glendale Memorial Hospital, where Stengel was admitted on Sept. 14 for a check-up, said the time of death was 10:58 p.m., PDT (1:58 a.m. EDT Tuesday).

Stengel, enshrined at Cooperstown in the Baseball Hall of Fame at the age of 76, gained the reputation of a shrewd field manager in his years of success with New York Yankees. Yet it was his splintered syntax, his grizzled countenance and his colorful, crowd-pleasing capers during 56 years in the sport—the last four with the then-fledgling New York Mets—that made him one of the most recognizable personalities in the world of athletics.

In one of his last interviews, Stengel, on the eve of his 85th birthday last July, said he wouldn't go into baseball again if he had it all to do over.

"Baseball. Baseball. Oh no, I wouldn't go into baseball again," said Casey. "I would, ah, oh, what do you call it. What's this here stuff when you get to the moon. I'd be an astronaut. I loved the moon."

The baseball career of Charles Dillon Stengel ended as a manager. It included 25 years in the major leagues and halted when he quit as skipper of the Mets in 1965 after breaking his hip in a fall.

In four years, the popular but perennially last-place Mets, a National League expansion team, set records for defeats. But from 1949 to 1960, Stengel directed the Yankees to 10 American League pennants and seven World Series championships, an accomplishment unprecedented in the annals of baseball.

"It shows that some men go up and down, when you're winning and when you're losing," said Stengel.

"I don't go around and disturb them too much," Casey said in a 1972 interview of the Mets. "They are doing good. If the owner or anybody wants my opinion, I'll give it to them, but I don't tell them what to do."

Stengel credited investments made by his wife, Edna, whom he married in 1924, for his millionaire status. He was a vice-president of a bank in Glendale. The Stengels had no children. Mrs. Stengel suffered a stroke earlier this year and has been in a nursing home.

As a player, Stengel said: "I was considered fairly good at certain times.'

One of them was when he batted .368, and "I thought I hit safely every time up. I'd say, 'My goodness! Two hits in this game, three in that game, and I was only second in the league. Bill Terry or somebody was 50 points higher.'"

As a banker, he said, "I'm very satisfied in this business. Before, everybody told me, 'Don't go into this because everybody will write you and want to borrow money. That's true.'"

As a manager, Stengel seemingly was washed up almost before he got started when he couldn't get old Boston Braves higher than fifth place between 1938 and 1943.

His last year there he suffered a broken leg when a taxi hit him. A Boston sports writer suggested the driver be awarded a plaque as the citizen who had done the most for Boston that year.

Nine years later, Ty Cobb said of the same Stengel:

"Casey deserves to be in the Hall of Fame. He has shown the greatest ability to manage a ball club and deserves credit as the top manager of all time."

Stengel was born July 30, 1890, in Kansas City—whose initials contributed his nickname. He started dental school but turned to professional baseball to finance his studies and did so well he dropped dentistry.

He broke into the minors in 1910, was bought by the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1912. A 22-year-old left-handed outfielder, he played for Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies before joining New York Giants in 1921.

In the 1923 World Series he hit the home runs which won the only two games the Giants won against New York Yankees. The next year he was traded to the Braves, and a year later became a manager.

He came to be known as "the Ol' Perfessor' of the ballparks. Although he was considered a hunch player, experts admitted that his choices of pinch-hitters and relief pitchers were remarkably effective.

He was the archetype of the gruff, gravel-voiced, tough-looking manager—with the heart of gold.

Stengel's colorful use of English came to be called "Stengelese." In July of 1958, while testifying before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, he was asked whether baseball should be exempted from anti-trust laws. Said Stengel:

"Well, I would have to say at the present time, I think baseball has advanced in this prespect for the player help. That is an amazing statement for me to make, because you can retire with an annuity at 50 and what organization in America allows you to retire at 50 and receive money?

"I want to further state that I am not a ballplayer, that is, put into that pension fund committee. At my age, and I have been in baseball, well, I will say I am possibly the oldest man who is working in baseball. I would say that when they start an annuity for the ballplayers to better their conditions, it should have been done, and I think it has been done."

The minutes record the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's comment:

"Mr. Stengel, I am not sure that I have made my question clear."

Baiting umpires was a Stengel speciality. The fans loved him.

It was his colorful antics on the field which helped the Mets, despite their losing ways, attract more than 1.6 million home fans 1965 by the time Stengel retired in August.

Once when he was managing Brooklyn he took off his hat on the field—and a swallow flew out of his hair.

Sometimes, to demonstrate his shock at an umpire's decision, Stengel would keel over in a mock faint. One day when he tried it the umpire, Beans Reardon, did the same thing.

"When I peew I was licked," said Stengel. "So I got up and walked away."

Canadian Earns Assignment

Reggie Will Record a First

By NEIL CAMPBELL

The Canadian Press

Reggie Cleveland is about to become the first Canadian pitcher ever to start a baseball playoff or World Series game.

Manager Darrell Johnson of Boston Red Sox says the 27-year-old Swift Current, Sask., native will start either the second or third game in the best-of-five American League final with Oakland A's.

A Red Sox spokesman said Monday in a telephone interview Cleveland is most likely to start the second game Sunday afternoon at Fenway Park. The third game is Tuesday night at Oakland.

A series of strong performances during Boston's September drive to clinch the American League East title earned Cleveland the starting assignment.

He won four games to help the Red Sox stand off a late drive by Baltimore Orioles in the final month.

The victories included a 7-4 win over New York Yankees on Sept. 2 that stopped a three-game losing streak just before the start of an important series with the Orioles, two wins in six days against Milwaukee Brewers and a five-hit, 4-0 triumph over Cleveland Indians on Friday night.

On Sept. 17, he allowed only four hits in five innings of shutout relief in a 5-2 loss to Baltimore.

Cleveland finished this season with a 13-9 record, but as late as July he was a mop-up man whose career with the Red Sox appeared to be in some jeopardy.

Getting occasional starts and relief assignments, he watched his earned-run average soar to 5.38 on July 6 before work with pitching coach Stan Williams began to have its effect.

Coach Don Zimmer suggested that when he had seen Cleveland with St. Louis Cardinals, he came over the top more and didn't hang his sliders the way he had been with Boston.

Those hung sliders were producing opposition homers, a special problem for a pitcher working at Fenway Park, regarded as a hitter's park. When they stopped hanging, he allowed only two homers in his last seven outings, probably another reason he'll start against Oakland.

His best outing against the A's this season was Aug. 8, when he lost 3-2. The only hits he gave up were a homer by Reggie Jackson, a single by Billy Williams and a homer by Gene Tenace, all in the eighth inning.

He beat Oakland 7-3 with a seven-hitter on May 21 and had allowed only five hits and three runs when he left with one out in the seventh inning of a 5-2 loss to the A's on May 12.

Cleveland came to the Red Sox last year and had a poor season, partly because of weight problems, and felt the wrath of Fenway's critical fans.

"I know I had a lousy year, but while I never made excuses while I was getting ripped, my knee (hurt in Venezuela) was killing me," he explains. "I couldn't push off and, until this spring, was unable to do much of anything."

REGGIE CLEVELAND

Before Bill Sayles signed him for the Cardinals, Cleveland was an outstanding high school athlete in Cold Lake, Alta., and pitched a no-hitter in a Babe Ruth League game for Moose Jaw, Sask.

Although Cleveland will be the first Canadian pitcher to start a playoff game, two other Canadians have pitched in relief.

Ron Taylor of Toronto appeared as a relief pitcher for St. Louis in the 1964 World Series and for New York Mets in the 1969 National League playoffs and series, allowing seven hits without giving up a run.

John Hiller of Toronto finished the last two games of the 1972 American League playoff for Detroit.

No Complaints - Sparky

CINCINNATI (AP) — Although it still remains a question whether he will achieve his ultimate goal of a world baseball championship, Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson admits he has nothing to complain about this year.

"There is nothing in my wildest dreams that didn't come true this season," said Anderson, whose 1975 team shattered records like a bull in a music shop.

The Reds set a record for most victories at home by a National League club, 64; most consecutive errorless games and most incomplete games.

Team records were set by Tony Perez, runs batted in; Clay Carroll, pitching appearances, and the fans, in total attendance.

No team had won the National League pennant by 20 games since Chicago Cubs won a record 116 games in 1906.

Although Anderson predicted big things for his club in the spring, there were many things that he could not have forseen on the way to the club's 108 victories during the regular season.

"The biggest thing which I didn't expect was Gary Nolan coming back," said Anderson, of the pitcher who returned from a two-year layoff to win 15 games.

"I didn't expect the Foster and Rose thing, although I had thought about it." Anderson's move, bringing Pete Rose in to play third base and opening a spot for George Foster in the outfield, has been cited as one of the key reasons for the Reds' success this season.

Anderson said he worried at first after the Reds clinched the Western Division of the National League.

"The team went through a lull, but they brought themselves back. I didn't say a word to them."

Heading toward a showdown in the playoffs against Pittsburgh Pirates, the Reds finished the regular season by winning 10 of 11 games. They finished the season by coming from behind for the 45th time this season to win and took it in their final at bat for the 24th time.

"They are relaxed mentally," Anderson said. "This has been an easy season on this club. The pitching staff hasn't had to go into a three-man rotation but twice this season, and they are rested.

"Even Joe Morgan is going into the playoffs rested for once. In the past, he has always been either hurt or tired."

Carter Player of Year

MONTREAL (CP) — Rookie Gary Carter has been selected Montreal Expos player of the year in a vote by members of the Montreal chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America who travel with the National League baseball club.

Carter, a 21-year-old outfielder-catcher, received 3½ of the five votes. Third baseman Larry Parrish, also a rookie, received one vote and relief pitcher Dale Murray received half a vote.

Carter played in 144 games, hitting .270 and driving in a club-leading 68 runs. He was second on the team with 17 home runs, tied for second in hits with 136 and was third in doubles with 20.

The award carries a $5,000 cash prize and the Montreal-Matin Trophy.

Yes Some Managers Are Kept

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Weaver, Red McNamara are all going back to hear the cheers of baseball fans next year. Danny Ozark is going back too, but may hear some jeers.

Weaver, Schoendienst and McNamara are among the latest baseball managers to sign for the 1976 season. Ozark has been brought back to fulfil the end of his two-year contract despite voices of anger in Philadelphia.

EARL WEAVER

Weaver, one of the most successful managers in baseball, not unexpectedly signed for another season with Baltimore Orioles for a contract estimated at $85,000.

"There are other managerial jobs opening up,' said Baltimore general manager Frank Cashen, pointing to weekend firings in Minnesota and Milwaukee. "If Earl really wanted to hold out, maybe he could have done better elsewhere.'

But Weaver did not want to go elsewhere, as he pointed out after signing for his ninth season with the Orioles.

"Cashen knows that I'd rather stay in with Baltimore than go any other place," Weaver said.

Since replacing Hank Bauer as Baltimore manager in July, 1968, Weaver has guided the Orioles to a 724-477 record for a won-lost percentage of .60283. That beats out Cincinnati's Sparky Anderson (.60269) for second place behind Joe McCarthy for managers with five or more years' experience since 1900. Among his accomplishments, Weaver boasts a World Series triumph.

St. Louis Cardinals brought Schoendienst back for his 12th year. Under the unflappable redhead, the Cardinals have won 938 games and lost 835 for a percentage of .529. The Cardinals won two National League pennants and captured a World Series under the former Cardinal star.

RED SCHOENDIENST

"The 1975 season was the most disappointing I've had since I took over in 1965," said Schoendienst, whose Cardinals finished tied for third in the National League East. ' Injuries were a part of the problems we had, but that's not an excuse. Our pitching staff is young and maybe we expected too much from them too soon."

McNamara pulled San Diego Padres out of the cellar for the first time in the expansion club's history. The Padres finished with a 71-91 record for fourth place in the National League West.

Caribous Knock Out Quebecois

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Caribous defeated Montreal Quebecois 16-10 Monday night to win the Nations Cup with a 4-2 victory in the best-of-seven National Lacrosse League final series.

Gord Osinchuk scored three goals and Dave Durante, Terry Sanderson, Murray Cawker, Brian Wilson and Travis Cook two each for the Caribous, who got singles from Jim Higgs, Bruce Murdock and Brian Evans.

Montreal got three goals from John Davis and two from Ken Winzoski. Scoring singles for the losers were Ron Pinder, Dave Tasker, Ross Jones, Bruce Arena and Dave Litzenberger.

Quebec grabbed a 5-2 lead in the first period and expanded it to 10-4 in the second.

Montreal trailed the series 3-0 before winning the fourth game in Quebec City and the fifth in Montreal Saturday night. They outshot Quebec 60-49 in the final game.

A crowd of 9,185 saw the Caribous, fourth-place finishers in the regular season, win the second NLL playoff title. The Caribous, who played last year as Syracuse Stingers, knocked off regular-season champion Long Island Tomahawks in a semi-final.

You Pay Your Money And Take Your Choice

How's a body to think about picking winners in major league baseball's playoffs and, later, the World Series?

It's tough enough remembering who's managing what team this year, and most others, without turning "guesspert".

But those of us who grind out these offerings are somehow obliged to go on record with our selections.

There is nothing shattering about the announcement that Cincinnati Reds, National League West pennant winner with a whopping 108 wins and a 20-game edge over runnerup Los Angeles Dodgers, have been installed as the favorites in their matchup with Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nor is any stir caused when oddsmakers pick Oakland A's who captured the American League West flag with 98 wins, seven games in front of Kansas City Royals, over Boston Red Sox in that set.

The Reds seem unconcerned over the fact that no National League team opening these playoffs at home, has ever won the battle to get into the World Series.

With the credentials owned by Sparky Anderson's Big Red Machine, how could those people show the least anxiety over anything, never mind a jinx. No doubt about it, the Reds have the firepower to put the chase on anything, including a hex.

And who can argue with the popularity of those imposing A's?

One may find Charles O. Finley's operation in Oakland something less than palatable but there is no question the players are there. And they deliver the goods, whether they have any use for the man calling the shots, or prefer to regard him as a necessary evil.

Unless you agree that anything can and sometimes does happen in a short series, you would be taking a very big chance indeed by picking Pittsburgh and Boston to meet for all the marbles.

But that's exactly what I'm doing.

No, not backing my selections with money.

It's the same as picking Toronto teams.

Sometimes, the heart rules the head.

Now, hurry on out and put your money on the Reds and the A's.

Is there really any other choice?

Here we are again.

On the home front, it's worse.

It's impossible.

And each year, it seems, things become more of a jumble.

Didn't someone once say something about: if you can keep your head in all this confusion, you don't understand the situation . . . or words to that effect?

In this business, it fits.

Girls' Hockey League Registrations Are Up

Registration for the Belleville girls hockey league has already increased over last year's mark of 46 even though many parents aren't encouraging the girls to participate.

Betty Dodson, Rowena Hannah and Sharon Mitchell, members of the executive accepting the registration forms at Quinte Mall, agreed that many parents won't let their daughters play.

"A lot of mothers say the sport is too rough; I'd rather have my children playing hockey than hanging around the streets," said Mrs. Hannah.

"The biggest problem for the girls is just being accepted because they want to play hockey," added Mrs. Dodson.

Registration costs $8 and the girls fill out the regular form for the Minor Sports Association. This is the first year the league will be part of the association.

Special stipulations for the girls are the no swearing or earring - wearing rules but, other than that, they're treated just like the boys.

Except, says Mrs. Hannah, when it comes to ice time.

"We asked for three hours practice per week and only got two" she said.

Registration will continue at the Recreation Centre next week and Saturday only from 9.30 a.m. until 5.30 p.m. at Quinte Mall.

Revoy and Banelopoulos Give Picton the Ol' One-Two

Buffalo Bills have the Juice, last year Miami Dolphins had Larry Csonka, but what would those two clubs do if they had two runners of class A material.

Quinte Saints can answer that question very well. The Junior squad, behind the power drives of backs Ken Revoy and Paul Banelopoulos rolled to a lopsided 57-16 victory over Prince Edward Collegiate Monday in the only game in the Bay of Quinte Secondary School Football League.

Both Revoy and Banelopoulos charged for well over 200 yards apiece in yesterday's onslaught. Banelopoulos carried the ball into the end zone four time and his colleague, Revoy, counted three majors.

Quarterback Rob Goodfellow took one in himself and converted three others for a total of nine points and John Taylor drove for the ninth Quinte touchdown.

Peter Kempenaar, Picton quarterback, wasn't about to let the Saints defence take anything for granted. He combined with speedster Kevin Ferguson on a 70 yard pass and run play to account for Prince Edward's first major.

The visitors second TD came on an eight yard run by back Steve Allen. Both touchdowns were capped with two point conversions. One was credited to Bob Harrison and the other to Jeremy Brookes.

Rolfe's Future Is in Doubt

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers defenceman Dale Rolfe, a veteran of eight National Hockey League seasons, will not play this season and is expected to retire, it was learned Monday night.

Official announcement of Rolfe's release or retirement from the sport is expected today.

Rolfe, 35, had been attempting a comeback from a broken ankle suffered at Madison Square Garden last March 2. Exactly four years earlier, he had been traded to the Rangers by the Detroit Red Wings for now-retired forward Jim Krulicki.

The defenceman had skated with the club Monday afternoon but was told by team doctor James Nicholas before Monday night's pre-season game against Philadelphia Flyers that the injury had made him medically unfit to play.

"Dale has meant a heckuva lot to this hockey club," said Rangers general manager Emile Francis, who indicated Rolfe would announce his retirement.

"He is a very competent defenceman, but he suffered a tough injury. He was hoping it would come along but it hasn't, and it was the recommendation of the doctor that he not continue."

Rolfe spent eight seasons in the minor leagues before winning a full-time job with the NHL Los Angeles Kings in the 1967-68 season. The Kings traded him to Detroit on Feb. 20, 1970.

The 6-foot-4, 210-pound native of Timmins, Ont., was on the second year of a three-year contract, the remainder of which will be fulfilled by the Rangers, Francis said. In a total of 509 regular-season games, he scored 25 goals and 125 assists.

DALE ROLFE

Weak Defence Hurts

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Red Wings need improvements on defence before their National Hockey League season opener in nine days, coach Doug Barkley said Monday.

"Our defence is below NHL standards," Barkley said. "We only have three plyers who are qualified NHL defencemen. We know we have a problem."

To improve the outlook for the season, which opens at home against St. Louis on Oct. 8, Barkley said the Wings must either make a major trade or get a defenceman from Los Angeles Kings to compensate for Terry Harper, who refused to play for Detroit.

Harper was to go to the Wings as partial payment in the Marcel Dionne trade.

Czechs Impress Bobby Hull

PRAGUE (AP) — Only the strongest Canadian hockey team can play against either Czechoslovakia or the Soviet Union with a chance to win, Bobby Hull of Winnipeg Jets said in an interview carried today by the Czechoslovak Communist party newspaper Rude Pravo, the news agency CTK reported.

Hull, whose Jets of the World Hockey Association lost two games against the Czechoslovak national team in Prague 6-1 and 3-1 last week, said that Czechoslovakia has excellent players whose intelligence, individual technique and ability to improve are enhanced by their good physicial condition.

In the interview, Hull described rough, at times brutal play as a great problem of professional ice hockey, saying this negative trend has to be halted soon. He expressed satisfaction at the decision to permit professionals to play at world championships, adding he would like to take part in that tournament.

Asked to name an ideal world ice hockey team, he chose these players: Czechoslovak goalie Holecek, defencemn Bobby Orr, Canada, and Vasilyv, U.S.S.R., and forwards Kharlamov, U.S.S.R., Phil Esposito, Canada, and Yakushev, U.S.S.R.

Come Early —Ali

MANILA (AP) — Muhammad Ali fired off his final taunts and Joe Frazier let the smoke burn inside himself Monday in the smoldering hours before their 15-round rubber battle for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

"The showdown has come," bellowed Ali, the self-proclaimed instrument of Allah, turning the occasion into a burlesque road show. "Come early. Joe Frazier may sit down before you do.

"This fight will be the complete annihilation of Joe Frazier. It may end before the first round."

Frazier only gritted his teeth and punched the bag a little harder. From the ring, where he held his final workout, he told some 5,000 fans:

"On Wednesday, you will have a new champion."

The defending champion, Ali, was in full voice and high spirits while the one-time titleholder and challenger, Frazier, maintained a tremendous calm and refused any brash predictions of an early knockout.

"The fight will go one to 15 rounds," he said hoarsely. "I will be there. I ain't going nowhere."

The bout is scheduled Wednesday at 10:45 a.m., local time (Tuesday 10:45 p.m., EDT, in North America) in the 25,567-seat indoor coliseum. If every seat is taken as promoters predict, ranging from $330 for ringside to $4 in the gallery, the gate would be more than $1.8 million, an indoor record.

Rough Going In NHL Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

National Hockey League players apparently are taking little heed of the $9,050 warning issued last week by league president Clarence Campbell.

The $9,050 was the total of fines assessed by Campbell against players on four teams for fights in two NHL pre-season games Sept. 21. But Monday night, the rough play continued.

The major incident came in a game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Washington Capitals at London, Ont., when Leafs defenceman Dave Dunn tangled with Capitals forward Mike Marson.

The second-period scrap prompted a bench-clearing incident after which Marson and Leafs captain Darryl Sittler were both thrown out of the game which saw the Capitals emerge with a 4-1 victory.

Another incident developed in Mondays game between Atlanta Flames and New York Islanders at Uniondale, N.Y., when Atlanta goalie Dan Bouchard was thrown out of the game for protesting an Islanders' goal. His protest included throwing his glove at referee Andy van Hellemond.

The Islanders won that game 5-1.

Two other NHL exhibition matches saw New York Rangers beat Philadelphia Flyers 5-3 and Los Angeles Kings defeat California Seals 5-3.

Dunn and Marson began their hostilities in the first period. In the second period, Dunn emerged from the penalty box and resumed the fight, spearing Marson in the face. When Marson charged Dunn near the Toronto bench and swung his stick in retaliation, Sittler blocked the blow with his stick and the impact broke Marson's stick.

Both benches cleared, led by Sittler, and the Leafs captain ended up with a double minor penalty and a game misconduct while Marson was thrown out with a match penalty.

Washington goalies Ron Low and Michel Belhumeur combined to stop 56 Toronto shots, including 29 by Belhumeur in the third period.

After Nystrom's first-period goal, Bouchard argued it should be disallowed, saying Nystrom was in the crease. Bouchard's protest, including the glove thrown at the referee, earned him a 10-minute misconduct and a game misconduct. Phil Myre replaced him in the nets.

Two power-play goals by Ron Greschner led the Rangers against Philadelphia. Jerry Holland added a goal and three assists and Steve Vickers and Pat Hickey scored single goals. Terry Crisp, Bobby Clarke and Ross Lonsberry scored for the Flyers.

ASHE WINS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arthur Ashe, scoring nine aces and winning the first eight games in a row, beat Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 6-0, 7-6 in final of a $100,000 tennis tournament. Ashe got two of his aces in the tie-breaker, which he won 7-4 in the 90-minute match. The victory, worth $16,000 to Ashe against $8,000 for Vilas, was the fourth in seven meetings with Vilas. It was the first time since last November that the Argentinian, nine years Ashe's junior, had lost a set 6-0.

SOLTERS DIES

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Julius (Moose) Solters, who played on four American League baseball teams from 1934 to 1943, died Sunday in hospital at the age of 69. Partial blindness after he was hit by a baseball in 1941 ended his career. Solters played outfield for Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Browns, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox. He had a career batting average of .289 with 83 home runs and 599 runs batted in.

WAYNE GRETZKY

Gretzky, Rorabeck Moves Stalled

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Minor Hockey Association (OMHA) says it will consider this weekend an appeal by Wayne Gretzky of Brantford who is seeking to move to Toronto Natonals, contrary to an assocaton ruling.

Jim Kinkley, OMHA president, said Monday the association's executive committee will discuss appeals by Gretzkyk and by Brian Rorabeck of Brighton at the OMHA's annual conference this weekend.

Gretzky has signed with the Toronto Nationals bantam club but the OMHA has refused to grant him a release from his previous Brantford club on the assumption that his home is still in Brantford. Rorabeck has been blocked by a similar ruling although both boys this year acquired legal guardians in Toronto.

Gretzky, 13, became widely known three years ago when, in his novice season, he scored 333 goals and 118 assists in a 78-game season.

Kinkley said Monday that Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules make clear that players under 18 may move from one area to another only with their families or guardians. The guardian's relationship is to be established by Jan. 1 of the year in which the player moves.

Montreal Expos' Phase Two

Balleyhooed and Booed

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Expos have completed the first year of the National League baseball club's celebrated Phase Two, a ballyhooed and booed youth movement.

A fast finish that ended Sunday in Chicago produced a tie with the Cubs for fifth place in the East Division, one spot lower than their showing in the two previous years.

Despite a drop of 110,842 in home attendance—to 908,292 from 1,019,134 in 1974—management refused to agree with many fans and media critics that the young club's 75-87 record was a flop.

"I think fans believed what they read, and they read that Phase Two was a failure," said general manager Jim Fanning.

"I think we can let these people play next year and improve, forgetting the sophomore jinx, and then let them go in 1977. We're going to have a good ball club."

In their seventh season, the Expos drew adverse reaction from trades last winter, but the criticism fell most heavily on a five-player swap with Baltimore Orioles of the American League.

They acquired pitcher Dave McNally, who retired in June; outfielder Rich Coggins, subsequently sold to New York Yankees, and pitcher Bill Kirkpatrick, who spent the season in the minors. They gave up Mike Torrez, who posted a 20-9 mark for the Orioles, and outfielder Ken Singleton, selected the club's most valuable player.

Charles Bronfman, Expos chairman of the board, admitted "our people were just plain stupid about the Torrez-Singleton thing.'

But Detroit Tigers contributed Woodie Fryman, a veteran left-handed reliever who proved more valuable than his 9-12 record indicated, for pitcher Tom Walker and catcher Terry Humphrey.

In July, they got outfielder Jim Dwyer from St. Louis Cardinals for Larry Lintz, a designated runner. If Dwyer delivers on the promise he showed, the deal was a steal.

Meanwhile, a flock of prospects from a maturing farm system received playing time. Gary Carter played right field and catcher, doing everything asked of him and more, and while Larry Parrishs glove at third base was not quite as good as hoped, his .274 batting average pleased manager Gene Mauch.

Pete Mackanin won the second-base job and made respectable a deal with Texas Rangers for Willie Davis. Jim Cox, hurt midway in 1974, faces a fight to reclaim the position next spring.

Off Day But Reed Produces

The Saskaktchewan Roughriders running back managed only 59 yards rushing Sunday in his team's 33-6 Western Football Conference victory over British Columbia Lions, but still set two all-pro records

Reed scored his record 135th touchdown—132 of them by rushing—to add to his growing list of achievements.

Earlier this year, Reed broke the all-pro record of 58 100-yard rushing games, a figure he has since increased to 63. He also holds the all-pro records for number of rushes and rushing yards and has become pro football' first eight-mile rushing man.

The 59 yards also pushed Reed over the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the 1975 season—the 11th time he has reached that level.

Statistics released Monday by the Canadian Football League show Reed tied for fifth place with Calgary's Eric Burden in the WFC scoring race. Each has 54 points on nine touchdowns.

In the Eastern Football Conference, Zenon Andrusyshyn of Toronto Argonauts is being challenged for the scoring lead by Ottawa's Gerry Organ.

Andrusyshyn has 88 points, two more than his place-kicikng compatriot with the Rough Riders. Don Sweet of Montreal Alouettes is third with 79 points and Ian Sunter of Hamilton Tiger-Cats is fourth with 64.

Edmonton Eskimos became the first CFL club to clinch a playoff berth when they beat Calgary 37-36 on Sunday. One more victory will clinch an EFC playoff berth for the Rough Riders, tied for first place with Montreal Alouettes.

Johnson and Armstrong Out

Broncos Win But Lose Stars

DENVER (AP) — The heralded duel between Green Bay quarterback John Hadl and Denver's Charlie Johnson never came off, nor did the running battle between John Brockington and Otis Armstrong.

Both Johnson and Armstrong were sidelined early in Monday night's National Football League game, leaving it up to reserve quarterback Steve Ramsey and an alert Denver defence to star in the Broncos' 23-13 victory.

Ramsey, thrust into action late in the second quarter after Johnson suffered a split nail on the index finger of his throwing hand, passed 10 yards to Jack Dolbin for a touchdown and guided the Broncos into position for the clinching score on Jim Turner's third field goal of the game.

The touchdown pass was made possible by linebacker Jim O'Malley's interception near midfield and return to the Packer 12-yard line.

After Hadl's passing pulled the Packers to within 16-13 late in the game, middle linebacker Randy Gradishar came up with another defensive gem, picking off a Hadl pass and running 44 yards for a score with 40 seconds remaining.

It was Hadl who almost single-handedly made a game of it in the late stages. His passing helped atone for a meagre Packer ground game that accounted for only 71 yards in the face of a surprisingly sound Denver defence.

Although he finished with 23 completions in 36 attempts for 273 yards, Hadl had to endure a frustrating first half in which he was sacked four times for losses of 31 yards. On numerous other occasions he was forced into hurried throws by an onrushing Denver front four.

But his protection toughened in the second half and Hadl began hitting wide receiver Ken Payne with regularity. Payne caught four passes for 39 yards on the Packers' first scoring drive. Rookie running back Will Harrell caught the four-yard TD toss on the second play of the final quarter.

Hadl and Payne hooked up three more times for 45 yards on Green Bay's next TD march. Green Bay reached the Denver two, but it took Brockington four cracks to reach the end zone, consuming precious minutes.

The loss dropped the Packers and new coach Bart Starr to 0-2. Denver is 2-0.

Players Shortchanged?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ed Garvey, head of the National Football League Players Association, says professional football players are shortchanged in collective bargaining because their careers are so short.

In response, the chairman of the House of Representatives mittee said legislation to speed cases brought by athletes before the National Labor Relations Board might be in order because of the current NFL labor controversy.

Representative Frank Thompson Jr. (Dem.-N.J.) said the subcommittee would hear Thursday's testimony by representatives of the NFL management council before making recommendations.

Garvey told the subcommittee an increasing number of players believe collective bargaining does not work "because of the enormous power of the league owners as opposed to players whose careers span but 4½ years and who have no protection if they are discriminated against because of their union activities.

Four and a half years is the average, and while we know that there are many exceptions to that rule, we must look at the bulk of the membership to determine whether or not the economic weapons of a union can be used in the context of professional sports," he continued.

"An additional problem is that once a player has missed a year, it is extremely difficult for him to return to the sport. He loses his timing, other players come in to take his place, and the coaches do not want to take a chance.

"Thus, to suggest to a professional football player that the owners will cancel the season if there is a strike really is a threat to cancel his entire career as a professional athlete," he said.

The union got a sympathetic reception from some House members.

Representative John B. Buchanan Jr. (Rep.-Ala.), a member of the House education and labor committee, said that "some legislative remedy may be necessary" to resolve the players' plight.

Testifying with Garvey were union president Kermit Alexander, who was cut by the Philadelphia Eagles last year after 11 years in the league, and Washington Redskins' Roy Jefferson and Jerry Smith.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wed. Oct. 1

Aries (March 21-April 19) You'll come out on top whenever you're in the driver's seat today. Don't let others do things you know you can do better yourself.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Conditions are developing in a manner not yet visible that will contribute to your feelings of basic security and well-being.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Good news today will put some extra zest in your step. This will be a busy day for you, and a pleasant one.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Take action on financial hunches you get today. The little voice inside is trying to put you on to something worthwhile.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Ideas that you'll conceive today will be both logical and promising, though you'll view things on a very grand scale. Don't let size scare you.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll do very well in business affairs today if you let the other guy make the overtures. Play a little hard to get.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Listen and evaluate carefully information passed on to you today through persons you trust. Something profitable could result.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lady Luck is pulling some strings for you where your work or career is concerned. However, don't leave it all up to her.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A positive attitude will work wonders for you today. Try it on problems you thought you had no immediate solutions for.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're luckier with partners today than you would be in playing a lone hand. Stick with the winning combinations.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're a good listener today. You'll be able to piece together to your advantage some things you pick up from two sources.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Your material aspects are still very promising today. Substantial gains can come from your willingness to be helpful.

Construction Trailers For Housing Crunch

EDMONTON (CP) — Construction trailers were in use at University of Alberta in early September to help ease what has been termed the most serious housing shortage in the university's history.

It was believed to be the first time mobile housing units have been used on a Canadian campus in that way.

"The housing shortage in Edmonton necessitated unconventional solutions," said Ray LaPerriere, director of the university's emergency housing registry.

The four mobile home-type units, the same type of instant housing used in northern construction camps, were parked near the university centre and accommodated 64 persons.

Designed as a stop-gap measure, students were permitted to stay for up to four days in them for just $2 a day. The trailers, which had no washrooms or eating facilities, were paid for by an $8,600 grant from the students' union.

Mr. LaPerriere said the housing crisis began when 5,500 first-time students invaded the city, which has a vacancy rate of less than one per cent.

The housing registry, with a mandate from the students' union to operate from mid-June to Sept. 30, was one solution to what Mr. LaPerriere termed "an awful crisis."

Despite difficulties in finding accommodation, some students remained "fussy" and insisted on self-contained apartments, he said.

The registry director also said Canadian and American students are in a far better position to find accommodation than the nearly 3,000 non-Caucasian students expected on the campus this year.

Teen-age Drinking Now a Problem

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A survey this summer by the Alcohol and Drug Addiction Foundation of Newfoundland shows that teen-age drinking is becoming a problem.

The foundation's report shows that out of 163 teen-agers who co-operated in the survey, 95 per cent drink and about one third do so on average of once a week or five times a month.

The study also showed that about 24 per cent of the young drinkers broke the law while under the influence of alcohol.

The foundation received a grant from the non-medical use of drugs directorate last spring to study alcoholic beverage consumption among teen-agers in St. John's.

It also set out to discover the social, medical, economic, and legal implications of the drinking problem.

The report said that the average age of the 163 young people was 15.5 years.

It also showed that about 27 per cent of the young drinkers drove motor vehicles while under the influence of alcohol. The local police prosecution rates don't reflect that.

While the test group was confined to St. John's and was small in comparison to the total number of teen-agers in the province, it is assumed by the investigators that similarly large percentages apply to the whole teen-age population of the province.

The Newfoundland government is spending about $100,000 annually on the casualties of alcohol and drug use.

Angina Pectoris Can't Be Cured

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Der Dr. Thosteson: I am 60 and I have angina pectoris. I'm on a reduction diet and have lost 15 pounds in two months. I am an extremely active woman and have found it difficult to curtail my activities.

I would like to know if angina can be cured. I am taking my medication three times a day, including the nitroglycerin, from which I get an unpleasant reaction.

D.G.

Perhaps you don't fully understand what angina is all about. Briefly, angina involves the heart muscle and the blood vessels supplying it. The heart muscle contracts to pump blood out into the general circulation.

When this muscle becomes starved, so to speak, for oxygen, there is pain that often radiates throughout the upper chest and arms area. This is angina. So you see it is a symptom, not technically a disease. It cannot be cured.

The underlying cause of the symptoms can be investigated — a narrowed vessel supplying the muscle, anemia, any factor that tends to decrease the amount of blood (thus oxygen) reaching the heart must be avoided.

It's difficult to say what the future holds for you. A lot would depend on whether you have had any heart damage. For now, you should report the adverse effects of your medication to your doctor. There are often problems involved in the beginning of any drug therapy, and adjustments can be made

Giving up cigarettes can be very helpful in angina.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my early 60s, and my husband still insists on having intercourse occasionally. But it seems to get more painful for me. Is there something wrong with me, or is it just my age? I feel that I am over with sex. — Mrs. O.E.

This is not unusual in women who have gone through the menopause. The decrease in hormone production tends to shrink the internal reproductive organs and concurrently to make the membranes dry. This can be a factor in the pain you feel. The condition can be treated with the hormone estrogen orally or as a vaginal cream.

If you feel mentally that you are "over with sex" then you probably are. But physically, there need be no lessening of perfectly normal sexual pleasures just because of your age or because of menopause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any immunity shot to protect one from poison ivy and poison oak? Three years ago I had my first case of it, then I got another one last November. — C.C.

Extracts of the oil present in the leaves of ivy and oak are available. It is taken by mouth beginning well before the season begins. This method of prevention is quite controversial. Severe reactions have been reported from minute doses.

It is recommended only for those whose sensitivity or occupation makes it difficult not to contract it. The best prevention is to avoid the plants, and if exposed, to wash the exposed areas well.

Opening lead — Q♦

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand is the same as yesterday's except that South has the king-deuce instead of the three-deuce of hearts.

He still responds one spade to his partner's club opening, but when North jumps to three spades, South sees that his ace of diamonds and king of hearts are extra high cards in his hand. Therefore, in accordance with the rule of the ace and the king, he is one ace and one king above game and is going to bid a slam. South could use Blackwood to check for aces, but there is no hurry about that so South simply starts slam investigation by bidding four diamonds.

When North accepts the slam idea with his bid of four hearts, South wants to try for seven. His five-heart bid shows second-round heart control and is a start on the way to seven.

North bids six diamonds to show second-round diamond control and an acceptance of the idea of playing at a grand slam and that should be enough for South. His partner has opened the bidding, jumped, shown first-round heart and second-round diamond control and invited seven.

He must have the king of spades and ace-king of clubs for all that bidding. So South simply closes the bidding at seven spades.

Ask the Jacobys

This one is from Arkansas. Your partner doubles a three-spade bid for takeout. You hold: ♠865 ♥K962 ♦A10854 ♣9 What should you bid?

This Arkansas question is a tough one. We favor a bid of four hearts on the theory that even if partner doesn't hold four hearts, we should have a play for that contract. Four diamonds is inadequate, five diamonds an unwarranted overbid.

Indians May Die As Doctors Study

TORONTO (CP) — An Indian spokesman said Monday that Ontario Indians may die while provincial doctors study the effects of methyl-mercury poisoning in Japan.

Health Minister Frank Miller denied the charge, saying the ministry is sending four Toronto doctors to Japan in about a month to learn the symptoms and treatment of the disease.

Fred Kelly, president of Treaty No. Three, which represents Grassy Narrows and Whitedog Indian reserves near Dryden, Ont., told a news conference that Japanese studies indicate up to 20 reserve members suffer mercury poisoning as a result of eating contaminated fish.

Mr. Kelly and representatives of the two reserves met for about three hours with Mr. Miller, Resources Minister Leo Bernier and Environment Minister William Newman.

Paper Strike Puts 1,700 Out of Jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — A strike by 376 paperworkers at a newsprint mill in Kenogami, Que., has resulted in the layoff of more than 1,700 other employees of the Price Co. Ltd., a company spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said 1,099 employees at the Kenogami mill were laid off Monday following the walkout last week by members of the Canadian Paperworkers' Union (CPU). Most of the non-striking employees are members of the Confederation of National Trade Unions (CNTU).

$1 Million Winner Can't Believe It

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jacqueline St. Cyr thought her luck at winning money was over until she won $1 million in Sunday's Olympic lottery draw. She said Monday she wants to buy a new house and to travel.

Mrs. St. Cyr, 40, from Hull, Que., had won $100 in Quebec's mini-lottery two months ago, and her husband, Leo, said they thought "that was the end of our winning luck for this year."

But ticket No. 1235174 was a winner for Mrs. St. Cyr and for Robert Neilson, 55, of Lanark, Ont., about 50 miles south of Ottawa.

Mr. Neilson, an employee of the Ontario ministry of natural resources, left for Montreal with his family early Monday to collect the prize and was not available for comment. The couple has five children, two of whom live at home.

Organized Crime Makes Millions

TORONTO (CP) — Organized crime is making millions of dollars a year through illegal enterprises in Metropolitan Toronto, police say.

Police say gambling is the biggest profit-maker, with illegal sports betting estimated at $150 million a year. The biggest betting was on sporting events such as basketball, baseball, hockey and football, with horse racing taking only 10 per cent of the action.

Police say bookmakers abound in Toronto and a bettor without a regular bookie usually finds one through cabbies, bartenders, small store owners, hotel doormen or bellhops.

As well, police say, card games, particularly blackjack, are held nightly—usually in hotel suites. Operators of these games, some of which are crooked, may earn up to $100,000 a night.

RCMP Inspector Emile Beaulieu estimates that more than $50 million of of drugs, including hashish, speed, cocaine, heroin and marijuana, are sold in Metro Toronto each year.

"And thats just the stuff at the top levels, with importers and distributors. By the time the stuff is cut three or four times and sold on the street, its value is in hundreds of millions of dollars."

Store Supporters Replace Stolen Goods at $500

OXFORD HOUSE, Man. (CP) — When a customer hands over a $20 bill for $15 worth of groceries and tells the clerk to "keep the change," the Oxford House Indian band council knows its community store is being accepted.

And it is happening at the general store opened three months ago by the band to compete with the Hudson Bay Co. store which has served the reserve since the late 1700s. bert North says it is one of several indications that local residents accept the community enterprise as their own.

Another indication, he said, came after the first break-in at the store when items worth about $500 were stolen. When the store opened the next morning, the chief said, people began arriving with bags containing the stolen goods. By noon, the community constable had arrested four juvenile suspects and almost all the stolen property had been returned.

The store was opened in an unused school building near the centre of the reserve and operates strictly on a cash-and-carry basis. It is exempt from sales taxes and its impact on prices in this northern community has been noticable.

Chief North said one example of savings is canned milk, which cost 57 cents before the new store opened. It now sells for 44 cents at The Bay and 43 cents at the community store.

"It could have been up to 75 cents by now if we hadn't opened our business," Mr. North said.

And Arnold Weitzel of Silver Ridge, Man., a management consultant with the department of Indian affairs, said "the fact is that a little competition is keeping everybody honest.'

The store has a full stock of groceries and a limited hardware department but its capacity is expected to double to include a full line of hardware and dry goods.

The band council originally estimated the store would do about $140,000 worth of business in its first year but Mr. Weitzel is confident the total will easily surpass $200,000.

The band is also taking over the post office which The Bay store had been operating but is giving up. It is to be located in another unused building opposite the store.

The band has also started two large gardens tended by local residents, and the fresh produce is sold in the store.

Mr. Weitzel said the initial profits will go towards paying off the "not very large loan' taken out to begin the store.

Exporters Concerned Over Dumped Goods

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian exporters were urged Monday not to become alarmed because of complaints by United States interests that allege Canada and other countries have dumped products in U.S. markets.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick Dent told the Canadian Exporters Association that the U.S. is committed to expanding world trade.

Canada and seven other countries are the subject of a U.S. inquiry to determine whether cars have been dumped—exported at prices lower than those charged in the home market—at the expense of U.S. industry.

"You must understand that these are grievances filed by the private sector in keeping with our Trade Reform Act," said Mr. Dent, special U.S. ambassador in talks being held in Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

"This act . . . gives our private sector the assurance that its government will try to find some answers to their problems."
